Thomas Hardy And The Survivals Of Time The Nineteenth Century Series:

The Feminist Sensibility in the Novels of Thomas Hardy Manjit Kaur, 2005 The Ashgate Research Companion to Thomas Hardy Rosemarie Morgan, 2016-03-23 In The Ashgate Research Companion to Thomas Hardy some of the most prominent Hardy specialists working today offer an overview of Hardy scholarship and suggest new directions in Hardy studies The contributors cover virtually every area relevant to Hardy's fiction and poetry including philosophy palaeontology biography science film popular culture beliefs gender music masculinity tragedy topography psychology metaphysics illustration bibliographical studies and contemporary response While several collections have surveyed the Hardy landscape no previous volume has been composed especially for scholars and advanced graduate students This companion is specially designed to aid original research on Hardy and serve as the critical basis for Hardy studies in the new millennium Among the features are a comprehensive bibliography that includes not only works in English but in acknowledgment of Hardy's explosion in popularity around the world also works in languages other than English Thomas Hardy's Novel Universe Pamela Gossin, 2017-03-02 In this the first book length study of astronomy in Hardy's writing historian of science and literary scholar Pamela Gossin brings the analytical tools of both disciplines to bear as she offers unexpected and sophisticated readings of seven novels that enrich Darwinian and feminist perspectives on his work extend formalist evaluations of his achievement as a writer and provide fresh interpretations of enigmatic passages and scenes In an elegantly crafted introduction Gossin draws together the shared critical values and methods of literary studies and the history of science to articulate a hybrid model of scholarly interpretation and analysis that promotes cross disciplinary compassion and understanding within the current contention of the science culture wars She then situates Hardy's own deeply interdisciplinary knowledge of astronomy and cosmology within both literary and scientific traditions from the ancient world through the Victorian era Gossin offers insightful new assessments of A Pair of Blue Eyes Far from the Madding Crowd The Return of the Native Two on a Tower The Woodlanders Tess of the D'Urbervilles and Jude the Obscure arguing that Hardy's personal synthesis of ancient and modern astronomy with mythopoetic and scientific cosmologies enabled him to write as a literary cosmologist for the post Darwinian world The profound new myths that comprise Hardy's novel universe can be read as a sustained set of literary thought experiments by which he critiques the possibilities limitations and dangers of living out the storylines that such imaginative cosmologies project for his time and ours Estonian Pragmapoetics, from Poetry and Fiction to Philosophy and Genetics Arne Merilai, 2023-10-18 This book outlines an innovative approach to the study of literature called pragmapoetics a philosophy of poetic utterances The book posits that studies are as much a branch of linguistics as they are of the philosophy of language and mind and considers the poetic self referential function a profound feature of life and intentionality As a structuralist thinker the author is drawn towards graphical definitions for their greater elucidative power This collection contains three sections General Poetics Pragmapoetics and Estonian and Comparative

Poetics consisting of nineteen of the author's works from 1996 up to 2022 which best represent his approach Landscape and Gender in the Novels of Charlotte Brontë, George Eliot, and Thomas Hardy Eithne Henson, 2011 Examining representations of physical and metaphorical landscape in Charlotte Brontë, George Eliot and Thomas Hardy Henson explores the way gender attitudes are expressed both in descriptions of physical and metaphorical landscape and in the idea of nature through the gendered voices of the narrators Henson looks at the influence of changing aesthetic theory arguing that factors such as scientific enquiry and industrialization changed the representation of landscape and of Englishness in these realist novels Thomas Hardy and the Survivals of Time Andrew Radford, 2017-03-02 A systematic exploration of Thomas Hardy's imaginative assimilation of particular Victorian sciences this study draws on and swells the widening current of scholarly attention now being paid to the cultural meanings compacted and released by the nascent sciences of man in the nineteenth century Andrew Radford here situates Hardy's fiction and poetry in a context of the new sciences of humankind that evolved during the Victorian age to accommodate an immense range of literal and figurative excavations then taking place Combining literary close readings with broad historical analyses he explores Hardy's artistic response to geological archaeological and anthropological findings In particular he analyzes Hardy's lifelong fascination with the doctrine of survivals a term coined by E B Tylor in Primitive Culture 1871 to denote customs beliefs and practices persisting in isolation from their original cultural context Radford reveals how Hardy's subtle reworking of Tylor's doctrine offers a valuable insight into the inter penetration of science and literature during this period An important aspect of Radford's research focuses on lesser known periodical literature that grew out of a British amateur antiquarian tradition of the nineteenth century His readings of Hardy's literary notebooks disclose the degree to which Hardy's own considerable scientific knowledge was shaped by the middlebrow periodical press Thus Thomas Hardy and the Survivals of Time raises questions not only about the reception of scientific ideas but also the creation of nonspecialist forms of scientific discourse This book represents a genuinely new perspective for Hardy studies The Routledge Research Companion to Nineteenth-Century British Literature and Science John Holmes, Sharon Ruston, 2017-05-18 Tracing the continuities and trends in the complex relationship between literature and science in the long nineteenth century this companion provides scholars with a comprehensive authoritative and up to date foundation for research in this field In intellectual material and social terms the transformation undergone by Western culture over the period was unprecedented Many of these changes were grounded in the growth of science Yet science was not a cultural monolith then any more than it is now and its development was shaped by competing world views To cover the full range of literary engagements with science in the nineteenth century this companion consists of twenty seven chapters by experts in the field which explore crucial social and intellectual contexts for the interactions between literature and science how science affected different genres of writing and the importance of individual scientific disciplines and concepts within literary culture Each chapter has its own extensive bibliography The Thinking about Other People in Nineteenth-Century British Writing Adela Pinch, 2010-07-08 Nineteenth century life and literature are full of strange accounts that describe the act of one person thinking about another as an ethically problematic sometimes even a dangerously powerful thing to do In this book Adela Pinch explains why when and under what conditions it is possible or desirable to believe that thinking about another person could affect them She explains why nineteenth century British writers poets novelists philosophers psychologists devotees of the occult were both attracted to and repulsed by radical or substantial notions of purely mental relations between persons and why they moralized about the practice of thinking about other people in interesting ways Working at the intersection of literary studies and philosophy this book both sheds new light on a neglected aspect of Victorian literature and thought and explores the consequences of and the value placed on this strand of thinking about thinking Magical Objects Elmar Schenkel, Stefan Welz, 2007 The Oxford History of Classical Reception in English Literature David Hopkins, Charles Martindale, Norman Vance, Rita Copeland, Patrick Cheney, Jennifer Wallace, Philip R.
