Handbook Christophe Chevallier,Christopher Brunner,Andrea Garavaglia,Kevin P. Murray,Kenneth R. Baker,2006-07-11 A complete and practical guide to WCDMA UMTS cellular network deployment After introducing the network architecture of such a system the WCDMA UMTS Deployment Handbook defines the coverage and capacity concepts associated with the dimensioning and design phases Progressing to a discussion of the main system parameters associated with network optimization and detailing optimization techniques for the main services supported by UMTS and includes the specifics of indoor deployment and HSDPA networks evolution Covers all stages from planning to optimization with sufficient details as required on a day to day basis and thorough reference information for the reader who wants to understand the concepts in more detail Relevant for daily tasks The approach taken in this book is similar to the work flow of network planner and optimization engineers allowing such personnel to easily find the relevant information Written by the company which made CDMA a household name QUALCOMM was the first company to use CDMA technology for cellular application and is a technical leader in this domain Based on industry feedback All the contributors to this book have been working in direct interaction with WCDMA operators throughout the world since the early days of WCDMA commercial deployment Looking to the future This book addresses the next level of challenge that WCDMA operators will face deployment of indoor systems and HSDPA Providing a complete introduction and reference guide to everything associated with the life cycle of a WCDMA UMTS cellular network from initial dimensioning through to the successful deployment of indoor solutions or migration to HSDPA this book is a must have for network planners and optimization engineers as well as Telecommunication Engineering students Application of thermal methods to enhanced oil recovery: Numerical and experimental investigations

Taofik Nassan,2024-12-05 Reservoir simulation is a powerful tool to model fluid flow within oil and gas reservoirs and predict their behaviour This dissertation is devoted primarily to model some thermal enhanced oil recovery TEOR methods Two software were used for this purpose and namely Comsol Multiphysics and CMG Computer Modelling Group The dissertation can be classified into three parts and all of them are standalone that discuss different topics within TEOR The work starts with reviewing enhanced oil recovery EOR methods with concentration on thermal methods TEOR for heavy oil and bitumen Basics of mathematical modelling of single two phase and three phase flow in porous media that is the base of all commercial and scientific reservoir simulation software are reviewed Formulations of the set of representative PDEs are reviewed and other formulations are suggested and applied directly in subsequent sections in Comsol Multiphysics Part 1 The application of finite element method FEM in reservoir simulation has been discussed and evaluated using Comsol Multiphysics package which is based on Galerkin approach In the demonstrated problems the mathematical model is solved using mathematics module in Comsol Multiphysics Energy equation in 1D Buckley Leverett benchmark two phase flow model on inverted 5 spot scheme in 3D and SAGD process PDE model are all solved and discussed FEM using Comsol Multiphysics looks promising at moderate mobility ratios Part 2 A comparison of water flooding with steam injection in heavy oil reservoirs as secondary stage is demonstrated and discussed The whole modelling was achieved by CMG STARS A comparison of five different scenarios is shown SPE4 comparative project data were used for this purpose The results showed that steam can achieve more recovery in a short period of time with an ultimate recovery factor higher than cold recovery followed by steam flooding process Part 3 A series of flooding and in situ combustion experimental work that has been achieved in Kazan Federal University in cooperation with Institute of Drilling Engineering and Fluid Mining IBF is elaborated briefly and discussed Four experiments with different core samples consolidated and unconsolidated were run between 05 2020 and 05 2021 The samples were taken from a Russian extra heavy oilfield with initial viscosity around 600 000 cP The results were evaluated and a numerical model was built using CMG STARS The numerical results were correlating the experimental results Relative permeability data were history matched for flooding processes and this data was used for in situ combustion model Modelling of the reactions in in situ combustion was a challenge to match the experimental results The final results showed that steam injection was not the best recovery method for this oilfield and in situ combustion was the best available technique with the highest recovery factor

Systems for Wireless Network Planning Francisco Saez de Adana,Abdelhamid Tayebi Tayebi,Juan Casado Ballesteros,Josefa Gómez Pérez,2020-09-30 This practical book shows the procedure to integrate in a practical way empirical propagation methods with geographical information systems GIS to obtain the radio coverage in open environments It includes the theoretical explanation of empirical methods and GIS but as a basis to develop a real tool that combines both aspects to provide the user a suitable method for the wireless network planning in urban areas The book introduces the empirical propagation methods and their application to wireless network planning The motivation for combining them with the information obtained from geographical information systems is illustrated as well as their application to real situations The most important empirical methods used to calculate the propagation in open environments are reviewed Focus is given to the geometrical information needed to prove the necessity of obtaining some geographical information if these methods must be applied to realistic network planning A review of the most important GIS is also described The advantages and disadvantages of every system is analyzed from the point of view of its integration with an empirical propagation method An application that combines a geographical information system with an empirical propagation method is fully described The practical features of this integration are completely studied to allow an engineer to use and develop his own tool Examples are given in each chapter to fully describe and illustrate the process Who's who in Literature Mark Meredith, 1928
