Global University Rankings and the Mediatization of Higher Education Michelle Stack, 2016-04-12 Higher Education Institutions simultaneously critique and participate in national and international rankings of universities However this creates a difficult situation since if universities do participate in rankings they acquiesce to a system based in media logics that has little to do with academic norms of research If they do not participate in the rankings they risk losing public funding students and donors in an increasingly competitive and globalized environment This book delves into the influence of journalists business tycoons and multinational corporations in defining what world class is and how it will be measured Rankings provide us with a rich study for understanding how universities define deploy and manage their assets and liabilities in a mediatized globalized economy

The Changing Space Economy of City-Regions Koech Cheruiyot, 2017-10-30 This book addresses the South African Space Economy and its stark disparities and dualisms through an assessment of the Gauteng City Region the largest economic agglomeration in the country and on a continent bedevilled by a myriad of development challenges The book s focus on understanding the overall character of Gauteng City Region s Space Economy through data mining analysis and mapping comprehensively supplements the Space Economy literature on the region It covers the disparities exacerbated by an overlay of apartheid planning ideology and top down regional development based on selective encouragement of manufacturing investments in growth points or poles and how implementation of past policies intended to cure these disparities have yielded mixed results This book further offers the Gauteng City Region as a microcosm of the national economy in the form of evident significant placed based variations in the intensity and character of economic structure that

McDonald, 2017-10-11 Some forms of literature interfere with the workings of the literate brain posing a challenge to readers of all kinds including professional literary critics In Artefacts of Writing Peter D McDonald argues they pose as much of a challenge to the way states conceptualise language culture and community Drawing on a wealth of evidence from Victorian scholarly disputes over the identity of the English language to the constitutional debates about its future in Ireland India and South Africa and from the quarrels over the idea of culture within the League of Nations in the interwar years to UNESCO's ongoing struggle to articulate a viable concept of diversity McDonald brings together a large ensemble of legacy writers including T S Eliot James Joyce and Rabindranath Tagore putting them in dialogue with each other and with the policy makers who shaped the formation of modern states and the history of internationalist thought from the 1860s to the 1940s In the second part of the book he reflects on the continuing evolution of these dialogues showing how a varied array of more contemporary writers from Amit Chaudhuri J M Coetzee and Salman Rushdie to Antjie Krog Arvind Krishna Mehrotra and Es'kia Mphahlele cast new light on a range of questions concerning education literacy human rights translation indigenous knowledge and cultural diversity that have preoccupied UNESCO since 1945 At once a novel contribution to institutional and intellectual history and an innovative exercise in literary and philosophical analysis Artefacts of Writing affords a unique perspective on literature's place at the centre of some of the most fraught often lethal public controversies that defined the long twentieth century and that continue to haunt us today A Century of Geological Endeavour in Southern Africa, 1895-1995 C.
