Art Nouveau Gabriel P. Weisberg, Elizabeth K. Menon, 2013-09-05
First published in 1998, Design Reform in the Fields of Architecture and the Decorative or Applied Arts became objectified through writings published during the period of 1885 to 1910. This investigation includes but is not limited to Art Nouveau in France and Belgium and the arts and crafts movement in England and the United States. Even though the similar processes of creativity and shared goals of Art Nouveau and the arts and crafts movement have long been recognized, attempts to explore their origins and their points of interrelation with the broader scope of art history have been largely unsuccessful until now.

Montmartre and the Making of Mass Culture
Gabriel P. Weisberg, 2001
Located on the fringes of Paris, Montmartre attracted artists such as Toulouse-Lautrec, Picasso, Steinlen, and Jules Chéret. By the beginning of the twentieth century, the artists in the quarter began to create works blurring the boundaries between fine art and popular illustration, the artist and the audience, as well as class and gender distinctions.

The creative expression that ensued was an exuberant mix of high and low a breeding ground for what is today termed popular culture The carefully interlocked essays in Montmartre and the Making of Mass Culture demonstrate how and why this quarter was at the forefront of such innovation The contributors bring an unprecedented range of approaches to the topic from political and religious history to art historical investigations and literary analysis of texts This project is the first of its kind to examine fully Montmartre s many contributions to the creation of a mass culture that reigned supreme in the twentieth century
