Visionary Clients For New Architecture:

Visionary Clients for New Architecture Joseph Rykwert, 2000 Clients of architects are featured in this volume which sheds light on the tricky balance of power between the architect and the client. It focuses on three visionaries who commissioned buildings which became 20th century architectural icons.

Confronting Universalities Mads Anders Baggesgaard, Jakob Ladegaard, 2011-07-15 The universe is expanding the world has gone global and the US has launched a crusade to export the universal right to democracy to every part of the world. Under the circumstances it is hardly surprising that the concept of universality is making a remarkable comeback in aesthetic and political theory. The meaning of the world however seems more contested than ever. Some denounce it as the ideological guise of particular interests others as the conceptual equivalent of totalitarianism. But a growing number maintain that universality is an indispensable notion for any genuinely critical aesthetics and politics. Confronting Universalities consists of 12 contributors that examine how contemporary works of art in different media and genres influence shape or confront the political realm in both theory and practice by way of the universal. The topics of the essays include depictions of German unification identity politics of aesthetic taste contemporary uses of van Gogh globalized photography the infamous Danish cartoons iconic architecture cinematic representations of migration the speeches of Nicolas Sarkozy and the interventions of contemporary art in the war in Afghanistan. From various theoretical points of departure they all demonstrate the importance of the universal in the description of political aesthetic practice in a globalising world.

Complete with feature spreads on individual projects Architecture: An Introduction is a broad up to date approach uniting history theory and practice. Subjects covered include how to develop a brief with a client taking an idea from brief to project types of visual presentation including drawings models and computer renderings project planning and management the diverse roles within a company and the future of architectural practice. Leading with Aesthetics Mahesh Daas, 2015-07-16 Leading with Aesthetics The Transformational Leadership of Charles M Vest at MIT examines the role of aesthetics design and architecture in organizational transformation and leadership particularly in the context of academic institutions. Leadership has been thus far predominantly examined from the perspective of function performance and position in the organizational structure such as a CEO or a president. Relatively little work has been done in studying leadership of academic institutions let alone from the perspective of aesthetics both of which this book aims to rectify. Although aesthetic dimension is important in any organizational context it is particularly important for academic institutions. Leading with aesthetics would empower leaders in any organizational setting. Daas examines the aesthetic dimension of transformational leadership through an eclectic blend of lenses drawn from the fields of architecture political science organizational aesthetics and organizational psychoanalysis A detailed case study of the leadership of Charles Marsteller Vest 1941 2013 who served as the president of Massachusetts Institute of Technology for fourteen years between 1990 and 2004 illustrates the importance of the aesthetic dimension in leadership and organizational change Whose Muse? James Cuno, 2018-06-05 During the economic boom of the 1990s art museums expanded dramatically in size scope and ambition They came to be seen as new civic centers on the one hand as places of entertainment leisure and commerce on the other as socially therapeutic institutions But museums were also criticized for everything from elitism to looting or illegally exporting works from other countries to exhibiting works offensive to the public taste Whose Muse brings together five directors of leading American and British art museums who together offer a forward looking alternative to such prevailing views While their approaches differ certain themes recur As museums have become increasingly complex and costly to manage and as government support has waned the temptation is great to follow policies driven not by a mission but by the market However the directors concur that public trust can be upheld only if museums continue to see their core mission as building collections that reflect a nation's artistic legacy and providing informed and unfettered access to them The book based on a lecture series of the same title held in 2000 2001 by the Harvard Program for Art Museum Directors also includes an introduction by Cuno and a fascinating and surprisingly frank roundtable discussion among the participating directors A rare collection of sustained reflections by prominent museum directors on the current state of affairs in their profession this book is without equal It will be read widely not only by museum professionals trustees critics and scholars but also by the art loving public itself Contemporary Authors New Revision Series Pamela
