Zambia Andrew Sardanis, 2014-08-13 On 24 October 1964 the Republic of Zambia was formed replacing the territory which had formerly been known as Northern Rhodesia Fifty years on Andrew Sardanis provides a sympathetic but critical insider's account of Zambia from independence to the present He paints a stark picture of Northern Rhodesia at decolonisation and the problems of the incoming government presented with an immense uphill task of rebuilding the infrastructure of government and administration civil service law local government and economic development As a friend and colleague of many of the most prominent names in post independence Zambia from the presidencies of founding leader Kenneth Kaunda to the incumbent Michael Sata Sardanis uses his unique eyewitness experience to provide an inside view of a country in transition The Management of Urban Development in Zambia Emmanuel Mutale, 2017-11-30 Over the past few decades the developing world has seen unprecedented urban growth and urban areas have had to deal with a number of complex problems as a result While population growth is one of the factors contributing to the deprivation and decay characteristic of most urban areas in the developing world there are other factors Apart from demographic and economic factors the political organization factor of centralization has concentrated decision making and with it resources in the urban areas leading to further rural urban migration Another factor is one of colonialism The transfer of foreign social structures and technology while offering alternatives has dislocated and significantly altered indigenous patterns of development in the developing world This book examines a region where this last factor is a major significance Zambia's copperbelt Here the concentration of towns which were developed very rapidly in the 1930s made Zambia one of the most highly urbanized Sub Saharan countries By focusing on copperbelt towns the book provides a critical analysis of the development of urban policy in Zambia Aspects of conflict and cooperation between different interest groups and where relevant their economic relationships are explored and a structural conflict model of urban management is proposed The book concludes that with proper management existing and emerging sectional interests in urban areas can help provide conditions which foster the formulation of equitable urban policy Although focused on Zambia the proposed structural conflict approach has potential for wider application Accessions List, Eastern Africa Library of Congress.
