Virginias 100 Day Diary Lee:

Lee Besieged John Horn, 2025-05-31 A vivid account of Grant's daring but thwarted Second Offensive during the Petersburg siege where tactical brilliance met fierce Confederate resistance. The nine-month siege of Petersburg was the longest continuous operation of the Civil War. Contrary to popular belief, it was anything but static trench warfare as John Horn ably demonstrates in Lee Besieged. Grant's Second Petersburg Offensive, June 18–July 1, 1864, featured large-scale Union offensives and grand maneuvers that often triggered major battles, breaking the monotony of siege warfare. Once his First Offensive, the assaults of June 15–18 failed to capture the city, the Union commander planned and launched his next major effort within hours. This Second Offensive was one of the most dramatic operations of the entire war. To pave the way for success, Grant brought the city's bridges under the fire of his siege guns to slow the transfer of enemy troops in and out of Petersburg. He also seized a bridgehead at Deep Bottom on James River's north bank to draw Confederate forces out of Petersburg by menacing Richmond. Next, he took more ambitious measures by sending infantry to hem in Petersburg from the Appomattox River below the city to the Appomattox above. The move was designed to cut the critical Weldon and South Side railroads and force the Rebels to abandon Petersburg and Richmond. As his infantry went to work, his cavalry set out to sever the Confederate railroads below Petersburg to cut off supplies and reinforcements from the south and west. Grant's opponent, however, was Gen. Robert E. Lee, with his veteran infantry, not the inept John Floyd of Fort Donelson or the distracted John C. Pemberton of Vicksburg. Lee and his infantry division commander William Mahone marched to meet the enemy, and in a stunning turn of events, routed Grant's foot soldiers at Jerusalem Plank Road. Together, Confederate cavalry under Wade Hampton and Mahone's infantry smashed Grant's troopers at the battles of Sappony Church and First Reams Station. Thousands of Federal prisoners flooded into Confederate camps. Not until April 1865, after seven more offensives, would Grant reach the Appomattox above Petersburg and force Lee to relinquish that city and the capital of Richmond. This is tactical battle action at its finest. Horn's explanation for the context and consequences of every decision is grounded in hundreds of primary sources and supported by 40 original maps. Lee Besieged is the first full-length book to put Grant's second effort into its proper perspective, not only in the context of the Petersburg siege and the Civil War but in the context of warfare's history.

Civil War Weather in Virginia Robert K. Krick, 2007 Civil War Weather in Virginia fills a tremendous gap in our available knowledge in a fundamental area of Civil War studies: that of basic quotidian information on the weather in the theater of operations in the vicinity of Washington DC and Richmond, Virginia. Constructing Image, Identity, and Place Alison K. Hoagland, Kenneth A. Breisch, 2003 Although vernacular architecture scholarship has expanded beyond its core fascination with common buildings and places, its attention remains fixed on the social function of building. Consistent with this expansion of interests, Constructing Image, Identity, and Place includes essays on a wide variety of American building types and landscapes drawn from a broad geographic and chronological spectrum. Subjects range from examinations of the houses hotels and churches of America's colonial and Republican elite to analyses of the humble cottages of Southern sharecroppers and mill workers Mississippi juke joints and the ephemeral rustic arbors and bowers erected by Civil War soldiers Other contributors examine or reexamine the form of early synagogues in Georgia colonial construction technologies in the Chesapeake the appropriation and use of storefront windows by San Francisco suffragists and the evolution of the modern factory tour Other decidedly twentieth century topics include the impact of the automobile on American building forms and landscapes including parkways drive in movie theaters and shopping malls Drawn from the Vernacular Architecture Forum conferences of 1998 and 1999 these seventeen essays represent the broad range of topics and methodologies current in the field today The volume will introduce newcomers to the breadth and depth of vernacular architecture while also bringing established scholars up to date on the field's continued growth and maturation The Editors Alison K Hoagland is associate professor of history and historic preservation at Michigan Technological University Kenneth A Breisch is director of Programs in Historic Preservation at the University of Southern California He is author of Henry Hobson Richardson and the Small Public Library in America The Contributors Shannon Bell Robert W Blythe Timothy Davis Stephanie Dyer Willie Graham Kathleen LaFrank William Littmann Carl Lounsbury Al Luckenbach Sherri M Marsh Maurie McInnis Steven H Moffson Jason D Moser Jennifer Nardone Martin C Perdue Mark Reinberger Andrew K Sandoval Strausz Jessica Sewell Donna Ware and Camille Wells
