Voodoo Vintners Oregons Astonishing Biodynamic Winegrowers:

Voodoo Vintners Katherine Cole, 2011 Premodern Ecologies in the Modern Literary Imagination Vin Nardizzi, Tiffany Jo Werth, 2019-04-18 Premodern Ecologies in the Modern Literary Imagination explores how the cognitive and physical landscapes in which scholars conduct research write and teach have shaped their understandings of medieval and Renaissance English literary ecologies. The collection strives to practice what Ursula K Heise calls eco cosmopolitanism a method that imagines forms of local environmentalism as a defense against the interventions of open market global networks. It also expands the idea's possibilities and identifies its limitations through critical studies of premodern texts artefacts and environmental history. The essays connect real environments and their imaginative re creations and affirm the urgency of reorienting humanity's responsiveness to and responsibility for the historical links between human and non human existence. The discussion of ways in which meditation on scholarly place and time can deepen ecocritical work offers an innovative and engaging approach that will appeal to both ecocritics generally and to medieval and early modern scholars. Digging the Past Frances E. Dolan, 2020-07-17 A detailed study of seventeenth century farming practices and their relevance for today. We are today grappling with the consequences of disastrous changes in our farming and food systems. While the problems we face have reached a crisis point their roots are deep. Even in the seventeenth century Frances E Dolan contends some writers and thinkers voiced their reservations both moral and environmental about a philosophy of improvement that rationalized massive changes in land use farming methods and food production. Despite these reservations the seventeenth century was a watershed in the formation of practices that would lead toward the industrialization of agriculture. But it was also a period of robust and inventive experimentation in what we now think of as alternative agriculture. This book approaches the seventeenth century in its failed proposals and successful ventures as a resource for imagining the future of agriculture in fruitful ways. It invites both specialists and non specialists to see and appreciate the period from the ground up. Building on and connecting histories of food and work literary criticism of the pastoral and georgic histories of elite and vernacular science and histories of reading and writing practices among other areas of inquiry Digging the Past offers fine grained case studies of projects heralded as innovations both in the seventeenth century and in our own time composting and soil amendment local food natural wine and hedgerows. Dolan analyzes the stories seventeenth century writers told one another in letters diaries and notebooks in huge botanical catalogs and flimsy pamphlets in plays poems and how to guides in adages and epics. She digs deeply to assess precisely how and with what effect key terms figurations and stories galvanized early modern imaginations and reappear often unrecognized on the websites and in the tour scripts of farms and vineyards today. Hoptopia Peter A. Kopp, 2016-08-09 The contents of your pint glass have a much richer history than you could have imagined. Through the story of the hop Hoptopia connects twenty first century beer drinkers to lands and histories that have been forgotten in an era of industrial food production. The craft beer revolution of the late twentieth century is a remarkable global history that converged in the agricultural landscapes of Oregon's Willamette Valley. The common hop, a plant native to Eurasia, arrived to the Pacific Northwest only in the nineteenth century but has thrived within the region's environmental conditions so much that by the first half of the twentieth century the Willamette Valley claimed the title Hop Center of the World. Hoptopia integrates an interdisciplinary history of environment, culture, economy, labor, and science through the story of the most indispensable ingredient in beer.

Extreme Wine Mike Veseth, 2013-07-17 In Extreme Wine, wine economist and best-selling author Mike Veseth circles the globe searching for the best, worst, cheapest, most expensive, and most overpriced wines. Mike seeks out the most outrageous wine people and places and probes the biggest wine booms and busts. Along the way, he applauds celebrity wines, tries to find wine at the movies, and discovers wines that are so scarce that they are almost invisible. Why go to such extremes? Because Mike argues the world of wine is growing and changing, and if you want to find out what's really happening, you can't be afraid to step over the edge. Written with verve and appreciation for all things wine, Extreme Wine will surprise and delight readers.

Inventing Wine: A New History of One of the World's Most Ancient Pleasures Paul Lukacs, 2012-12-03 Lukacs chronicles wine's transformation from a source of sustenance to a consciously pursued pleasure in the process, offering a new way to view the present as well as the past.

The Green Vine Shannon Borg, 2013-08-21 CLICK HERE to download the first two chapters from The Green Vine. A charismatic guide to understanding environmentally friendly wines, from defining labels to reviewing vineyard practices. Features personally tested profiles of sustainable wines that everyone needs to try. California, Washington, and Oregon rank 1-3 nationally as having the most wineries per state. Most people don't want to think about their wine too much; they just want to enjoy it. At the same time, more and more people are thinking about where their food comes from. Why not ask the same questions about wine? It's a product that faces many of the same industry, environment, and economic issues as that sustainable steak or fresh home-grown salad on your plate. Traditional wine production is currently under threat from increasingly homogenized commercial processes and suffers from a large carbon footprint, from bottle and cork materials to water runoff and erosion. Many winemakers are starting to take environmental stewardship very seriously, changing how they grow grapes and make wine. With The Green Vine, wine expert Shannon Borg demystifies the terms of sustainable wine making and lays out a simple guide to West Coast wines and wineries that use both historical and modern sustainable practices. She explains why it's important to consider how wine is produced and packaged and why growing methods, soil health, and water resources matter. She then embarks on a wine tasting tour of nearly 200 sustainable wineries in Washington, Oregon, Northern California, British Columbia, and Idaho, profiling the winemakers and farmers who are leading the green wine movement. Winner of the Nautilus Awards 2014 Better Books for a Better World Silver Award.

Tasting the Past Kevin Begos, 2019-06-04 A vintner's blend of science, history, travel, and tantalizing drink recommendations. Amy Stewart, author of The Drunken Botanist, in search of a mysterious wine he once tasted in a hotel room minibar, journalist Kevin Begos travels along the original wine routes from the Caucasus Mountains where wine grapes were first domesticated eight thousand years ago crossing the Mediterranean to Europe and then America and unearths a whole world of forgotten grapes each with distinctive tastes and aromas We meet the scientists who are decoding the DNA of wine grapes and the historians who are searching for ancient vineyards and the flavors cultivated there Begos discovers wines that go far beyond the bottles of Chardonnay and Merlot found in most stores and restaurants and he offers suggestions for wines that are at once ancient and new Finding

Meaning in Wine Michael Sinowitz, 2023-08-01 This book examines controversies in American wine culture and how those controversies intersect with and illuminate current academic and cultural debates about the environment and about interpretation With a specific focus on the United States of America the methods that we use to discuss literature and other art are applied to wine making and wine culture The book explores the debates about how to evaluate wine and the problems inherent in numerical scoring as well as evaluative tasting notes whether winemakers can be artists the discourse in wine culture involving natural wine and biodynamic farming as well as how people judge what makes a wine great These interpretative commitments illuminate an underlying metaphysics and allegiance to a culture of reason or feeling The discussions engage with a broad range of writers and thinkers such as Roland Barthes Susan Sontag Louis Menand Michael Pollan Greg Garrard John Guillory Amitov Ghosh Pierre Bourdieu and Barbara Herrnstein Smith The book draws upon not only a number of texts produced by wine critics wine writers literary critics and theorists but also extensive interviews with wine writers and multiple California winemakers These interviews contribute to a unique reflection on wine and meaning This book will be of great interest to readers looking to learn more about wine from cultural literary and philosophical perspectives Ground-Work Hillary Eklund, 2017-03-28

How does soil as an ecological element shape culture With the sixteenth century shift in England from an agrarian economy to a trade economy what changes do we see in representations of soil as reflected in the language and stories during that time This collection brings focused scholarly attention to conceptions of soil in the early modern period both as a symbol and as a feature of the physical world aiming to correct faulty assumptions that cloud our understanding of early modern ecological thought that natural resources were then poorly understood and recklessly managed and that cultural practices developed in an adversarial relationship with natural processes Moreover these essays elucidate the links between humans and the lands they inhabit both then and now
