Jonah and the Human Condition Stuart Lasine, 2019-09-19 Stuart Lasine examines all aspects of the human situation and condition in Yahweh's cosmos as depicted in the Hebrew Bible. As his starting point, Lasine uses the phrase 'the human condition' which has been used to describe features of existence with which every person must cope in ways which vary according to their culture, their situation within that culture, and their personality. In particular, the most consistent factor that is basic to the human condition is mortality, and in the biblical context, the sometimes difficult relationship between the creator God and humankind. An examination of this forms the basis of Lasine's study, which draws analytical tools from several disciplines including literary theory, psychology, and philosophy. In the first part of the book, Lasine examines a number of relevant biblical texts which display different aspects of the human condition. Part two engages in a detailed case study of one human life situation: that of the prophet Jonah. Finally, Lasine draws together his conclusions about life and death in Yahweh's cosmos, both for characters within the world of the scriptural text and for present-day readers of the Hebrew Bible.

Fully Human in Christ Todd H. Speidell, 2016-11-08 Thomas F. Torrance's theology included a thoroughgoing albeit implicit ethic of reconciliation. It focused on the personalizing and humanizing mediation of Christ in all realms of life, including not only a supposed private dimension of human life but also the social, historical, and political structures of human society and even of the cosmos itself. This book builds upon that vision of a Christian ethic radically rooted in God's grace, which encompasses, sustains, and transforms the entire human and created order. A trinitarian, incarnational social ethic does not begin with our human causes, projects, and agendas, however noble they might be, but with witness to the reconciling person and work of Jesus Christ for us.

What Kind of Government? Vlasta Jalušić, Wolfgang Heuer, 2024-10-17 This book seeks to develop an understanding of the changes in contemporary forms of government and explores the nature and structure of the various corrupt, undemocratic, oppressive, and abusive governments that continue to emerge around the globe. While proceeding from Hannah Arendt's well-known thesis of the break in political tradition that occurred with the totalitarianisms of the 20th century, it addresses some main conceptual frameworks and a number of key trends in existing forms of government and their relations to historical forms. The primary intended audience includes educators, scholars, and researchers with an interest in contemporary democracy and anti-democratic movements, government questions of power, political theory, philosophy, and conceptual history, as well as students enrolled in various disciplines of the social sciences. Moreover, it will be of interest to Arendt scholars and those researching the contemporary challenges to democracy and constitutional rule worldwide.
