Women And Resistance In South Africa:

Women and Resistance in South Africa Cherryl Walker, 1991

Everyday Communists in South Africa's Liberation

Struggle Alan Kirkaldy, 2021-11-10 This book explores the role of social movements in the Southern African liberation struggle through the lens of two everyday communists Focusing on the Communist Party of South Africa CPSA the author explores the lives of Ivan and Lesley Schermbrucker whose contribution to the party was more clandestine than that of leaders such as Bram Fischer and Joe Slovo They represent how ordinary people could play significant roles based on stances more rooted in common decency and morality than in Marxist theory The book also sheds light on the interplay between transnational and national tendencies during the liberation movement particularly between the 1940s and the 1960s The Schermbruckers changed their views in response to the shifting national and international political landscape the rise of Stalinism and the flight of South African activists into exile from the 1960s Both fluent in African languages they were able to create relationships of trust with African members of the CPSA Examining tensions and conflicts during the liberation struggle this book provides fresh insights into underground activism

Gender and Sexuality in South African Music

Chris Walton, Stephanus Muller, 2005-05-01 During the past two decades the study of sexuality and gender in music has become a decidedly mainstream activity To be sure music has long been obviously and intimately involved in matters pertaining to relations both sexual and otherwise between and amongst the sexes Its use in courtship is the one that perhaps first comes to mind this use being probably as old as music itself This book contains all the papers presented at the conference by the same name

Transnational Activities of Women-Focused Civil Society Actors in Southern Africa

Cecilia Lwiindi Nedziwe, Oluwaseun Tella, 2023-06-30 This book focuses on southern Africa by engaging with norms from various perspectives and how they have proliferated within a neo liberalising context since the 1990s It particularly examines gender norms in relation to agency influence and their impact Despite growing transnational activities regional studies analyses have so far maintained a primarily linear logic not incorporative of the increasing interface between state and non state regionalism in a transnational context since the advent of liberalisation and democratisation Increasing non state activities and their connection to state processes involved in norm creation adaptation diffusion and implementation around broad questions of security including gender security amount to regional thickening The book's analytical approach is informed by alternatives to mainstream approaches emphasising processes rather than linearity inherent in regional international relations studies The research reveals that transnational activities and regionalisation of gender and women focused civil society actors are critical for advocacy and diverse representation within intergovernmental policymaking structures at the regional scale

We Now Demand! Julia C. Wells, 1993

An exploration of women's struggle against the South African Pass Laws in existence long before the National Party's invention of apartheid in 1948 Wells's account concentrates on three specific cases Bloemfontein in 1913 Potchefstroom in 1930 and Johannesburg between 1954 and 1958 and Nepal South Africa Jordan Turkey and Yemen Although this list might at first appear arbitrary its composition was both carefully and intentionally constructed As organizers we knew that a comparatively small conference could not entertain a fully inclusive representation of women's and gender studies programs worldwide Two Countries One Dream Rok Ajulu, 2009

Feminism and Modernity in Anglophone African Women's Writing Dobrota Pucherová, 2022-07-29 This book rereads the last 60 years of Anglophone African women's writing from a transnational and transhistorical feminist perspective rather than postcolonial from which these texts have been traditionally interpreted Such a comparative frame throws into relief patterns across time and space that make it possible to situate this writing as an integral part of women's literary history Revisiting this literature in a comparative context with Western women writers since the 18th century the author highlights how invocations of tradition have been used by patriarchy everywhere to subjugate women the similarities between women's struggles worldwide and the feminist imagination it produced The author argues that in the 21st century African feminism has undergone a major epistemic shift from a culturally exclusive to a relational feminism that conceptualizes African femininity through the risky opening of oneself to otherness transculturation and translation Like Western feminists in the 1960s contemporary African women writers are turning their attention to the female body as the prime site of women's oppression and freedom reframing feminism as a demand for universal human rights and actively shaping global discourses on gender modernity and democracy The book will be of interest to students and researchers of African literature but also feminist literary scholars and comparatists more generally

Women in African Parliaments Gretchen Bauer, Hannah Evelyn Britton, 2006 Working together across religious ethnic and class divisions African women are helping to formulate legislation and foster democracies more inclusive of women's interests Women in African Parliaments explores this phenomenon examining the impact and experiences of African women as they seek increased representation in national legislatures The authors carefully constructed case studies allow cross national comparisons of the range of strategies that African women have used to achieve greater involvement in national politics A unique feature of the work is the voices of African women themselves who explain how they achieved or continue to fight for electoral success how they learned to work with lifelong adversaries and how they have begun to transform their parliaments

The Greenwood Encyclopedia of Women's Issues Worldwide Lynn Walter, 2003 Women are working internationally to build a world based on gender equality and justice Their concerns are shaped by conditions in their own countries and regions and also by conditions for women in other parts of the world Links forged by globalization international relations United Nations gender equality and development programs and women's nongovernmental organizations connect their futures This groundbreaking reference set documents the achievements and current challenges for all women providing distortion free and newly available information about women's status in matters from education to violence in more than 130 countries in the world's most populated areas Written by an international host of contributing specialists this set is accessible to high school students and above Its consistent narrative coverage and relevant statistics are ideal for research and comparisons Readers will find that conceptions of women s issues vary by country as the set illuminates diverse perspectives and contemporary practices that shape the variations in equality and well being among women Judicious inclusion of historical processes helps frame the issues in a holistic perspective Volume maps individual country maps tables photos and indexes by set and volume are also included The International Journal of African Historical Studies ,1993 Journal of Women's History ,1990 Canadian Journal of African Studies ,1988 Teaching Southern African Studies ,1995 1956 Simon Hall,2016-09-06 Vibrantly and perceptively told this is the story of one remarkable year a vivid history of exhilarating triumphs and shattering defeats around the world 1956 was one of the most remarkable years of the twentieth century All across the globe ordinary people spoke out filled the streets and city squares and took up arms in an attempt to win their freedom In this dramatic page turning history Simon Hall takes the long view of the year s events putting them in their post war context and looking toward their influence on the counterculture movements of the 1960s to tell the story of the year s epic global struggles from the point of view of the freedom fighters dissidents and countless ordinary people who worked to overturn oppressive and authoritarian systems in order to build a brave new world It was an epic contest 1956 is the first narrative history of the year as a whole and the first to frame its tumultuous events as part of an interconnected global story of revolution
