Your Particular Grief:

Your Particular Grief Wayne Edward Oates,1981-01-01 Offers a Christian perspective on coping with the kinds of grief that can result from the loss of a loved one a human faculty or a job Birthed Elizabeth Hagan,2016-12-06 When infertility painfully interrupted Elizabeth Hagan s plan to start a family the path of grace offered her another way Instead of giving birth to a child she birthed herself instead Along the way she learned you can t control how fast your dreams come true if they come true at all but you can find grace for embracing your life in the present tense grief and all Through her new book Birthed Elizabeth Hagan offers her story as a companion and guide for living through your own pain and loss For the one in eight couples who face infertility you will know you are not alone and a long season of grief does not have to destroy your marriage or your friendships with childbearing friends For those friends and family members of infertile couples there are no one size fits all answers to a fertility journey medically emotionally or spiritually and the worst thing you can say is nothing at all Adoption is never the complete solution to infertility and through it all pain can never be fixed only lived through So allow grace to help you begin to live today in the present moment How To Go On Living When Someone You Love Dies Therese A. Rando,1991-07-18 An inspiring guide to help you through the mourning process including a comprehensive resource listing and a chapter on finding professional help and support groups The most comprehensive insightful and helpful volume on loss and survival Rabbi Dr Earl A Grollman author of Living When a Loved One Has Died Mourning the death of a loved one is a process all of us will go through at one time or another But wherever the death is sudden or anticipated few of us are prepared for it or for the grief it brings There is no right or wrong way to grieve each person s response to loss will be different Now in this compassionate comprehensive guide previously published as Grieving Therese A Rando Ph D bereavement specialist and author of Loss and Anticipatory Grief leads you gently through the painful but necessary process of grieving and helps you find the best way for yourself Whether the death was sudden or expected from accident illness suicide homicide or natural causes Dr Rando will help you learn to Understand and resolve your grief Talk to children about death Resolve unfinished business Take care of yourself Accept the help and support of others Get through holidays and other difficult times of the year Plan funerals and personal bereavement rituals There is no way around the pain of loss but there is a way through it Dr Rando offers the solace comfort and guidance to help you accept your loss and move into your new life without forgetting your treasured past Change of Course Margaret M. Blanchard,2008-11-18 This novel of ideas describes change in the lives of a student Jessie Adamson and her faculty Dr Sophie Green as well as to their innovative graduate program Moving through the program Jessie overcomes obstacles and faces tragic life events to discover meaning and fulfillment Sophie facing retirement reflects upon her long teaching career and mulls over the state of education in the United States The program designed to place students first in their own educational journeys and guided by committed energetic but beleaguered faculty is wrenched out of shape by self serving administrators While competing forces merge into a perfect storm of faculty conflict with administration the program demonstrates its transformative power through the relationship between Jessie and Sophie the power of their learning community and the effects of the program's distinctive design on the lives of learners Margaret M Blanchard educator author and NAPT board member modestly describes Change of Course as a novel of ideas While it is undeniable that it is also so much more True this novel is an extremely erudite well researched book that not only references theories from multiple disciplines and traditions both East and West feminist thought and traditional ways of thinking delightful passages of fiction a story within the story but also includes poetry The novel spins a web of interconnected questions that grow out of the richness of these fields

- 1 What does progressive holistic collaborative democratic student centered graduate education look like
- 2 How shall we think about creativity and its relationship to human growth and development
- 3 What is the place of subjectivity and intuition in research
- 4 How do the expressive arts therapies differ from talk therapies and where do they overlap Can feelings be educated through the creative arts
- 5 Can we create a whole language therapy that would reconstitute the original unity between sound gesture image movement and words
- 6 Might a unified arts therapy offer a medium for enhancing emotional intelligence
- 7 How does progressive education help to guide the learner to want to cultivate larger worlds and to inhabit contexts more expansive than themselves
- 8 How does the process of innovative education transform both learners and mentors
- 9 What keeps educational institutions vital and growing
- 10 What convergence of factors leads to their decline
- 11 How does systems theory help us understand the impact of a given political moment on the collective and the individual within educational institutions

These questions should be of wide interest to all educators and learners However without the array of memorable characters whose lives we get to know from viewpoints inside and outside themselves this novel would not hold our attention Central to this book are the lives of Jessie Adamson the adult learner her mentor Dr Sophie Green who is struggling with the prospect of retiring and Jessies field supervisor Keyla Gold their work together which Blanchard records in detail demonstrates the best practiced offered by the innovative low residency program from which Jessie graduates transformed by the process into a confident knower who trusts herself Blanchard creates a canvas which also includes memorable vignettes of other students and mentors who have dedicated their lives to building and preserving this program Blanchard allows us to see the strengths and vulnerabilities of her characters and convincingly shows the complex process of inquiry through which Jessie works with her mentors to develop her own ideas for her final project focusing on expressive arts therapies The principles of learning embedded in this novel are also central to the philosophy and training programs of the National Association for Poetry Therapy which gets a cameo appearance when Jessie is introduced to poetry therapy at a national conference After attending only a few workshops she is soon sorry she only signed up for one day and is particularly moved by the non judgemental quality and safe atmosphere at the meeting In one workshop free write she allows herself to express powerful feelings about a family tragedy which allows her transform grief Yet in spite of the very positive depiction of innovative adult learning

Blanchard's novel also has an underside. Even as she applauds the powerful and positive transformations brought about by this form of education, she also exposes the heartless corporate mentality brought in by the new administrators of this fictional institution who are incrementally dismantling the progressive program whose accomplishments Blanchard so proudly displays and whose dissolution she shows us with deep sadness. This aspect of the novel can be read as a kind of caveat for all progressive institutions that are seen as marginal in times of a conservative backlash but we must have hope that with the recent change of administration we may be entering a different historical cycle in which educational innovations will be encouraged not destroyed. This novel is sure to provoke more questions than answers, which is what progressive education at its best intends. The beautiful many-chambered nautilus on the cover of Change of Course offers a welcoming invitation for us to take heart and possibly to change our own course of living.
