Grow,Sharon Gursky-Doyen,Alicia Krzton,2013-11-19 The basic goal of the volume is to compile the most up to date research on how high altitude affects the behavior ecology evolution and conservation status of primates especially in comparison to lowland populations Historically the majority of primate studies have focused on lowland populations However as the lowlands have been disappearing more and more primatologists have begun studying populations located in higher altitudes High altitude populations are important not only because of their uniqueness but also because they highlight the range of primate adaptability and the complex variables that are involved in primate evolution These populations are good examples of how geographic scales result in diversification and or speciation Yet there have been very few papers addressing how this high altitude environment affects the behavior ecology and conservation status of these primates De zeearend Nienke Beintema,2021-02-12 Deel uit De Vogelserie de mooiste vogelmonografie n Nienke Beintema vertelt het verhaal van de grootste roofvogel van de Lage Landen in De zeearend Deze broedt sinds 2006 in ons land en is sindsdien met een spectaculaire opmars bezig In 2020 waren er al twintig broedparen meer dan honderd jonge zeearenden kropen in Nederland uit het ei En de groei zet nog altijd door Hoe is
