Work After Globalization Building Occupational Citizenship:

Work After Globalization Guy Standing, 2010-01-01 This is a scholarly and erudite work There is a wealth of detail all illustrated with plenty of fascinating examples It is impossible to give the full flavour of this thoughtful and stimulating book in even a long review but it deserves to be widely accessible and read Citizen s Income this is the greatest book ever about work in all its forms Work after Globalization offers us the kind of foundation we need to launch a new social democratic program do yourself a favour don t take my word for it You need to read this book for yourself If you re ever going to read a book about work make it this one Peter Hall Jones New Unionism Network This is an important book It shifts emphasis from the role of capital to the creativity of labour in the creation of value in the real economy A central role is accorded to each and all of the skills and occupations which contribute to the construction of an economy and a civic culture governed by the public interest Guy Standing has made an original contribution to the validation of human creativity in the economic process The work owes an acknowledged debt to the vision of Karl Polanyi Kari Polanyi Levitt McGill University Canada Standing has written a comprehensive account of what the forces and developments that govern the contemporary world such as states employers trade unions the globalization of labor markets financial market crises etc do to workers and the conditions under which they work and live It is rare for a social science work that is full of empirical information to be as accessibly written as this one It is even rarer to find all three of the things that good social science can deliver fine grained description original explanation sophisticated normative reflection in the pages of a single volume One of the richest accounts of the fates of labor since Polanyi 1944 Claus Offe Hertie School of Governance Germany In Work after Globalization Guy Standing one of the most knowledgeable and theoretically sophisticated scholars in the area of labor relations today paints a rich panorama of contemporary labor practices around the world to demonstrate that we are in the midst of a societal shift of historical dimensions Standing s concept of occupational citizenship provides a way to re capture both human agency and community thereby reconciling the individual with society and flexibility with new forms of social security This book is a tour de force for its sweeping scope incisive analysis and predictive power Katherine Stone University of California Los Angeles US In this ground breaking book Guy Standing offers a new perspective on work and citizenship rejecting the labourist orientation of the 20th century Karl Polanyi s The Great Transformation marked the rise of industrial citizenship which hinged on fictitious labour de commodification Since the 1970s this has collapsed and a Global Transformation is under way in which inequalities and insecurities are becoming unsustainable Guy Standing explains that while a struggle against paternalism is essential the desirable egalitarian response to the problems caused by globalization is a strategy to build occupational citizenship This is based on a right to universal economic security and institutions to enable everybody to develop their capabilities and work whilst respecting the ecological imperatives of the 21st century The book also explores a phasing out of labour law and a re orientation of collective bargaining towards collaborative bargaining highlighting the increased importance of the relationship between groups of workers and citizens as well as between workers and capital Work after Globalization offers a new perspective on work rejecting the labourist orientation of the 20th century Social scientists interested in globalization and labour market issues will warmly welcome this book It will also strongly appeal to students

Negotiating Solidarity Nedžad Mešić, 2017-01-25 Precarious migrant workers are today an everyday part of the Swedish labour market. They often work under conditions of vulnerability on temporary contracts and with few rights. This dissertation examines collective actions aiming to improve the precarious conditions of three categories of workers: discriminated seasonal and undocumented. The collective actors examined in the dissertation are composed of formal organisations such as non-governmental organisations founded on ethnic grounds and trade unions but also more temporary groups and networks. The analysis foregrounds contemporary societal economical and legal transfigurations that create the conditions for collaboration among the actors and the negotiations which they conduct. The dissertation contains four articles. The first article addressing the situation of discriminated migrant workers scrutinises the conditions for the engagement of anti-discrimination agencies. The result of the study illustrates how the actors as a consequence of state subsidies alter their original course of conduct by becoming market orientated which contributes to tensions in relations with other collaborators. The second and third articles focus on the situation of Bulgarian Roma berry pickers in the 2012 harvesting season. These articles illuminate on the one hand the driving forces to their labour migration and the challenges faced in Sweden and on the other the emergence of different collective actions and their significance for the workers. The fourth article centres on two trade union initiatives for the inclusion of undocumented migrant workers. The article analyses the challenges faced by the unions as they seek to extend solidarity to workers who are relegated to informal work. The article also elucidates that this endeavour nonetheless may have the potential to transform the political identity of trade unions and by extension through collaborations with other collective actors open the doors of solidarity for precarious EU migrants. In sum, the four articles show that there is a broad range of collective actors who are prepared to assist precarious migrant workers and to negotiate and at best improve their labour market conditions. These actors face many and difficult challenges. However, as the dissertation demonstrates, their engagement has made the reality of precarious migrant work visible to the public, legitimised the workers' needs and enabled them to claim their rights.
