Remote Sensing and GIS Applications: A Starter Guide D.C. Joshi, 2019-03-02 The Satellite Remote Sensing and GIS, a new fast developing technology, has potential for quick and accurate assessment and characterization of natural resources. Nowadays, for any small query, planning and management of natural resources, one can find a quick answer by referring the satellite images. But satellite images have to be interpreted, which requires training and skill. During recent years, at many Universities, at graduate and post graduate degree courses of engineering, agriculture, forestry, geology, geography and environmental sciences, Remote Sensing and Geographical Information System (GIS) has been added as a part of syllabus. Keeping in mind, this book has been written in simple explanatory language with illustrations so that even a novice and inexperienced person can understand and interpret the satellite images. There are 19 chapters in the book covering two aspects: 1. Fundamentals of Remote Sensing Technology, which includes satellites and sensors, spectral reflectance characteristics of objects on earth surface, satellite image interpretation techniques and GIS; and 2. Applications of the Technology for identification, mapping and monitoring of landforms, soil surface and ground water and forest resources, land use, land cover classification and wasteland mapping, land degradation and desertification, classification and mapping, crop identification and acreage estimation, watershed development, planning and monitoring, natural calamities and disaster management Each topic has been elaborately explained with case studies to meet the requirement of the students teachers and natural resource planners
