Microorganisms that live in the human body are called commensals. They are not harmful, but they can cause disease if they get into the wrong part of the body. For example, if a commensal bacterium from the mouth gets into the eye, it can cause an infection. This is why it is important to keep the body clean and to avoid getting into the wrong part of the body.

Caeculus IV opens with a dedication to professor Marianne Kleibrink on the occasion of her 60th birthday followed by a complete list of her publications The Proceedings of the 4th Fransum Colloquium start with an article of Christopher Smith entitled Ritualising the Economy He presents a theoretical base for a correlation between ritual and economy Smith outlines some recent theories which incorporate economic activity into ritual context actions into thought or as one could say matter into mind Furthermore he tries to relate this theoretical framework to the archaeological evidence from Latium Vetus the region on which his own research focuses The results from the recent Dutch excavations in Italy at Satricum seem to correspond fairly well with the discussed theories His paper offers therefor a suitable foundation for the following contributions most of which concentrate on central Italy The second contribution by Tsjeard Hoekstra deals with the biography of bronze hoards from Italy Albert Nijboer continues the debate with a discussion of the significant changes in hoarding in central Italy from 800 to 500 BC The fourth paper by Demetrius Waarsenburg and Hendrieneke Maas deals with the bronzes deposited in the early sanctuary at Satricum in Lazio Jelle Bouma discusses the same shrine as the previous authors but during the subsequent period the 5th and 4th centuries BC He presents a report of his excavation of the second votive deposit at the main shrine of Satricum Peter Attema presents in his paper evidence of a recent survey in the area around Sezze ancient Setia The paper by Marjan Galestin discusses Roman coin hoards in the Netherlands The last paper not related to the central topic of this issue is by Patricia Roncoroni who studies children's graves in Latium during the early Iron Age Boskroniek (April - Junie 1977) Casparus Marius Bakkes, 2008 Some aspects of carbohydrate metabolism in yeast and mammalian Denis Hermanus Johannes Schamhart, 19?? Verslag der handelingen der Staten-Generaal Netherlands. At last we have a study that tackles these questions and does so with a wealth of learning a poet's sensibility and a thorough theological literacy Murray has given us a superb study Rowan Williams Doctrine and Life His point of view is always that of someone practised in meditation and his book is in consequence one of the half dozen really valuable guides to Eliot's poetry Stephen Medcalf Times Literary Supplement The story of the composition of Four Quartets in relation to mysticism constitutes one of the most interesting pages in modern literary history T. S. Eliot drew his inspiration not only from the literature of orthodox Christian mysticism and from a variety of Hindu and Buddhist sources but also from the literature of the occult and from several unexpected and so far unacknowledged sources such as the mystical symbolism of Shakespeare's later plays and the visionary poetry of Rudyard Kipling But the primary concern of this study is not with sources as such nor with an area somewhere behind the work but rather with that point in Four Quartets where Eliot's own mystical attitude and his poetry unite and intersect
