Women Democracy Studies Modern Contemporary:

Women's Studies Linda Krikos, Cindy Ingold, 2004-08-30 This truly monumental work maps the literature of women's studies covering thousands of titles and Web sites in 19 subject areas published between 1985 and 1999. Intended as a reference and collection development tool, this bibliography provides a guide for women's studies information for each title along with a detailed, often evaluative review. The annotations summarize each work's content, its importance or contribution to women's studies, and its relationship to other titles on the subject. Core titles and titles that are out of print are noted, and reviews indicate which titles are appropriate as texts or supplemental texts. This definitive guide to the literature of women's studies is a must purchase for academic libraries that support women's studies programs and is a useful addition to any academic or public library that endeavors to represent the field. A team of subject specialists has taken on the immense task of documenting publications in the area of women's studies in the last decades of the 20th century. The result is this truly monumental work which maps the field covering thousands of titles and Web sites in 19 subject areas published between 1985 and 1999. Intended as a reference and collection development tool, this bibliography provides a guide for women's studies information for each title along with a detailed, often evaluative review. The annotations summarize each work's content, its importance or contribution to women's studies, and its relationship to other titles on the subject. Most reviews cite and describe similar and contrasting titles, substantially extending the coverage. Core titles and titles that are out of print are noted, and reviews indicate which titles are appropriate as texts or supplemental texts. Taking up where the previous volume by Loeb, Searing, and Stineman left off, this is the definitive guide to the literature of women's studies. It is a must purchase for academic libraries that support women's studies programs and a welcome addition to any academic or public library that endeavors to represent the field.

Female Youth in Contemporary Egypt Dina Hosni, 2022-07-26 Based on interview material, observations, and content analysis, this book captures the everyday life structures of a cohort of Muslim ex-Islamist female youth in Egypt who have joined or established new networks that share the common interest of doing good to the society based on their religious worldviews, representing a broader societal movement. Female Youth in Contemporary Egypt posits that despite the fact that the 2011 Egyptian uprisings did not necessarily materialize with the political effects anticipated by some of its activists, it seems to have led to the formation of a new generation of active youth with a distinct worldview. Four broad and intertwined theoretical considerations have been taken into account: First, the book delineates the emergence and continuous development of post and sometimes non-bourgeois public spheres in Arabo-Islamic contexts and conceptualizes multiple publics of overlapping Islamic structures rather than one Islamic public. Second, it offers an empirical as well as a conceptual understanding of the positioning of religion as public/private. Third, it presents a critique of Islamist thought conducive to the rise of post-Islamism, and fourth, it offers a critique of feminist thought to throw light on novel forms of Muslim women's discourses and activism in line with post-Islamist worldviews. This book will be of interest to scholars in Middle Eastern Studies women s studies and political studies Islamic NGOs in Bangladesh Mohammad Musfequs Salehin,2016-01-13 NGOs Non Governmental Organizations have emerged in both a development and aid capacity in Bangladesh providing wide reaching public services to the country s population living in extreme poverty However resistance to and limitations of NGO led development which in conjunction with Bangladesh s social transformation led to a new religious based NGO development practice Looking at the role of Islamic NGOs in Bangladesh the book investigates new forms of neoliberal governmentality supported by international donors It discusses how this form of social regulation produces and reproduces subjectivities particularly Muslim women subjectivity and has combined religious and economic rationality further complicating the boundaries and the relationship between Islam modernity and development The book argues that both secular and Islamic NGOs target women in the name of empowerment but more importantly as the most reliable partners to meet their debt obligations of micro financing schemes including shari a based financing The targeted women in turn experience Islamic NGOs as less coercive and more sensitive to their religious environment in the rural village community than are secular NGOs Providing a comparative study of the role of religious and secular NGOs in the implementation of neoliberal policies and development strategies this book will be a significant addition to research on South Asian Politics Development Studies Gender Studies and Religion

Women and Gender in Chinese Studies Nicola Spakowski, Cecilia Nathansen Milwertz, 2006. The State of the World's Girls report has tackled many topics: girls in the global economy, education, girls affected by conflict and by disaster, the new digital world and its implications, both negative and positive, for girls' lives, the challenges and risks of increasing urbanisation, working with men and boys and looked at attitudinal, structural and institutional barriers to gender equality.

Equality by Design Szonja Szelényi, 1999-01-01. Social mobility is a classic topic in sociology and Hungary presents an interesting case study for a number of reasons. The communist regime that took power after World War II had the proclaimed goal of eliminating the abusive inequalities of the old regime and creating an egalitarian society; it accordingly introduced numerous measures intended to favor the advancement of people with working class backgrounds. That to some extent these policies worked cannot be disputed, but over time did they simply replace one privileged class with another? What happened during the communist reform era of the late 1970s and 1980s when Hungary went much further along the path of decentralizing the economy than any other Eastern bloc country? What happened in the postcommunist era? And what difference did such age-old liabilities as being Jewish or female make? There is as much scholarly debate over how to address these questions in an intellectually rigorous way as there is over the answers to them. This study aims to contribute to the debate by analyzing random samples of both elites and the general population and by carrying out comparisons across presocialist, socialist and postsocialist society. Its main methodological goal is to explore the implications of carefully distinguishing between the effects of socialist reform on the distribution of inequality from its effects on the underlying rules by which inequality is allocated.

Political Ideas in Modern Britain Rodney S. Barker, 1997. A provocative and stimulating guide to political thinking in the United Kingdom since the 1880s. Spanning the development of political thought from Morris to market socialism, from communism to communitarianism, from fascism to feminism.
