Guide to the WTO and GATT Autar Krishen Koul, 2018-11-19 This book analyzes how today's system of international trade law and international economic relations has evolved over the last six decades Focusing on the major innovations that came with the inception of the World Trade Organization WTO with its various agreements in 1994 it also provides in depth commentary on the intense debate over important matters that remain unsettled Topics covered include the WTO dispute settlement mechanism the General Agreement on Trade in Services GATS the Agreement on Trade Related Investment Measures TRIMS intellectual property rights the Agreement on Trade Related Aspects of Intellectual Property Rights TRIPS areas still covered by the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade GATT 1947 the Most Favoured Nation MFN concept special provisions relating to agriculture and textiles sanitary and phytosanitary measures technical barriers to trade pre shipment inspection and import licensing procedures The book would be an excellent resource for scholars as well as practitioners working in the field of international arbitration and trade laws

WTO - Trade in Services Rüdiger Wolfrum, Peter-Tobias Stoll, Clemens Feinäugle, 2008-02-28 With the establishment of the WTO trade in services became part of the world trade order Volume 6 is dedicated to these rather recent developments It covers the core agreement the General Agreement on Trade in Services GATS with annexes as well as the additional instruments which have been adopted later on to govern the liberalization in specific sectors Those are the Understanding on Commitments in Financial Services the Second Protocol on Financial Services the Third Protocol on the Movement of Natural Persons the Fourth Protocol on Basic Telecommunications and the Fifth Protocol which contains further rules for financial services This volume will be a valuable reference tool for the WTO community as a whole as well as for professionals and researchers who deal with one of the sectors concerned e.g. financial services and telecommunications. Furthermore, it is highly relevant in view of those sectors which are the subject of ongoing liberalization efforts or earmarked for future negotiations, namely accounting, legal services, transport, tourism, environmental services, legal and educational services.

Development and trade Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: International Development Committee, 2007-12-04. The changes in the machinery of government announced in June 2007 led to this assessment of the place of the Department for International Development (DFID) in trade policy structures and how this area could be best managed across government. The inquiry also followed up on the report 'Conflict and development: peacebuilding and post-conflict reconstruction' (HC 923 I 2005-06) and the responsibility of the former Department of Trade and Industry in relation to the regulation of activities of UK companies operating in developing countries. Although the reaction to the changes in the machinery of government are broadly positive, there are reservations about complexity, unclear lines of accountability and new layers of bureaucracy. The increase in the number of DFID ministers is welcomed, but there are concerns that the brief of the Trade Policy Minister might be too wide.

A comprehensive analysis of GATS that considers its historical context, the national preferences that shaped it, and a path to a GATS 2.0. The previous two volumes in 'The Regulation of International Trade' analyzed the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT), the first successful agreement to generate multilateral trade liberalization, and the World Trade Organization (WTO) for which the GATT laid the groundwork. In this third volume, Petros Mavroidis turns to the General Agreement on Trade in Services (GATS), a WTO treaty that took effect in 1995 and offers a comprehensive analysis that considers the historical context of the GATS, the national preferences that shaped it, and a path to a GATS 2.0.
