Popkewitz,David F. Labaree,2011-05-09 This book is a comparative history that explores the social cultural and political formation of the modern nation through the construction of public schooling It asks how modern school systems arose in a variety of different republics and non republics across four continents during the period from the late eighteenth century to the early twentieth century The authors begin with the republican preoccupation with civic virtue the need to overcome self interest in order to take up the common interest which requires a form of education that can produce individuals who are capable of self guided rational action for the public good They then ask how these educational preoccupations led to the emergence of modern school systems in a disparate array of national contexts even those that were not republican By examining historical changes in republicanism across time and space the authors explore central epistemologies that connect the modern individual to community and citizenship through the medium of schooling Ideas of the individual were reformulated in the nineteenth century in reaction to new ideas about justice social order and progress and the organization and pedagogy of the school turned these changes into a way to transform the self into the citizen

Lettering Young Readers in the Dutch Enlightenment Feike Dietz,2021-05-22 This book presents a rigorous hugely informative analysis of the early history of Dutch children s literature pedagogical developments and emerging family formations Thoroughly researched Dietz s study will be essential for historians of eighteenth century childhood education and children s books both in the Dutch context and more widely Matthew Grenby Newcastle University UK A rich informative well documented and effectively illustrated discussion of the ways Dutch eighteenth century educators tried to transform youth into responsible readers It does so in a wide international context and masterfully connects this process to the radical politicization and de politicization of Dutch society in the revolutionary period Wijnand W Mijnhardt formerly of Utrecht University the Netherlands and the University of California at Los Angeles USA This book explores how children s literature and literacy could at once regulate and empower young people in the eighteenth century Dutch Republic Rather than presenting the history of childhood as a linear story of increasing agency it suggests that we view it as a continuous struggle with the impossibility of full agency for young people This volume demonstrates how this struggle informed the production of books in a historical context in which the development of independent youths was high on the political agenda In close interaction with international children s literature markets Dutch authors developed new strategies to make the members of young generations into capable readers and writers equipped to organize their own minds and bodies properly and to support a supposedly declining fatherland
