Women War And Peace In South Asia:

Women, War, and Peace in South Asia Rita Manchanda, 2001 Women War and Peace in South Asia examines the many different experiences women have of conflict in this region Rita Manchanda shifts the focus away from the victimhood discourse such as The Grieving Mother and explores women's agency for both peace and conflict The book is structured around six narratives of women negotiating violent politics in their everyday lives Women and Politics of Peace Rita Manchanda, 2017-05-26 This book discusses the experiences of women negotiating conflict and post conflict situations to deliver transformative peace Inspired by the vision and values of women of the South Asian Peace Network this volume fills a critical gap in the global Women Peace and Security WPS discourse The chapters focus on the region's multifaceted experiences and feminist expertise on women negotiating post war post conflict situations structured around interlinked themes women participation and peacebuilding militarization and violent peace and justice impunity and accountability This volume looks at the efforts of women trying to deliver a transformative peace that questions gendered power relations while confronting the socio cultural barriers that prevent them from participating in rebuilding conflict affected societies to bring about just peace Women Waging War and Peace Sandra I. Cheldelin, Maneshka Eliatamby, 2011-08-18 Encyclopedia of Women and Islamic Cultures Suad Joseph, Afsāna Nağmābādī, 2003 Family Law and Politics Volume II of the Encyclopedia of Women Islamic Cultures brings together over 360 entries on women family law politics and Islamic cultures around the world Gender, Conflict and Peace in Kashmir Seema Shekhawat, 2014-03-06 Discusses the role of women in militancy in Kashmir from a historical perspective Provided by publisher Gender and Conflict Georg Frerks, Annelou Ypeij, 2016-04-15 Through an in depth analysis of the multifaceted manifestations of gender and conflict this book shows how cognition and behaviour agency and victimization are gendered beyond the popular stereotypes Conflict not only reconfirms social hierarchies and power relations but also motivates people to transgress cultural boundaries and redefine their self images and identities The contributions are a mix of classical ethnography performance studies and embodiment studies showing emotions and feelings often denied in scientific social research Strong in their constructivist approach and unorthodox in theory the articles touch upon the dynamic relation between the discourses embodiments and symbolic practices that constitute the gendered world of conflict The localities and research sites vary from institutional settings such as a school rebel movements public toilets and the military to more artistic domains of gendered conflicts such as prison theatre classes and the capoeira ring At the same time these conflicts and domains appropriate wider discourses and practices of a global nature demonstrating the globalised and institutionalised nature of the nexus gender conflict A first set of chapters deals with breaking the gender taboos and renegotiating the stereotypical gender roles masculinities or femininities during conflict A second set of chapters focuses more explicitly on the bodily experience of conflict either physically or symbolically while the last set straddle body and narrative The inductive quality of the work leads to unexpected insights and does give access to worlds that are new and often surprising and unconventional

Women and Militant Wars Swati Parashar, 2014-03-05
 This book explores women's militant activities in insurgent wars and seeks to understand what women do in wars. In International Relations, inter-state conflict, anti-state armed insurgency, and armed militancy are essentially seen as wars where collective violence against civilians and security forces is used to achieve political objectives. Extending the notion of war as politics of injury to the armed militancy in Indian-administered Kashmir and the Tamil armed insurgency in Sri Lanka, this book explores how women participate in militant wars and how that politics not only shapes the gendered understandings of women's identities and bodies but is in turn shaped by them. The case studies discussed in the book offer new comparative insight into two different and most prevalent forms of insurgent wars today: religious-political and ethno-nationalist. Empirical analyses of women's roles in the Sri Lankan Tamil militant group, the LTTE, and the logistical-ideological support women provide to militant groups active in Indian-administered Kashmir suggest that these insurgent wars have their own gender dynamics in recruitment and operational strategies. Thus, Women and Militant Wars provides an excellent insight into the gender politics of these insurgencies and women's roles and experiences within them. This book will be of much interest to students and scholars of critical war and security studies, feminist international relations, gender studies, terrorism, and political violence. South Asia studies and IR in general.

Gender, Conflict and Migration Navnita Chadha Behera, 2006-04-14
 Research on the subject of women's migration and conflict is generally organised along the twin axes of gender and conflict and gender and migration. The reality of women's conflict-driven migration, however, falls between these two axes. The essays in this volume seek to fill this gap by examining the changes in status, identities, and power relations among women and men as they move from a conflict situation at home to migrant camps to the post-conflict or peace-building phase when they return home. The contributors use a variety of research methods, including ethnography, dialogue, oral history, textual analyses, and consciousness-raising techniques.

Oxford Textbook of Migrant Psychiatry Dinesh Bhugra, 2021-02-04
 Migrant psychiatry is an evolving subdiscipline within cultural psychiatry that deals with the impact of migration on the mental health of those who have migrated and those who work with these groups and provide services to them. Stress related to migration affects migrants and their extended families, either directly or indirectly. The process of migration is not just a phase but leads on to a series of adjustments, including acculturation, which may occur across generations. Factors such as changes in diet, attitudes, and beliefs, and overall adjustment are important in settling down and making the individuals feel secure. This period of adjustment will depend upon the individual migrant's pre-migration experiences, migration process, and post-migration experiences but also upon an individual's personality, social support, and emotional response to migration. Socio-demographic factors such as age, gender, educational, and economic status will all play a role in post-migration adjustment. In order to understand the impact on individuals, not only the type of migration and different stressors but also the types of psychological mechanisms at a personal level and the resources and processes at a societal level need to be explored Despite the number of refugees and asylum seekers around the world increasing at an astonishing rate the mental health needs of migrants are often ignored by policy makers and clinicians The Oxford Textbook of Migrant Psychiatry is designed to serve as the comprehensive reference resource on the mental health of migrants bringing together both theoretical and practical aspects of the mental health needs of refugees and asylum seekers for researchers and professionals Individual chapters summarise theoretical constructs related to theories of migration the impact of migration on mental health and adjustment collective trauma individual identity and diagnostic fallacies The book also covers the practical aspects of patient management including cultural factors ethnopsychopharmacology therapeutic interaction and therapeutic expectation and psychotherapy Finally the book will examine special clinical problems and special patient groups Part of the authoritative Oxford Textbooks in Psychiatry series this resource will serve as an essential reference for psychiatrists mental health professionals general practitioners primary care physicians social workers policy makers and voluntary agencies dealing with refugees and asylum seekers

Contesting Masculinities and Women's Agency in Kashmir Amya Agarwal, 2022-07-18 What is the significance of gender and masculinities in understanding conflict Through an ethnographic study conducted between 2013 and 2016 this book explores the politics of competing and sometimes overlapping masculinities represented by the state armed forces and the non state actors in the Kashmir valley In addition the book broadens the understanding of women's agency through its engagement with the construction performance and interplay of masculinities in the conflict Combining existing elements of both feminist research and critical scholarship on men and masculinities the book highlights the significance of foregrounding the interplay of men's identities in conflicts to understand agency in a meaningful way Through the focus on the simultaneous play of multiple masculinities the book also questions the oversimplified and monolithic usage of masculinity being associated only with violence in conflicts The empirical data in the book includes interviews and narratives of multiple stakeholders belonging to diverse vantage points in the Kashmir conflict Some of these include activists widows wives of the disappeared ex militants surrendered militants participants of the stone pelting movement mothers of sons killed in the conflict women representatives of the village Halqa Panchayats and army personnel The book also draws from alternative material in the form of graffiti folk songs poetry on graves and slogans Through anecdotal reminiscence the author reflects on the challenges of field research in Kashmir that served as an opportunity for self contemplation
