Working Together Collective Action The Commons And Multiple Methods In Practice:

Working Together Amy Poteete, Marco A. Janssen, Elinor Ostrom, 2010-04-12 Advances in the social sciences have emerged through a variety of research methods field based research laboratory and field experiments and agent based models However which research method or approach is best suited to a particular inquiry is frequently debated and discussed Working Together examines how different methods have promoted various theoretical developments related to collective action and the commons and demonstrates the importance of cross fertilization involving multimethod research across traditional boundaries The authors look at why cross fertilization is difficult to achieve and they show ways to overcome these challenges through collaboration The authors provide numerous examples of collaborative multimethod research related to collective action and the commons They examine the pros and cons of case studies meta analyses large N field research experiments and modeling and empirically grounded agent based models and they consider how these methods contribute to research on collective action for the management of natural resources Using their findings the authors outline a revised theory of collective action that includes three elements individual decision making microsituational conditions and features of the broader social ecological context Acknowledging the academic incentives that influence and constrain how research is conducted Working Together reworks the theory of collective action and offers practical solutions for researchers and students across a spectrum of disciplines Routledge Handbook of the Study of the Commons Blake Hudson, Jonathan Rosenbloom, Dan Cole, 2019-01-04 The commons has come to mean many things to many people and the term is often used inconsistently The study of the commons has expanded dramatically since Garrett Hardin s The Tragedy of the Commons 1968 popularized the dilemma faced by users of common pool resources This comprehensive Handbook serves as a unique synthesis and resource for understanding how analytical frameworks developed within the literature assist in understanding the nature and management of commons resources Such frameworks include those related to Institutional Analysis and Development Social Ecological Systems and Polycentricity among others The book aggregates and analyses these frameworks to lay a foundation for exploring how they apply according to scholars across a wide range of disciplines It includes an exploration of the unique problems arising in different disciplines of commons study including natural resources forests oceans water energy ecosystems etc economics law governance the humanities and intellectual property It shows how the analytical frameworks discussed early in the book facilitate interdisciplinarity within commons scholarship This interdisciplinary approach within the context of analytical frameworks helps facilitate a more complete understanding of the similarities and differences faced by commons resource users and managers the usefulness of the commons lens as an analytical tool for studying resource management problems and the best mechanisms by which to formulate policies aimed at addressing such problems , Contextualizing Compliance in the Public Sector Saba Siddiki, Salvador Espinosa, Tanya Heikkila, 2018-07-06 Studying compliance to uncover whether compliance is occurring and what motivates it is central to the broader study of governance Contextualizing Compliance in the Public Sector Individual Motivations Social Processes and Institutional Design develops an interdisciplinary approach for answering a classic and essential question in any rule governed context What factors influence the decision of an individual or organization to comply or not with governing rules Analyzing compliance from an interdisciplinary and multi level perspective this book examines the question of what motivates compliance in the context of salient policy issues such as energy policy water governance police profiling and drug policy among others The book brings together an interdisciplinary group of experts who explore the psychological social and institutional factors that shape compliance with formal rules embodied in laws and regulations and or informal rules embodied in social norms In doing so they offer a platform for assessing individual compliance compliance by or in the context of groups and compliance on a systemic or societal level Contextualizing Compliance in the Public Sector Individual Motivations Social Processes and Institutional Design is an excellent resource for researchers and scholars of public administration and public policy conducting research on compliance rules behavior and policy outcomes

Environmental Adaptation and Eco-cultural Habitats Johannes Schubert, 2015-10-23 In this challenging and highly original book the author tackles the dynamic relationships between physical nature and societies over time It is argued that within each eco cultural habitat the relationship between physical nature and society is mediated by specific entanglements between technologies institutions and cultural values These habitat specific entanglements are neither ecologically nor culturally predetermined but result from mutual adaptation based on variation trial and error and selection It is shown how a variety of eco cultural habitats evolves from this coevolutionary process The book explores how these varieties come into being and how their specific characteristics affect the capacity to cope with environmental or social problems such as flooding or unemployment There are two case studies illustrating the potential of a coevolutionary understanding of the society nature nexus In the first rural and urban settlement structures are conceptualized as distinct paths of eco cultural adaptation It is shown that each of these paths is characterized by predictable spatial correspondences between dwelling technologies modes of social reproduction cultural preferences and related patterns in energy consumption i e social metabolism The second case study deals with flood protection in liberal and coordinated eco welfare and production regimes drawing on lessons from the Netherlands and Hurricane Katrina in New Orleans As a contribution to theory in environmental sociology the coevolutionary perspective developed provides deeper insights into the intricate interplay between physical and social nature

Interpretive Research Design Peregrine Schwartz-Shea, Dvora Yanow, 2013-06-17 Research design is fundamental to all scientific endeavors at all levels and in all institutional settings In many social science disciplines however scholars working in an interpretive qualitative tradition get little guidance on this aspect of research from the positivist centered training they receive This book is an authoritative examination of the concepts and processes underlying the design of an interpretive research project Such an approach to design starts with the recognition that researchers are inevitably embedded in the intersubjective social processes of the worlds they study In focusing on researchers theoretical ontological epistemological and methods choices in designing research projects Schwartz Shea and Yanow set the stage for other volumes in the Routledge Series on Interpretive Methods They also engage some very practical issues such as ethics reviews and the structure of research proposals This concise guide explores where research questions come from criteria for evaluating research designs how interpretive researchers engage with world making context systematicity and flexibility reflexivity and positionality and such contemporary issues as data archiving and the researcher s body in the field

Global Carbon Pricing Peter Cramton, David JC MacKay, Axel Ockenfels, Steven Stoft, 2017-06-16 Why the traditional pledge and review climate agreements have failed and how carbon pricing based on trust and reciprocity could succeed After twenty five years of failure climate negotiations continue to use a pledge and review approach countries pledge almost anything subject to unenforced review This approach ignores everything we know about human cooperation In this book leading economists describe an alternate model for climate agreements drawing on the work of the late Nobel laureate Elinor Ostrom and others They show that a common commitment scheme is more effective than an individual commitment scheme the latter depends on altruism while the former involves reciprocity we will if you will The contributors propose that global carbon pricing is the best candidate for a reciprocal common commitment in climate negotiations Each country would commit to placing charges on carbon emissions sufficient to match an agreed global price formula The contributors show that carbon pricing would facilitate negotiations and enforcement improve efficiency and flexibility and make other climate policies more effective Additionally they analyze the failings of the 2015 Paris climate conference Contributors Richard N Cooper Peter Cramton Ottmar Edenhofer Christian Gollier loi Laurent David JC MacKay William Nordhaus Axel Ockenfels Joseph E Stiglitz Steven Stoft Jean Tirole Martin L Weitzman entrepreneurs environmentalists politicians policymakers and others working to create a world that works for people and the planet AWARDS SILVER 2020 Eric Zencey Prize SILVER 2018 Nautilus Book Awards Ecology Environment BRONZE 2018 Foreword INDIES Business Economics Peri-urban Water and Sanitation Services Mathew Kurian, Patricia McCarney, 2010-08-17 More than 2.6 billion people in the developing world lack access to safe water and sanitation service The Millennium Development Goal's MDG target is to halve the number of people without access to a sustainable source of water supply and connection to a sewer network by 2015 That target is unlikely to be met If there is anything that can be learnt from European experience it is that institutional reform occurs incrementally when politically enfranchised urban populations perceive a threat to their material well being due to contamination of water sources The Governance of Urban Green Spaces in the EU Judith Schicklinski, 2017-04-28 Across European cities the use of urban space is controversial and subject to diverging interests On the one hand citizens are increasingly aware of the necessity for self organising to reclaim green spaces On the other hand local authorities have started to involve citizens in the governance of urban green spaces While an increased level of citizen participation and conducive conditions for citizens self organisation are a desirable development per se the risk of functionalising civil society actors by the local authority for neoliberal city development must be kept in mind Drawing on qualitative and quantitative data collected in 29 European cities from all four European geographic regions this book examines the governance of urban green spaces and urban food production focusing on the contribution of citizen driven activities Over the course of the book Schicklinski identifies best practice examples of successful collaboration between citizens and local government The book concludes with policy recommendations with great practical value for local governance in European cities in times of the growth turn This book will be of great relevance to students scholars and policy makers with an interest in environmental governance urban geography and sustainable development Theories of the Policy Process Paul A. Sabatier, Christopher M Weible, 2014-07-08 Theories of the Policy Process provides a forum for experts in the most established and widely used theoretical frameworks in policy process research to present the basic propositions empirical evidence latest updates and promising future research opportunities of each framework This well regarded volume covers such enduring classics as Multiple Streams Herweg et al Punctuated Equilibrium Baumgartner et al Advocacy Coalition Framework Jenkins Smith et al Institutional Analysis and Development Framework Schlager and Cox and Policy Diffusion Berry and Berry as well as two newer theories Policy Feedback Mettler and SoRelle and Narrative Policy Framework Shanahan et al The fourth edition includes discussion of global and comparative perspectives in each theoretical chapter plus a brand new chapter that explores how these theories have been adapted for and employed in non American and non Western contexts An expanded introduction and revised conclusion fully examines and contextualizes the history trajectories and functions of public policy research Since its first publication in 1999 Theories of the Policy Process has been and remains the quintessential gateway to the field of policy process research for students scholars and practitioners Promoting Value in the Public Interest: Informing Policies for Judging Value in Evaluation George Julnes, 2012-03-16 Do you make evidence based decisions when designing and conducting evaluations and use methods validated by experience Because of the growing importance of evidence based decision making for improving programs and policies this issue examines methods selection Which is better How can one be improved Are the results of the project worth the resources expended and how that leads to confidence in value based conclusions It presents a constructive dialogue on valuing in evaluation with the goal of developing a pragmatic approach for guiding method choice and for promoting methodology policies that support multiple approaches to valuation being employed in context appropriate ways so as to serve the public interest This is the 133rd volume of the Jossey Bass quarterly report series New Directions for Evaluation an official publication of the American Evaluation Association Economic Thinkers David A. Dieterle, 2013-08-08 Who are the individuals whose novel ideas writings and philosophies have influenced economics throughout history and in doing so have helped change the world This encyclopedia provides a readable study of economics by examining the great economists themselves This book presents biographies of 200 economic thinkers throughout history supplying a one stop reference about the men and women whose ideas writings and philosophies created the foundation of our current understanding of economics Depicting their subjects within the contexts of history development economics and econometrics these biographies provide an insightful overview of the world of economics through the economists of significance and the many subdisciplines topics eras and philosophies they represent Economic Thinkers A Biographical Encyclopedia begins by describing economic thinkers in ancient Greece and Rome moves through history to cover economists in the 15th through 19th centuries and addresses economic theory in the 20th century and the modern era Written to be easily accessible and highly readable the work will appeal to students scholars general readers and anyone interested in learning about the historical and philosophical foundation of economics Narratives of Qualitative Research Josh Tenenber, 2024-05-21 Narratives of Qualitative Research uses a novel form of writing about how to do qualitative research called a praxis narrative Each narrative is told from the author's perspective in carrying out one of his past research studies in the social sciences Told chronologically and in a first person voice the narratives position the reader alongside the narrator so as to vicariously experience how research happens in its situated particulars Rather than a set of idealizations and universalized pronouncements the author reveals what really goes on when one is in the thick of complex and challenging research studies the points of trouble along with the successes This will be relevant to researchers who have already undertaken one or more empirical research studies though not necessarily using qualitative approaches and now find themselves facing something new a new analytic method a new theoretical lens a new form of data collection a new domain of research questions a new rhetorical approach This requires letting go of the secure handholds of prescribed methods and responding to the contingencies that arise in the midst of the research The reader is invited to follow along as the author makes visible his praxis of qualitative research Unlike more conventional texts in this unique alternative the reader can follow the author's journey through his research studies as a way to reorient their conception of qualitative research and their own praxis of it This is fascinating reading for qualitative researchers and students taking qualitative research courses across the social sciences education and behavioural sciences Global Environmental Commons Eric

Brousseau,2012-07-26 This volume provides an overview of global environmental governance and the effectiveness of different governance mechanisms Bringing together a broad range of perspectives it addresses key challenges in contemporary global governance of environmental change Civil Society, the Third Sector and Social Enterprise

Jean-Louis Laville,Dennis R. Young,Philippe Eynaud,2015-04-24 If the twentieth century was only focused on the complementarity and the opposition of market and state the twenty first century has now to deal with the prominence of the third sector the emergence of social enterprises and other solidarity hybrid forms The concept of civil society organisations CSOs spans this diversity and addresses this new complexity The first part of the book highlights the organizational dimensions of CSOs and analyses the growing role of management models and their limits Too often the study of CSO governance has been centered on the role of the board and has not sufficiently taken into account the different types of accountability environments Thus the conversation about CSO governance rises to the level of networks rather than simple organizations per se and the role of these networks in setting the agenda in a democratic society In this perspective the second part emphasizes the institutional dimensions of CSO governance by opening new avenues on democracy First the work of Ostrom about governing the commons provides us new insights to think community self governance Second the work of Habermas and Fraser opens the question of deliberative governance and the role of public sphere to enlarge our vision of CSO governance Third the concepts of substantive rationality and economy proposed respectively by Ramos and Polanyi reframe the context in which the question can be addressed Lastly this book argues for a stronger intercultural approach useful for the renewal of paradigms in CSOs research This book has for objective to present a unique collective work in bringing together 33 authors coming from 11 countries to share perspectives on civil society governance and will be of interest to an international audience of researchers and policy makers Research Handbook on the Politics of International Law Wayne Sandholtz,Christopher A. Whytock,2017-02-24 What is the relationship between politics and international law Inspired by comparative politics and socio legal studies this Research Handbook develops a novel framework for comparative analysis of politics and international law at different stages of governance and in different governance systems It applies the framework in a wide range of fields from human rights and environmental standards to cyber conflict and intellectual property to show how the relationship between politics and international law varies depending on the sites where it unfolds Principles for Building Resilience Reinette Biggs,Maja Schlüter,Michael L.

Schoon,2015-04-02 Reflecting the very latest research this book provides an in depth review of the role of resilience in the management of social ecological systems and the ecosystem services they provide Leaders in the field outline seven principles for building resilience in social ecological systems examining how these can be applied to advance sustainability

Innovation Commons Jason Potts, 2019 Innovation is among the most important topics in understanding economic sustained economic growth Jason Potts argues that the initial stages of innovation require cooperation under uncertainty and draws from insights on the solving of commons problems to shed light on policies and conditions conducive to the creation of new firms and industries The problems of innovation commons are overcome Potts shows when there are governance institutions that incentivize cooperation thereby facilitating the pooling of distributed information knowledge and other inputs The entrepreneurial discovery of an economic opportunity is thus an emergent institution resulting from the formation of a cooperative group under conditions of extreme uncertainty working toward the mutual purpose of opportunity discovery about a nascent technology or new idea Among the problems commons address are those of the identity cooperation consent monitoring punishment and independence A commons is efficient compared to the creation of alternative economic institutions that involve extensive contracting and networks private property rights and price signals or public goods i.e. firms markets and governments In other words the origin of innovation is not entrepreneurial action per se but the creation of a common pool resource from which entrepreneurs can discover opportunities Potts framework draws on the evolutionary theory of cooperation and institutional theory of the commons It also has important implications for understanding the origin of firms and industries and for the design of innovation policy Beginning with a discussion of problems of knowledge and coordination as well as their implications for common pool environments the book then explores instances of innovation commons and the lifecycle of innovation including increased institutionalization and rigidity Potts also discusses the possible implications of the commons framework for policies to sustain innovation dynamics
