Gender, Work and Community After De-Industrialisation V. Walkerdine, L. Jimenez, 2012-01-17 How does an industrial community cope when they are told that closure is inevitable What if this is only the last in a 200 year long line of threats insecurities and closure How did people weather the storms and how do they face the future now While attempts to regenerate communities are everywhere we do not often hear from the people themselves just how they managed to create safe collective spaces or how the fall of the whole house of cards brought with it effects which can be felt by young people who never knew the town when it was an industrial heartland We hear the story of how men and women tried to cope and still want to retain their community in the face of its destruction What can they and will they have to pass to the next generation and where will that leave the young people themselves who have nothing to stay for but are unable to leave This book examines these crucial questions facing post industrial societies The Revival of 1857-58 Kathryn Teresa Long,1998-07-02 This book provides a fresh in depth examination of the Revival of 1857 58 a widespread religious awakening most famous for urban prayer meetings in major metropolitan centers across the United States Often mentioned in religious history texts and articles but overshadowed by scholarly attention to the first and second Great Awakenings the revival has lacked a critical book length analysis This study will help to fill this gap and to place the event within the context of Protestant revival traditions in America The Revival of 1857 58 was a multifaceted religious movement that Long suggests may have been the closest thing to a truly national revival in American history The awakening marked the coming together of formalist and populist evangelical groups particularly in urban areas and helped to create the beginnings of a transdenominational religious identity among middle class American evangelicals Long explores the revival from various angles emphasizing the importance of historiography and examining the way Calvinist clergy and the editors of the daily press canonized particular versions of the revival story most notably its role in the history of great awakenings and its character as a masculine businessmen s revival She gives attention to grassroots perspectives on the awakening and also pursues wider social and cultural questions including whether the revival actually affected evangelical involvement in social reform The book combines insights from contemporary scholarship concerning revivals women s history and nineteenth century mass print with extensive primary source research The result is a clearly written study that blends careful description with nuanced analysis Female and Male in West Africa Christine Oppong,2023-03-31 In the 1970s and early 1980s there was a lack of contemporary readily available studies of the informal relationships between the sexes their day to day activities and expectations and how these were altering especially in contexts in which there were radical demographic political and economic changes taking place Originally published in 1983 this volume documents the complexities and subtleties of the modes of interaction between women and men in one region of Africa It seeks to provide insights and understanding of changing social contexts and relationships based upon ethnographic field work carried out in the previous decade There are five sections The first is comparative presenting and analysing statistical data from the countries of the region including demographic profiles of fertility migration mortality as well as census and survey evidence on work patterns and education It provides the broad framework within which the individual case studies are located The theme of the first set of case studies is the traditional separation and interconnectedness apparent in the worlds of women and men in several culture areas in the spheres of arts and crafts music political roles language symbolism ritual domestic organization and resources and sexuality The second set focuses on the theme of domestic cooperation and conflict in production and consumption in particular the conflicting claims and expectations of men and women as spouses and kin The third set of essays is concerned with the relative resources and opportunities of females and males in schools and employment contexts in sexual encounters and in national community and domestic decision making processes The subjects of the final section include individualism autonomy and dependence of the members of one sex upon the other The increased individualism resulting from migration and the scattering of kin and the breakdown of cooperative work patterns between spouses and relatives is seen as leading to instances of both increased dependence on the one hand especially of women on men and increased opportunities for economic autonomy on the other The case studies span a wide range of socio economic conditions including studies of farmers traders fishermen and fishmongers factory and office workers the relatively rich and the relatively poor from many different ethnic groups and six countries The book was expected to be of interest to a wide range of readers in social science disciplines as well as to planners and administrators It should still prove to be particularly relevant to the needs of university students in the fields of women s studies African studies Black studies sex roles family relations sociology and anthropology

Managing Mothers Julia Brannen, Peter Moss, 2024-11-18 First published in 1991 Managing Mothers now with a new preface by the authors provides a detailed authoritative inside story of the lives of parents and particularly mothers who return to work after the birth of a first child It is based on a study of couples who have combined the transition to parenthood with two full time jobs in the labour market The authors provide extensive personal accounts from interviews and statistical data that shed light on the experience and significance of this growing social group They reveal that mothers are the main managers of the dual earner lifestyle hence they are the principal characters in this story as the authors explore women s occupational mobility their social networks social and emotional support and psychological health The book exposes a variety of constraints upon women the continuing power of unsupportive ideologies concerning breadwinning marriage and family life the failure of government to organize good quality childcare the failure of employers to make provisions that would enable parents to fulfil their employment and domestic responsibilities and the failure of husbands to take an equal share in household work An understanding of these constraints is essential if the increased need for women in the labour market is to lead to better and more equal employment for women and the removal of the double burden that weighs so heavily on many working mothers This volume will be a beneficial read for students and researchers of sociology and psychology
