separates historical facts from cultural legends The historical Ezra was sent to Jerusalem as an emissary of the Persian monarch What was his task According to the Bible the Persian king sent Ezra to bring the Torah the five books of the Laws of Moses to the Jews Modern scholars have claimed not only that Ezra brought the Torah to Jerusalem but also that he actually wrote it and in so doing Ezra created Judaism Without Ezra they say Judaism would not exist In Ezra and the Law in History and Tradition Lisbeth S Fried separates historical fact from biblical legend Drawing on inscriptions from the Achaemenid Empire she presents the historical Ezra in the context of authentic Persian administrative practices and concludes that Ezra the Persian official neither wrote nor edited the Torah nor would he even have known it The origin of Judaism so often associated with Ezra by modern scholars must be sought elsewhere After discussing the historical Ezra Fried examines ancient medieval and modern views of him explaining how each originated and why She relates the stories told about Ezra by medieval Christians to explain why their Greek Old Testament differs from the Hebrew Bible as well as the explanations offered by medieval Samaritans concerning how their Samaritan Bible varies from the one the Jews use Church Fathers as well as medieval Samaritan writers explained the differences by claiming that Ezra falsified the Bible when he rewrote it so that in effect it is not the book that Moses wrote but something else Moslem scholars also maintain that Ezra falsified the Old Testament since Mohammed the last judgment and Heaven and Hell are revealed in it In contrast Jewish Talmudic writers viewed Ezra both as a second Moses and as the prophet Malachi In the process of describing ancient medieval and modern views of Ezra Fried brings out various understandings of God God's law and God's plan for our salvation A responsible yet memorable journey into the life and afterlife of Ezra as a key personality in the history literature and reflection of religious and scholarly communities over the past 2 500 years A worthwhile and informative read Mark J Boda professor of Old Testament McMaster Divinity College professor of theology McMaster University

Christopher M. Hays, 2016-06-01 The delay of the Parousia the second coming of Christ has vexed Christians since the final decades of the first century This volume offers a critical constructive and interdisciplinary solution to that dilemma The argument is grounded in Christian tradition while remaining fully engaged with the critical insights and methodological approaches of twenty first century scholars The authors argue that the deferral of Christ's prophesied return follows logically from the conditional nature of ancient predictive prophecy Jesus has not come again because God's people have not yet responded sufficiently to Christ's call for holy and godly action God in patient mercy remains committed to cooperating with humans to bring about the consummation of history with Jesus return Collaboratively written by an interdisciplinary and ecumenical team of scholars the argument draws on expertise in biblical studies systematics and historical theology to fuse critical biblical exegesis with a powerful theological paradigm that generates an apophatic and constructive Christian eschatology The authors however have done more than tackle a daunting theological problem as the group traverses issues from higher criticism through doctrine and into liturgy and ethics they present an innovative approach for how to do

Guite Phaipi, 2019-09-19 The book of Ezra is generally known for its negative and exclusivist attitude towards the other Others are the cause of dread in one part of the book and in another part they are adversarial Furthermore Ezra commands that foreign wives and their children be sent away Yet the book of Ezra also features an exceptional account of welcome In Rebuilding a Post exilic Community Chingboi Guite Phaipi examines what drives negative attitudes toward the other and argues that beneath the presence of different attitudes toward the other within the book of Ezra lies a coherent foundation That is negative attitudes toward others make sense in light of the community s strong self perception in the book of Ezra
