Words In My Lovesick Blood Poems By Haim Gouri:

היים גורי, 1996 Haim Gouri has been a major figure in Israeli literature since the War of Independence in 1948. The poems collected in Words in My Lovesick Blood in their original Hebrew and in English translation introduce Gouri to English speaking readers and reflect the range of Gouri's extraordinary achievement as a modernist poet from the 1940s to the 1990s. In his work Gouri documents the spirit of the Palmah generation, the generation that effectively established the State of Israel. His voice is not especially patriotic or heroic but surpassingly humane testimony to a lyrical, mythic and sensual imagination, a complicated and striking Mediterranean sensibility and a subdued awareness of the tragic facts with which the Jews and the Middle East have had to cope over a lengthy and intricate history. The Hebrew Bible and Greek mythology have a presence in his oeuvre as does the Nazi Holocaust. Influenced by such Hebrew poets as Yonatan Ratosh, Uri Zvi Greenberg and Natan Alterman, French symbolist poets Jules Laforgue, Paul Verlaine and Guillaume Apollinaire and Russian poets Akhmatova, Pasternak and Mandelstam, Gouri also reveals his interior life in his poems: his loves, regrets, doubts and above all the charm in the magic of his poetic vision. In Words in My Lovesick Blood readers will discover an eloquent and civilized means of experiencing the innumerable vicissitudes of Israeli existence.

Warfare and Poetry in the Middle East, Hugh Kennedy, 2013-10-03. Part of the rich legacy of the Middle East is a poetic record stretching back five millennia. This unparalleled repository of knowledge across different languages, cultures and religions allows us to examine continuity and change in human expression from the beginnings of writing to the present day. In Warfare and Poetry in the Middle East, leading scholars draw upon this legacy to explore the ways in which poets from the third millennium BC to the present day have responded to effects of war. The contributors deal with material in a wide variety of languages including Sumerian, Hittite, Akkadian, biblical and modern Hebrew and classical and contemporary Arabic and range from the Sumerian lament on the destruction of Ur and the Assyrian conquest of Jerusalem to the al-Ramīyah of the poet and warrior prince Abī Firās and the popular Arabic epics and romances that form the siyar to the contemporary poetry of Hamas and Hezbollah. Some of the poems are heroic in tone, celebrating victory and the prowess of warriors and soldiers; others reflect keenly on the pity and destruction of warfare, on the grief and suffering that war causes. The result is a work that provides a unique reflection upon the ways in which this most violent and pervasive of human activities has been reflected in different cultures. The history of war begins in the Middle East: the earliest reported conflict in human history was fought between the neighbouring city states of Lagash and Umma in ancient Iraq. At a time when the Middle East seems to be permanently at war and wracked by violence, it is salutary to look back at the ancient roots of modern attitudes and to see that in the past, as in the present, these attitudes are much more varied and the emotions more subtle than often realised.

Classics Transformed in Jewish, Israeli, and Palestinian Receptions, 2025-02-19. Classics Transformed in Jewish, Israeli, and Palestinian Receptions invites the reader to view classical antiquity through the writings of poets, translators and scholars emerging from modern Jewish diasporas Mandatory Palestine and the State of Israel who engaged with Greek and Roman literary precedents Whereas these voices have up to now been mostly studied independently of one another as separate fields of research this volume brings some of these distinct voices who nevertheless share a connection to Greco Roman antiquity into conversation with one another Taking its cue from the crisis of humanism following the Holocaust the chapters take as their themes the destruction of home displacement and different forms of wandering and homecomings drawing connections to acts of translation and transmission of the classics to form a picture of cultural and textual states of alterity The volume shows that Jewish Israeli and Palestinian responses to the classics are entangled and even complementary despite their different trajectories The chapters included here focus particularly on critical moments in Jewish and Palestinian existence when the reception of classical humanism is closely linked to issues of survival On offer here is a historically grounded investigation into the ways Jews Israelis and Palestinians have used classical antiquity and classical philology to validate their identity in a rapidly changing society
