Paradise Laborers Patricia A. Adler, Peter Adler, 2018-08-06 Resorts have become important to American society and its economy one in eight Americans is now employed by the tourism industry Yet despite the ubiquity of hotels little has been written about those who labor there Drawing on eight years of participant observation and in depth interviews the renowned ethnographers Patricia A Adler and Peter Adler reveal the occupational culture and lifestyles of workers at five luxury Hawaiian resorts These resorts employ a workforce that is diverse in gender class ethnicity and nationality Hawaiian resort workers like those in nearly all resorts consist of four groups New immigrants hold difficult and dirty low status jobs for little pay Locals provide an authentic Polynesian flavor for guests a ready pool of youthful high turnover employees and a population trapped in a place that offers few occupational alternatives Managers tend to be middle class college educated young and middle aged men from the mainland whose lifestyles are occupationally transient Seekers mostly young white and from the mainland as well escape to paradise seeking adventure warmth extreme sports or some alternate life experiences The Adlers describe the work lives and careers of these four groups that labor in organizations that never close with shifts scheduled around the clock and around the year Paradise Laborers adds to the growing interest in the global flow of labor as these immigrant workers display different trends in gendered opportunities and mobility than those exhibited by other groups The authors propose a political economy of tourist labor in which they compare the different expectations and rewards of organizations employees and local labor markets

A Labor Approach to the Development of the Self Or Modern Personality Paul C. Mocombe, 2001-10 Karl Mannheim and Karl Marx suggested that there is a relationship between economic and political institutions and that behaviors and attitudes are influenced by this Viewing this postulate as a conception which posits the economic mode of production as the locus of causality for culture this examination of capitalism as culture investigates how education and its pedagogical techniques as a means of enculturation reflects the capitalist economic mode of production Building on the theoretical notions in the Sociology of knowledge and Structuralism this hermeneutical analysis discusses how pedagogical techniques and curriculum arrangements of public schools in capitalist societies correlate with the organization of labor for it is that role of the self which is dominant in capitalist societies Data for this research was gathered through the content analysis of pedagogical techniques and curriculum arrangements adopted by The School Board of Broward County Florida Results show that the current shift in the organization of labor from industrial to post industrial parallels and therefore correlates with the shift in curriculum and pedagogical arrangements of The School Board of Broward County Florida as such it is a legitimate claim to suggest that the socialization of the self is determined by its relation to the mode of production More Beautiful and More Terrible

Imani Perry,2011-02-28 Perry argues that racism in America has moved into a new phase post intentional For a nation that often optimistically claims to be post racial we are still mired in the practices of racial inequality that plays out in law policy and in our local communities One of two explanations is often given for this persistent phenomenon On the one hand we might be hypocritical saying one thing and doing or believing another on the other it might have little to do with us individually but rather be inherent to the structure of American society More Beautiful and More Terrible compels us to think beyond this insufficient dichotomy in order to see how racial inequality is perpetuated Imani Perry asserts that the U S is in a new and distinct phase of racism that is post intentional neither based on the intentional discrimination of the past nor drawing upon biological concepts of race Drawing upon the insights and tools of critical race theory social policy law sociology and cultural studies she demonstrates how post intentional racism works and maintains that it cannot be addressed solely through the kinds of structural solutions of the Left or the values arguments of the Right Rather the author identifies a place in the middle a space of righteous hope and articulates a notion of ethics and human agency that will allow us to expand and amplify that hope To paraphrase James Baldwin when talking about race it is both more terrible than most think but also more beautiful than most can imagine with limitless and open ended possibility Perry leads readers down the path of imagining the possible and points to the way forward Juggling Food and Feelings Mary Elizabeth Gatta,2002-01-01 In

Juggling Food and Feelings Mary Gatta applies social and structuration theory to the workplace as she analyzes the emotional challenges faced by restaurant workers Gatta utilizes extensive participatory observation of and interviews with restaurant managers and servers to explore how workers deal with emotional experience in the workplace Positing that we ordinarily maintain an emotional balance Gatta theorizes that our ability to cope with emotional disturbances in the workplace depends on situated rebalancing scripts used to control feelings Contributing to the sociology of gender social psychology and labor theory this study of occupations expertly reveals the complex typology of emotion management The

The Oppositional Culture Theory Paul C. Mocombe, Carol Tomlin, 2010-10-11 Mocombe and Tomlin explore the black white achievement gap in America and Great Britain gaining understanding through black bourgeois living and the labeled pathologies of the black underclass Within the class dualism of capitalist social relations blacks throughout the Diaspora attempt to exist in the world Furthermore blacks must construct their identities and be in the world by choosing between the discursive practices of the Protestant and capitalist ideology of the black Protestant bourgeoisie or the beliefs of the black underclass which appear to dismiss these practices as acting white John Ogbu's term Presently the practical consciousness constituted as hip hop culture of the black underclass supported by finance capital have dominated the American and global social structure and one of its dys functions is the black white achievement gap which is a global phenomenon emanating from black America and affecting blacks around the globe Although the histories of blacks in America and in Great Britain are fundamentally different Mocombe and Tomlin argue in this work that during the age of globalization the social functions of the dominating black consciousness hip hop culture coming out of America are the locus of causality for the black white achievement gap in America and Great Britain Tomlin highlights this problematic by analyzing effective strategies employed by high achieving blacks in Great Britain and Mocombe does the same through an analysis of an effective reading curriculum in an American inner city after school program

Breaking Through Bias Second Edition Andrea S. Kramer, Alton B. Harris, 2020-09-01 Fully Revised Second Edition Since Breaking Through Bias was published in 2016 the MeToo movement has exposed just how pervasive sexual harassment is in the workplace the increase in public misogynistic comments has made clear that explicit gender bias is not a thing of the past and stay at home orders and school closings due to Covid 19 have brought into even sharper focus the discriminatory impact of the unequal division of child care and household responsibilities between most couples In this Second Edition of Breaking Through Bias the authors Kramer and Harris

explain how these recent developments fit into a larger pattern of implicit or unconscious gender bias that imposes serious obstacles to women's career advancement. They argue persuasively, however, that while this bias is the result of deeply rooted gender stereotypes, women can avoid or overcome its discriminatory consequences by the effective use of attuned gender communication to manage the impressions other people have of them. Kramer and Harris illustrate the use of attuned gender communication in each of the contexts in which gender bias manifests itself: negative bias (women are not as talented as men), benevolent bias (women need men's support), age bias (older women are not effective workers), motherhood bias (women with children are not committed to their careers), and self-limiting bias (women believing themselves not suited for particular roles). Drawing on decades of experience supervising, training, evaluating, mentoring, and sponsoring thousands of women, as well as exhaustive social science research, Kramer and Harris present in this updated and fully revised Second Edition unique practical and highly effective advice women can use to break through bias and achieve the career success they desire and deserve.

School's Out Catherine Connell, 2014-11-14 How do gay and lesbian teachers negotiate their professional and sexual identities at work given that these identities are constructed as mutually exclusive even as mutually opposed? Using interviews and other ethnographic materials from Texas and California, School's Out explores how teachers struggle to create a classroom persona that balances who they are and what's expected of them in a climate of pervasive homophobia. Catherine Connell's examination of the tension between the rhetoric of gay pride and the professional ethic of discretion insightfully connects and considers complicating factors from local law and politics to gender privilege. She also describes how racialized discourses of homophobia thwart challenges to sexual injustices in schools. Written with ethnographic verve, School's Out is essential reading for specialists and students of queer studies, gender studies, and educational politics.
