This book offers a range of emergent perspectives based on current research on learning through and for work. The common focus among these perspectives is to understand how individuals engage in and learn through their work. This includes how they learn about, manage and respond to change in their work and develop approaches and responses to learning in through and for their working lives. The key contribution of this book is to provide insights to support learning throughout working life in order to sustain individuals' capacities for effective, productive and enduring working lives. study to demonstrate the use and effectiveness of the performance oriented approach to workplace e learning in which organizational social and individual perspectives are integrated in a systemic way The performance oriented approach to workplace e learning enables self regulated and socially constructed learning activities to be clearly motivated and driven towards the goal of performance improvement and makes learning at the organizational social and individual levels integrated in a systemic way The effects of individual and social learning support and organizational learning environment on employees motivation to use performance oriented e learning are also investigated

Supporting Workplace Learning

Rob F. Poell, Marianne van Woerkom, 2011-01-19 During the 1990s the workplace was rediscovered as a rich source of learning The issue of workplace learning has since received increasing attention from academics and practitioners alike but is still under researched empirically This book brings together a range of state of the art research papers addressing interventions to support learning in the workplace The authors are experienced international scholars who have an interest in making HRD and workplace learning practices more evidence based through practical relevant research Although workplace learning is largely an autonomous process many organizations want to manage it as part of their broader HRD strategy There are limits however to the extent to which the complex dynamics of learning in the workplace can be guided in pre determined desirable directions This tension between the possible strengths of workplace learning and the limits of managing it is at the heart of this volume The book is broken into three sections The first section deals with workplace learning interventions including HRD practitioners strategies training and development activities and e learning programs The second section investigates the impact of social support or lack thereof in workplace learning such as mentoring coaching and socialization practices The third section addresses collective learning in the workplace looking at teams knowledge productivity and collaborative capability building

The Learning Potential of the Workplace ,2008-01-01 In our research programme The Learning Potential of the Workplace we set the task to analyse describe and explain the conditions of the workplace as a tool for learning Learning potential is for some experts an individual asset others see the learning potential in the external conditions in work and work processes again others see it in the reflection on action by peers colleagues and experts Some results are disappointing when the belief is that workplace learning might be the panacea for all life long learning problems some results are hopeful for those who belief that the workplace is one of the potential places where people can learn specific competencies The selection of chapters in this volume represent different opinions visions and methodology to study workplace learning and the effects The focus is on vocational education and human resource development so workplace learning as a means to socialize youngsters in work organisations on their way to professionals and workplace learning as means to work to innovate to do maintenance work and to create knowledge
