understanding of the Christian tradition in its openness and commitment to broad conversation Any Body There? Craig Michael Mueller, 2017-07-21 Any body there we may wonder as we watch people engage with their smart phones while being oblivious to what is going on around them Anybody there is the question facing the church as it wrestles with declining religious affiliation Craig Mueller considers this contemporary context and offers a response based in an incarnational spirituality accentuating the body and finding expression in corporate multisensory liturgy Mueller creatively weaves together topics from our digital lives with personal and congregational stories and theological liturgical and spiritual reflections Concepts such as virtuality the analog 24 7 connectivity access design and GPS are juxtaposed with themes of embodiment mortality sabbath mystery beauty and vocation Drawing on his experience as a pastor to millennials his studies in liturgical theology and his work on the effects of technology on daily life Mueller proposes that corporate worship is an antidote to the distraction fragmentation and spiritual hunger in society today As humans continue to merge with machines participation in the Sunday liturgy reminds us of what it means to be human a deeper connection to our bodies and the earth and a clear sense of purpose and mission for our everyday lives A Body of Praise W. David O. Taylor, 2023-03-28 Do our physical bodies really matter in corporate worship Isn't our soul the most important part of us Aren't our bodies at best negligible to worship and at worst a hindrance The answer to this last question is categorically no as Christians have attested throughout history and across the global church The purpose of the body instead is to offer to God in worship what only it can offer and what must be offered to God By drawing on the wisdom of the Bible church history and theology and by taking advantage of the unique insights of the arts and sciences ethics and spiritual formation a respected theologian and pastor argues in this book that there is something for our physical bodies to do that decisively forms Christlikeness in us within the context of corporate worship What we do with our postures gestures and movements in worship matters How our senses of sight scent sound taste and touch are involved in worship matters How our spontaneous and prescriptive activities form us in worship matters All of it matters to faithful and fulsome worship for the sake of a body that is fully alive in the praise of God

Calling on God Peter Bankson, Deborah Sokolove, 2014-09-05 Fresh inclusive creation conscious prayers to nourish your soul and the soul of your worship community We are called to name the extravagant wildness of God the overflowing abundance of creation and the deep aching need of a broken world in new words and images that speak to contemporary concerns These prayers are an invitation to pray boldly from the Introduction This special prayerbook is for today's Christians who find comfort in the rhythm of the traditional lectionary but long to connect with God in ways that are satisfying to the modern heart and mind Founded on creativity inclusivity and sharing it encourages us to remember the divine elements of the natural world around us as we express our hopes and fears for others and ourselves Inspiring words help us give thanks for human inventions and lament the evils of poverty violence and oppression of all kinds while remaining mindful of God's promises of healing for a broken world Following the annual procession of the seasons with prayers that are appropriate for personal devotion as well as for use in leading worship these new ways to call on God will feed your soul and inspire you to find your own fresh language for thanksgiving praise intercession and petition whether in your community or personal spiritual life
