The Wounded Storyteller The Wounded Storyteller:

The Wounded Storyteller Arthur W. Frank, 1997-05-15 Ill people are more than victims of disease or patients of medicine they are wounded storytellers Frank argues People tell stories to make sense of their suffering when they turn their diseases into stories they find healing Drawing on the work of authors such as Oliver Sacks Anatole Broyard Norman Cousins and Audre Lorde as well as on the stories of people he has met during years spent among different illness groups Frank recounts a stirring collection of illness narratives ranging from the well known Gilda Radner's battle with ovarian cancer to the private testimonials of people with cancer chronic fatigue syndrome and disabilities Their stories are more than accounts of personal suffering they abound with moral choices and point to a social ethic Frank identifies three basic narratives of illness stories of restitution chaos and quest Restitution narratives anticipate getting well and give prominence to the technology of cure In chaos narratives illness seems to stretch on forever with no respite or redeeming insights Quest narratives are about finding that illness can be transformed into a means for the ill person to become someone new Understanding these three narrative types helps us to hear the ill but ultimately illness stories are more Frank presents these stories as a form of testimony the ill person is more than a survivor she is a witness Schooled in a pedagogy of suffering the ill person reaches out to others offering a truth about living The truth is a starting point for a narrative ethics as private experiences become public voices Wounded storytellers teach more than a new way to understand illness they exemplify an emerging ethic of postmodern times

The Wounded Storyteller Arthur W. Frank, 1997

The Palgrave Handbook of Infertility in History Gayle Davis, Tracey Loughran, 2017-09-01 This ground breaking interdisciplinary volume provides an overdue assessment of how infertility has been understood treated and experienced in different times and places It brings together scholars from disciplines including history literature psychology philosophy and the social sciences to create the first large scale review of recent research on the history of infertility Through exploring an unparalleled range of chronological periods and geographical regions it develops historical perspectives on an apparently transhistorical experience It shows how experiences of infertility access to treatment and medical perspectives on this condition have been mediated by social political and cultural discourses The handbook reflects on and interrogates different approaches to the history of infertility including the potential of cross disciplinary perspectives and the uses of different kinds of historical source material and includes lists of research resources to aid teachers and researchers It is an essential go to point for anyone interested in infertility and its history Chapter 19 is open access under a CC BY 4 0 license via link springer.com

The Return of the Storyteller in Contemporary Fiction Areti Dragas, 2014-08-31 Focusing on the figure of the storyteller this study breaks new ground in the approach to reading contemporary literature by identifying a growing interest in storytelling For the last thirty years contemporary fiction has been influenced by theoretical discourses textuality and writing Only since the rise of postcolonialism have academic critics been more overtly interested in stories where high theory frameworks are less applicable However as we move through various contemporary contexts engaging with postcolonial identities and hybridity to narratives of disability and evolutionary accounts of group and individual survival a common feature of all is the centrality of story which posits both the idea of survival and the passing on of traditions The Return of the Storyteller in Contemporary Fiction closely examines this preoccupation with story and storytelling through a close reading of six contemporary international novelists that are either about actual storytellers or engage with the figure of the storyteller revealing how death of the author has given birth to the storyteller

Remnants of the Franco-Algerian Rupture Mona El Khoury, 2020-09-28 At the end of French colonization in Algeria four categories of people held French citizenship or had strong ties with France European settlers Jews mixed race individuals and Harkis The end of the War of Independence exiled most of them from Algeria traumatized them in various ways and transferred many to metropolitan France Remnants of the Franco Algerian Rupture Archiving Postcolonial Minorities examines the legacies of these transnational identities through narratives that dissent from official histories both in France and Algeria This literature takes particular stories of exile and loss and constructs a memory around a Mosaic father figure embodying the native land Algeria Mona El Khoury argues that these filiation narratives create a postcolonial archive a discursive foundation that makes historical minorities visible while disrupting French and Algerian hegemonies El Khoury questions the power of literature to repair history while contending that these literary strategies seek to do justice to the dead Algerian father even as they valorize enduring minority identifications

The Wounded Storyteller in Performance N. Eric Love, 2004 Texts of performances cannot reveal all of the information imparted by performers during performance because much communication in performance is nonverbal inflective physical and or dependent on contexts only the attending audience has Yet text is a primary means by which performances are critically analyzed This analysis applied a method for reading texts of oral poetry the Immanent Art method to four texts of illness narrative performance in order to discover performance cues and special meanings that may otherwise be lost in a traditional reading Findings include a ubiquitous practice of including stories of death in these stories of survival communicative economy in a manner similar to that of oral poets and the immediacy of death creating a tradition affecting audience reception The Publishers Weekly ,1997 Medical Humanities Review ,2002 MHR ,1987 Empathic Teaching Jeffrey Berman,2004 During the past decade Jeffrey Berman has published widely on the pedagogy of personal writing In Diaries to an English Professor 1994 he explored the ways in which undergraduate students can use psychoanalytic diaries to deal with conflicted issues in their lives Surviving Literary Suicide 1999 investigated how graduate students respond to novels and poems that portray and sometimes glorify self inflicted death And in Risky Writing 2002 Berman considered the ways teachers can encourage college students to write safely on a wide range of subjects often deemed too personal or too dangerous for the classroom from grieving the loss of a friend to confronting sexual abuse on understanding the other can transform the experience of learning Berman begins with a discussion of several well known stories and films featuring literature instructors who exert a formative influence on their students including Good bye Mr Chips The Blackboard Jungle Up the Down Staircase and Dead Poets Society He then goes on to examine the pedagogical importance of empathy trauma and forgiveness in helping students cope with the ordinary and extraordinary challenges of everyday life powerful insightful authentic essays about lived experience that reveal both intellectual and emotional growth In the book s final chapter Berman considers the risks and benefits of empathic teaching demonstrating how teachers can play a therapeutic role in the classroom without being therapists Teachers who are regarded as trusting supportive and dependable he argues become attachment figures influencing students to be more sensitive to and connected with their classmates lives Or as Berman succinctly puts it empathic teaching leads to empathic learning an education for life Book Review Index ,2003 Vols 8 10 of the 1965 1984 master cumulation constitute a title index The Lost World of Italian American Radicalism Philip V.
