Biblical Commentaries from the Canterbury School of Theodore and Hadrian Bernhard Bischoff,Michael Lapidge,1994 This volume includes the first edition of a previously unknown text which throws wholly new light on the intellectual history of early medieval Europe The biblical commentaries never before printed or studied represent the teaching of two extraordinarily gifted Greek scholars who came to England from the Byzantine East Theodore archbishop of Canterbury 668 90 and his colleague Hadrian d 710 established a school in Canterbury to which they brought a wealth of experience and learning These scholars applied their knowledge to the exposition of the Bible to a small group of Anglo Saxon scholars who recorded their teaching The commentaries throw new light on the range of subjects which were taught in Canterbury at the time medicine philosophy rhetoric Roman civil law as well as the biblical text itself illustrating what was undoubtedly the high point of biblical scholarship between late antiquity and the Renaissance Because both Hadrian and Theodore were from Greek speaking parts of the Roman empire their commentaries reveal new links between the Byzantine East and the Latin West in the seventh century The present commentaries found by Professor Bischoff in Milan in 1936 constitute one of the most important medieval texts discovered this century The edition is introduced by substantial chapters on the intellectual background of the texts their manuscript sources the lives and milieux of the two Greek scholars The Latin texts themselves are accompanied by facing English tranalations and extensive notes A Critical and Exegetical Commentary on the Epistle of St. James James Hardy Ropes,1916 Fear of God and the Beginning of Wisdom Adam H. Becker,2013-11-14 The School of Nisibis was the main intellectual center of the Church of the East in the sixth and early seventh centuries C E and an institution of learning unprecedented in antiquity Fear of God and the Beginning of Wisdom provides a history both of the School and of the scholastic culture of the Church of the East more generally in the late

antique and early Islamic periods Adam H Becker examines the ideological and intellectual backgrounds of the school movement and reassesses the evidence for the supposed predecessor of the School of Nisibis the famed School of the Persians of Edessa Furthermore he argues that the East Syrian Nestorian school movement is better understood as an integral and at times contested part of the broader spectrum of East Syrian monasticism Becker examines the East Syrian culture of ritualized learning which flourished at the same time and in the same place as the famed Babylonian Rabbinic academies Jews and Christians in Mesopotamia developed similar institutions aimed at inculcating an identity in young males that defined them as beings endowed by their creator with the capacity to study The East Syrian schools are the most significant contemporary intellectual institutions immediately comparable to the Rabbinic academies even as they served as the conduit for the transmission of Greek philosophical texts and ideas to Muslims in the early Abbasid period John Lydus and the Roman Past Michael Maas,1992 John Lydus and the Roman Past offers a new interpretation of the emergence of Byzantine society as viewed through the eyes of John Lydus a sixth century scholar and civil servant Maas show that control of classical inheritance was politically contested in the reign of Justinian He demonstrates how the past could be used to convey legitimacy and social definition at a time of profound change The Peshitta: Its Use in Literature and Liturgy Bas Ter Haar Romeny,2007-05-31 For the first time this volume brings together biblical scholars and specialists in Syriac liturgy and patristic literature It contains introductory essays on the Syriac versions in the liturgy the Syriac Old Testament commentary tradition and the challenges posed to exegetes by the different Syriac versions of the New Testament written by the leading scholars in the field Twenty one further contributions discuss the patristic and liturgical evidence for the development of the text of the Peshitta and other Syriac versions as well as the reception and use of those versions in the exegesis and liturgy of the Syriac Churches These studies are fully updated versions of the papers read at the Third Peshitta Symposium held in Leiden 12 15 August 2001
