Skills for Using Theory in Social Work

James A. Forte, 2014-02-05 Using theory research evidence and experiential knowledge is a critical component of good social work. This unique text is designed to help social work students and practitioners to integrate theorizing into practice demonstrating how to search for select and translate academic knowledge for practical use in helping people improve their lives and environments. Presenting 32 core skills, Skills for Using Theory in Social Work provides a conceptual foundation, a vocabulary and a set of skills to aid competent social work theorizing. Each chapter outlines the knowledge and action components of the skill and its relationship to core practice behaviours along with learning and reflection activities. The lessons are divided into four parts. Section one discusses foundational material including self identification as a theorist/practitioner, the deliberate use of the term theory and a social work approach to the selection of knowledge. Section two focuses on the adept use of theorizing skills. It covers identifying assumptions, using concepts, formulating propositions, organizing theory elements inductively or deductively, summarizing and displaying the elements of a theory, gathering and organizing assessment information and communicating with clients and colleagues about tentative theories. Section three includes lessons preparing social workers for the construction of useful middle range theories including causal theories and interpretive theories and for testing and sharing these practical theories. Section four presents skills to develop critical thinking about theoretical knowledge. These include avoiding the misuse of theory, judging a theory using scientific standards, judging a theory by professional standards, critiquing theory in its cultural and historical context and making judgments about the likely long term impact of a theory. This key text will help readers to demonstrate their expertise in reflective, competent and theory informed practice. It is suitable for all social work students and practitioners, particularly those taking practice theory and human behaviour in the social environment courses.

Unsettling Beliefs Josh Diem, Robert J.

Helfenbein, 2008-03-01 This volume explores issues involved with teaching social theory to preservice teachers pursuing degrees through teacher education programs and experienced teachers and administrators pursuing graduate degrees. The contributors detail their experiences teaching theoretical perspectives regarding race, gender, ethnicity, sexuality, power and the construction of schools as an institution of the state. The editors and contributors hope to offer the beginning of a collegial dialogue within the field of education, both inside and outside the academy, about the relevance and pedagogical issues associated with such material. Additionally, the contributors offer advice on missteps to avoid and provide success stories that give hope to those who also wish to engage in the practice of teaching theory to teachers.

Rethinking Online Education Bessie Mitsikopoulou, 2015-11-17 Rethinking Online Education analyzes online educational materials on the recent Iraq war aimed to be used by U.S. educators in elementary and secondary schools. It is suggested that far from being ideologically neutral, these educational materials weave together resources which provide a coherent view of the Iraq war.

theme and can thus be seen as constituting a kind of an informal curriculum Mitsikopoulou argues that the teacher resources adhere to different pedagogical discourses and constitute materializations of two broad approaches to education A number of pedagogical issues are also raised in the discussion What is the difference between critical thinking and critical pedagogy How is the genre of lesson plan realized in different teaching philosophies and how do curricular texts change when they are delivered online This important book highlights the need to explore the new forms of textuality which emerge from online curricular materials and to develop an understanding of the processes of text composition distribution and consumption

Occupying Subjectivity Chris Rosedale, 2017-10-02 This book explores a variety of forms of radical political subjectivity It takes its cue from the 2011 uprisings in the Middle East and North Africa the Occupy Movement and the European Anti Austerity Movement alongside the wider opposition to authoritarian and neoliberal forms of governance from which they sprang in order to ask an urgent series of questions about the subject of radical politics Who or what is it that engages in resistance Who or what should they be And how are we to negotiate the many complexities of that second question The contributions drawing on a wide range of theoretical traditions offer a rich series of provocations towards new ways of conceptualising evaluating and imagining radical political praxis They engage different kinds of subjects including protestors dancers self burners academics settlers and humans in order to think through the ways in which contemporary subjects are constituted within and work to unsettle dominant relations of power Together the chapters open up spaces to think about how political and intellectual commitment to social change can be enlivened through attention to the subject of radical politics This book was published as a special issue of Globalizations Blurred Boundaries Klaus H. Schmidt, 1996 Paradoxically the only definite evaluation that can be made about the state of American Studies in the middle of the 1990s is that blurred boundaries prevail in academic discourse and the subjects of research in the field According to the editors this new interest in boundaries is a reflection of a global social and cultural developments b recent trends in general cultural and literary theory and c the current reexamination of research methods within the discipline of American Studies itself In this volume contributors from Canada Germany and the United States creatively respond to the phenomenon of blurred boundaries reassessing authors such as Thoreau Cooper Melville Jacobs Stoddard Whitney Eastman Mackenzie McCarthy Redbird Walker Carver and Holzer The Atlantic Literary Review, 2000 Soldiers of Misfortune Valerie L. Scatamburlo, Valerie Scatamburlo-D'Annibale, 1998 In Soldiers of Misfortune Valerie Scatamburlo provides the first systematic account of the political correctness phenomenon The author contends that the New Right's campaign against P C must be understood contextually as part of the conservative movement's broader war of position She traces the historical genealogy of the contemporary New Right the network of corporate sponsored funding undergirding their anti P C assault and examines the mainstream media's complicity in propagating anti P C rhetoric Scatamburlo however challenges the notion that the P C ethos is merely a myth concocted by the New Right and addresses some of the disturbing tendencies in contemporary Left theory and politics She locates the P C phenomenon theoretically and politically between the linguistic turn in social theory and the rise of identity politics Claiming that P C is in many ways a form of pseudoradicalism the author argues that progressive intellectuals must move beyond the edicts of P C the narrowness of identity politics and the excesses of postmodernism Reinventing The University Christopher Schroeder,2001-03 Christopher Schroeder spends almost no time disputing David Bartholomae s famous essay but throughout ReInventing the University he elaborates an approach to teaching composition that is at odds with the tradition that essay has come to represent On the other hand his approach is also at odds with elements of the pedagogies of such theorists as Berlin Bizzell and Shor Schroeder argues that for students postmodern instability in literacy and meaning has become a question of the legitimacy of current discourse of education Schroeder is committed then to constructing literacies jointly with students and by so doing to bringing students to engage more deeply with education and society Journal of Economic Literature ,1994 Forthcoming Books Rose Arny,1997-12 Doing Educational Research Kenneth Tobin,2006 The authors explore a variety of topics from methodologies such as ethnography action research hermeneutics historiography psychoanalysis literary criticism to issues such as social theory epistemology and paradigms Back cover
