Palmerston and Liberalism, 1855-1865 E. D. Steele,1991-07-18 The Great Barrier Reef Ben Daley,2014-07-17 The Great Barrier Reef is located along the coast of Queensland in north east Australia and is the world s largest coral reef ecosystem Designated a World Heritage Area it has been subject to increasing pressures from tourism fishing pollution and climate change and is now protected as a marine park This book provides an original account of the environmental history of the Great Barrier Reef based on extensive archival and oral history research It documents and explains the main human impacts on the Great Barrier Reef since European settlement in the region focusing particularly on the century from 1860 to 1960 which has not previously been fully documented yet which was a period of unprecedented exploitation of the ecosystem and its resources The book describes the main changes in coral reefs islands and marine wildlife that resulted from those impacts In more recent decades human impacts on the Great Barrier Reef have spread accelerated and intensified with implications for current management and conservation practices There is now better scientific understanding of the threats faced by the ecosystem Yet these modern challenges occur against a background of historical levels of exploitation that is little known and that has reduced the ecosystem s resilience The author provides a compelling narrative of how one of the world s most iconic and vulnerable ecosystems has been exploited and degraded but also how some early conservation practices emerged Catalogue of Books in the Legislative Library of the Province of Ontario on November 1, 1912 Ontario. Legislative Library,1913 Compatriots' Club Lectures Compatriots' Club, London,1905 Ideals Of Empire V3 Ewen Green,2022-02-13 First published in 2004 This 6 volume set focuses on the influential economic and political commentators who saw weaknesses in the infrastructure of the British Empire at the turn of the twentieth century Dubbed Idealists of Empire they saw that the British Empire seemed to have no governing principles no structure and no guiding ideals Sir John Seeley s famous quote of 1883 sums up this view we seem to have conquered and peopled half the world in a fit of absence of mind The mission of the idealists was to find an Imperial solution to this problem The idealists of Empire documented their findings as they looked more systematically at the Empire s external challenges and internal workings in terms of politics economics and strategy The texts published in this collection represent their most important contributions to the early twentieth century debate on the fate of the Empire Volume 3 includes Compatriots Club Lectures 1905 Compatriots' Club Lectures ,1905 Catalogue of the Library Kimberley Public Library,1891 Ottoman-Southeast Asian Relations (2 vols.)

Ismail Hakkı Kadı, A.C.S. Peacock, 2019-11-04 Ottoman Southeast Asian Relations Sources from the Ottoman Archives is a product of meticulous study of Ismail Hakkı Kadı, A.C.S. Peacock and other contributors on historical documents from the Ottoman archives. The work contains documents in Ottoman Turkish, Malay, Arabic, French, English, Tausug, Burmese, and Thai languages, each introduced by an expert in the language and history of the related country. The work contains documents hitherto unknown to historians as well as others that have been unearthed before but remained confined to the use of limited scholars who had access to the Ottoman archives. The resources published in this study show that the Ottoman Empire was an active actor within the context of Southeast Asian experience with Western colonialism. The fact that the extensive literature on this experience made limited use of Ottoman source materials indicates the crucial importance of this publication for future innovative research in the field. Contributors are Giancarlo Casale, Annabel Teh Gallop, R. Fat G. Nalan, Patricia Herbert, Jana Igunma, Midori Kawashima, Abraham Sakili, and Michael Talbot. British Engagement with Japan, 1854-1922 Antony Best, 2020-11-26 This book by a leading authority on Anglo-Japanese relations reconsiders the circumstances which led to the unlikely alliance of 1902 to 1922 between Britain, the leading world power of the day, and Japan, an Asian non-European nation which had only recently emerged from self-imposed isolation. Based on extensive original research, the book goes beyond existing accounts which concentrate on high politics, strategy, and simple assertions about the two countries' similarities as island empires. It brings into the picture cultural factors, particularly the ways in which Japan was portrayed in Britain and ambivalent British attitudes to race and supposed European superiority which were overcome but remained difficulties. It charts how the relationship developed as events unfolded, including Japan's wars against China and Russia, and in addition looks at royal diplomacy where the Japanese Court came eventually to be treated as a respected equal. Overall, the book provides a major reassessment of this important subject. Cambridge Modern History Sir Adolphus William Ward, 1910 Settlers, War, and Empire in the Press Sam Hutchinson, 2017-11-09 This book explores how public commentary framed Australian involvement in the Waikato War 1863-64, the Sudan crisis 1885, and the South African War 1899-1902, a succession of conflicts that reverberated around the British Empire and which the newspaper press reported at length. It reconstructs the ways these conflicts were understood and reflected in the colonial and British press and how commentators responded to the shifting circumstances that shaped the mood of their coverage. Studying each conflict in turn, the book explores the expressions of feeling that arose within and between the Australian colonies and Britain. It argues that settler and imperial narratives required constant defending and maintaining. This process led to tensions between Britain and the colonies and also to vivid displays of mutual affection. The book examines how war narratives merged with ideas of territorial ownership and productivity, racial anxieties, self-governance, and foundational violence. In doing so, it draws out the rationales and emotions that both fortified and unsettled settler societies. Catalogue of the Library of the India Office: [pt. 1] Classed catalogue. 1888 Great Britain. ,1905 Publishers' Circular and Booksellers' Record of British and Foreign Literature ,1895 Early China Coast Meteorology P. Kevin MacKeown,2011-01-01 Numerous personality clashes and financial and other intrigues surrounded the early efforts to set up an Observatory in Hong Kong Blending personalities politics and practicalities of studying the weather this entertaining book provides valuable and informative insights into the public and private controversies growing out of responses to and responsibilities involved in the protection of life and property This portrait is set firmly in the context of the history of Hong Kong as British colony on the China Coast and its role as a burgeoning commercial port within the trading complex of the Empire It brings to life many of the people and institutions in Hong Kong and elsewhere on the development of meteorology on the China Coast Dr William Doberck who became the founding director of the new Observatory played a crucial role in its development during most of forty years covered by this story Doberck was an astronomer with little interest in meteorology and a penchant for not suffering gladly those whom he considered to be his inferiors a source of much of the dissension and adversarial positions that characterized his career In the early years of Doberck s tenure many trials and tribulations arose from conflicts between his views on his work and those of a less than enlightened but firmly entrenched Colonial Administration Other key players added to the mix include the local print media local businesses and the shipping fraternity whose ongoing dissatisfaction stemmed from conflicting perceptions and expectations on all sides In assessing the achievements of the Observatory in its early decades the study of typhoons has central importance In recounting Doberck s less than stellar contributions in this regard he narrative follows many snippets of scandal concerning Doberck and his often cantankerous relationship with his employers and the other stakeholders in the Colony In later chapters the author explores the complex dynamics of the contentious interactions between Doberck and the Jesuits in charge of the Manila and Zikawei Observatories The storms that rage in the narrative as well as the tragedy of the very real storm of 1906 illustrate the drama that played out both locally and internationally in terms of jealousies rivalries and many attendant charges and counter charges animating the controversy The depiction of Doberck s eventual departure and succession story offer insight into the largely uncredited contribution of his sister to the meteorological work of the Observatory for around 40 years Under Doberck s successors Figg and Claxton the Observatory enjoyed a resurgence of influence in meteorology in the China coast region P Kevin MacKeown is retired professor of physics at the University of Hong Kong The blue fairy book, ed. by A.
