The World We Want Restoring Citizenship In A Fractured Age:

The World We Want Mark Kingwell, 2001 Award winning author Kingwell traces the idea of citizenship from its roots in ancient Greece to the contemporary realities of consumerism and cultural banality The World We Want Mark Kingwell, 2001 Award winning author Kingwell traces the idea of citizenship from its roots in ancient Greece to the contemporary realities of consumerism and cultural banality Architecture, Ethics and Globalization Graham Owen, 2009-06-02 This book provides critical and interdisciplinary reflection upon issues of contemporary cultural and social significance to architectural critics practitioners educators and students Ascent of the A-Word Geoffrey Nunberg, 2012-08-14 An attention grabbing thought provoking exploration of the life of the word asshole by a renowned linguist and author Question Authority Mark Kingwell, 2024-11-05 Philosopher Mark Kingwell thinks about thinking for yourself in an era of radical know it all ism Question authority the popular 1960s slogan commanded Think for yourself But what started as a counter cultural catchphrase playful in logic but serious in intent has become a practical paradox Yesterday's social critics are the tone policing tyrants of today while those who claim colourblindness see no need to engage with critical theory at all The resulting crisis of authority made worse by rival political factions and chaotic public discourse has exposed cracks in every facet of shared social life Politics academia journalism medicine religion science every kind of institutional claim is now routinely subject to objection investigation and outright disbelief A recurring feature of this comprehensive distrust of authority is the firm often unshakeable belief in personal righteousness and superiority what Mark Kingwell calls our addiction to conviction In this critical survey of the predicament of contemporary authority Kingwell draws on philosophical argument personal reflection and details from the headlines in an attempt to reclaim the democratic spirit of questioning authority and thinking for oneself Defending a program of compassionate skepticism Question Authority is a fascinating survey of the role of individual humility in public life and illuminates how we might each do our part in the infinite project of justice Civility in Politics and Education Deborah Mower, Wade L. Robison, 2013-03-01 This book examines the concept of civility and the conditions of civil disagreement in politics and education Although many assume that civility is merely polite behavior it functions to aid rational discourse Building on this basic assumption the book offers multiple accounts of civility and its contribution to citizenship deliberative democracy and education from Eastern and Western as well as classic and modern perspectives Given that civility is essential to all aspects of public life it is important to address how civility may be taught While much of the book is theoretical contributors also apply theory to practice offering concrete methods for teaching civility at the high school and collegiate levels Cinema, Memory, Modernity Russell J.A. Kilbourn, 2013-10-18 Since its inception cinema has evolved into not merely a reflection but an indispensable index of human experience especially our experience of time's passage of the present moment and most importantly perhaps of the past in both collective and individual terms In this volume Kilbourn provides a comparative theorization of the representation of memory in both mainstream Hollywood and international art cinema within an increasingly transnational context of production and reception Focusing on European North and South American and Asian films Kilbourn reads cinema as providing the viewer with not only the content and form of memory but also with its own directions for use the required codes and conventions for understanding and implementing this crucial prosthetic technology an art of memory for the twentieth century and beyond

Film and the City George Melnyk,2014-05-01 Most Canadians are city dwellers a fact often unacknowledged by twentieth century Canadian films with their preference for themes of wilderness survival or rural life Modernist Canadian films tend to support what film scholar Jim Leach calls the nationalist realist project a documentary style that emphasizes the exoticism and mythos of the land Over the past several decades however the hegemony of Anglo centrism has been challenged by francophone and First Nations perspectives and the character of cities altered by a continued influx of immigrants and the development of cities as economic and technological centers No longer primarily defined through the lens of rural nostalgia Canadian urban identity is instead polyphonic diverse constructed through multiple discourses and mediums an exchange rather than a strict orientation Taking on the urban as setting and subject filmmakers are ideally poised to create and reflect multiple versions of a single city Examining fourteen Canadian films produced from 1989 to 2007 including Denys Arcand s J sus de Montr al 1989 Jean Claude Lauzon s L olo 1992 Mina Shum s Double Happiness 1994 Cl ment Virgo s Rude 1995 and Guy Maddin s My Winnipeg 2007 Film and the City is the first comprehensive study of Canadian film and urbanity the totality of urban culture and life Drawing on film and urban studies and building upon issues of identity formation in Canadian studies Melnyk considers how filmmakers films and urban audiences experience represent and interpret urban spatiality visuality and orality In this way Film and the City argues that Canadian narrative film of the postmodern period has aided in articulating a new national identity
