The Year Of Loving Dangerously:

The Year of Loving Dangerously Ted Rall, Pablo G. Callejo, 2019-04-15 Here's a new turn for the controversial cartoonist and commentator Ted Rall. Not only is this autobiographical but he has paired up with the acclaimed artist of Bluesman and The Castaways for fully painted art. It's the eighties and Ted is in college in New York City and slipping. His pranks, lack of focus and restlessness get him kicked out of school. Unable to find a job, rejected by his parents, he's on the verge of suicide. Instead, he finds comfort in the arms of many women he meets casually and puts up a front for. Hey, better than being homeless and begging, but then is it? It may sound like an ideal gift, but the toll is much higher than one may imagine. Between acidly funny and disturbingly real, Rall, a cartoonist whose work has alienated half the world, pours out his guts on a hard turning point in his life. Callejo adopts a new fully painted color style for this work, showing his versatility. New York Magazine, 1983-01-24. With award-winning writing and photography covering everything from politics and food to theater and fashion, the magazine's consistent mission has been to reflect back to its audience the energy and excitement of the city itself while celebrating New York as both a place and an idea. The Year of Living Dangerously Christopher J. Koch, 1983-03-01. An intelligent, compelling tale of political turmoil in mid-twentieth-century Indonesia. Well conceived and beautifully executed. Larry McMurtry New York Magazine, 1983-03-14. New York magazine was born in 1968 after a run as an insert of the New York Herald Tribune and quickly made a place for itself as the trusted resource for readers across the country. Palmer, 1995. In this remarkable sequel to his Films of the Seventies: A Social History, William J. Palmer examines more than three hundred films as texts that represent, revise, parody, comment upon, and generate discussion about major events, issues, and social trends of the eighties. Palmer defines the dialectic between film art and social history, taking as his theoretical model the holograph of history that originated from the New Historicist theories of Hayden White and Dominick LaCapra. Combining the interests and methodologies of social history and film criticism, Palmer contends that film is a socially conscious interpreter and commentator upon the issues of contemporary social history. In the eighties, such issues included the war in Vietnam, the preservation of the American farm, terrorism, nuclear holocaust, changes in Soviet-American relations, neoconservative feminism, and yuppies. Among the films Palmer examines are Platoon, The Killing Fields, The River Out of Africa, Little Drummer Girl, Kiss of the Spiderwoman, Silkwood, The Day After, Red Dawn, Moscow on the Hudson, Troop Beverly Hills, and Fatal Attraction. Utilizing the principles of New Historicism, Palmer demonstrates that film can analyze and critique history as well as present it. Journalism Ethics Goes to the Movies Howard Good, 2008. How far should a reporter go for a story What s the role of the press at the scene of an emergency or a murder Why has journalism suddenly become so susceptible to plagiarism Here s a book that poses these and other urgent questions and offers candid answers At a time when professionals and the public alike worry that journalism has lost its way Journalism Ethics Goes to the Movies is available to provide much needed accessible guidance Its twelve chapters written by some of the nation s leading journalism scholars explore issues that should concern anyone who aspires to a career in journalism who works in the field or who relies on news for daily information Best of all as the title suggests the contributors conduct their dynamic and engaging investigations at the movies where sportswriters war correspondents investigative reporters crime reporters spin doctors TV anchors and harried city editors tackle these pressing issues Journalism Ethics Goes to the Movies isn t your typical textbook Using popular movies from Wag the Dog to Good Night and Good Luck to illustrate the kind of ethical dilemmas journalists encounter on the job this student friendly book is sure to spark interest and stimulate thinking New Author of six novels Christopher John Koch born in 1932 is one of Australia s leading novelists who enjoys worldwide recognition Koch s writing has its finger on the pulse of today s changing society Not only does his work fall within a universal stream but it also stands out as a production of its own built like a puzzle with distinct pieces Through fiction Koch explores other genres the fairy tale drama poetry to the point of producing multi faceted works which challenge classification In spite of the constant renewal of his settings for action one notices the presence of a main thread which runs through Koch s fiction the antipodean and ambiguous relationship between illusion and reality This theoretically informed monograph provides a book by book analysis of the novelist s oeuvre and gives a full picture of his Weltanschauung It is valuable reference for scholars in Australian Studies as well as those researching postcolonial psychoanalytic and literary theories
