Theatre of the Oppressed Augusto Boal, 1997-12-01 As illiteracy has been shown to be a weapon of the ruling class so Augusto Boal shows theatre to be a weapon not only of bourgeois control but of revolution He demonstrates the ways in which theatre has come to reflect ruling class control drawing on the theories of Aristotle and Machiavelli He then shows the process reversed in Brechtian Marxist poetics All the theory is related to his own experience of revolutionary theatre in Latin America and illustrated with practical examples of exercises and games used in the People s Theatre of Peru This is now a classic text on radical drama Boal restores theatre to its proper place as a popular form of communication and expression and points to the revolutionary potential of transforming the spectator into the actor

Plurality of Peaces in Legal Action Catalina Vallejo, 2012 This book offers an application of the transnational model of interpretation of peace into the area of legal studies By building on the idea that there are various and many times contradictory interpretations of peace in history and culture this book examines how these many forms of peace interplay in legal spheres shaping legal discourses and practices concretely those concerning the exercise of rights By arguing that different perspectives on peace influence different argumentations of rights the book challenges some of the political and legal discourses framed within the war against terror since 2001 and the resulting militarization of the Colombian society and its rights discourses Series Masters of Peace Vol 7

Arts and Cultural Education in a Challenging and Changing World Tanja Klepacki, Edwin van Meerkerk, Tone Pernille Østern, 2025-04-26 This book is motivated by questions of how arts and cultural education like all other fields are affected by and together with other fields can contribute to global developments challenges and shifts However difficult the times arts and culture in educational contexts have the ambition to make a positive contribution and foster creativity empathy and inclusion to encourage critical change innovation and peace But if arts and cultural education remains traditional unchallenged and exclusive those ambitions for critical change towards more inclusive practices that dare to act and make a change in the world run the risk of remaining utopian rhetoric It is time for a critical self examination and willingness to change powers and privileges also within arts and cultural education Against this background this book presents brave research on arts and cultural education that offers insight into the conditions contexts effects of and critical changes needed within arts and cultural education It addresses our time's great changes challenges and possibilities for innovation

IN SEARCH Daniel Shindler, 2020-05-28 Teachers want more Daniel Shindler's In Search Reimagining What it Means to be a Teacher is an optimistic necessary book that invites us to identify our core values as teachers school leaders and policy makers With those values we journey with him through a series of fundamental requisites that we can apply and nurture in our lives and places of work Using his teaching experiences practical examples and storytelling Daniel illustrates the requisites we should strive for honing our expertise creating powerful and memorable teaching experiences enquiring with honesty about ourselves and those we teach building meaningful one to one conversations fostering curiosity and resilience and building a wider school culture of community and pastoral care By asking the biggest questions of what it means to be an educator and not seeking simple answers the book is saying here is what is possible For Daniel teaching is alchemy and craft that goes beyond career intertwining our personal and professional lives Only a holistic approach will do if we are to create longevity which is why Daniel is asking us to reimagine what it means to be a teacher by placing it in the intersection of the private and public self Why else teach if not to live How many of us live in our careers but not our craft In short it speaks to the complexity of the human condition of teaching Our journey is enhanced by Daniel's extensive experience as a teacher of drama wellbeing and project based learning within inner cities and internationally and as lead architect of School21's ground breaking oracy curriculum The book includes a compelling foreword by Jeffrey Boakye teacher and bestselling author of Black Listed and Hold Tight In a world of constant change and shifting priorities never has the search for craft and meaning been more necessary Teaching is a search It's the effort to walk towards not forward or upwards but inwards towards the self and outwards towards others at the same time We've all got a search in us and trust me In Search is 100% a jumping off point for your own journey whatever that may be Jeffrey Boakye Bestselling author of Black Listed and Hold Tight I loved its scope the depth of thinking the range of references the way public and private school and life cross over It got me thinking differently about things It's also the perfect antidote to all the books around that reduce teaching to chunks or a series of moves and techniques Peter Hyman Co Director of Big Education Co founder of School 21
