Theism, Atheism, and Big Bang Cosmology, 1993 Two philosophers take opposing viewpoints to debate the fundamental question of whether the Big Bang was created by God or whether it occurred according to scientific theory

God and Time Gregory E. Ganssle, David M. Woodruff, 2002 This is a collection of previously unpublished essays written by leading philosophers about God's relation to time The essays have been selected to represent current debates between those who believe God to be atemporal and those who do not

The Kalam Cosmological Argument, Volume 1 Paul Copan, William Lane Craig, 2017-11-16 Did the universe begin to exist If so did it have a cause Or could it have come into existence uncaused from nothing These questions are taken up by the medieval though recently revived kalam cosmological argument which has arguably been the most discussed philosophical argument for God's existence in recent decades The kalam's line of reasoning maintains that the series of past events cannot be infinite but rather is finite Since the universe could not have come into being uncaused there must be a transcendent cause of the universe's beginning a conclusion supportive of theism This anthology on the philosophical arguments for the finitude of the past asks Is an infinite series of past events metaphysically possible Should actual infinities be restricted to theoretical mathematics or can an actual infinite exist in the concrete world These essays by kalam proponents and detractors engage in lively debate about the nature of infinity and its conundrums about frequently used kalam argument paradoxes of Tristram Shandy the Grim Reaper and Hilbert's Hotel and about the infinity of the future

The Kalam Cosmological Argument, Volume 2 Paul Copan, William Lane Craig, 2017-11-16 The ancient kalam cosmological argument maintains that the series of past events is finite and that therefore the universe began to exist Two recent scientific discoveries have yielded plausible prima facie physical evidence for the beginning of the universe The expansion of the universe points to its beginning to a Big Bang as one retraces the universe's expansion in time And the second law of thermodynamics which implies that the universe's energy is progressively degrading suggests that the universe began with an initial low entropy condition The kalam cosmological argument perhaps the most discussed philosophical argument for God's existence in recent decades maintains that whatever begins to exist must have a cause And since the universe began to exist there must be a transcendent cause of its beginning a conclusion which is confirmatory of theism So this medieval argument for the finitude of the past has received fresh wind in its sails from recent scientific discoveries This collection reviews and assesses the merits of the latest scientific evidences for the universe's beginning It ends with the kalam argument's conclusion that the universe has a cause a personal cause with properties of theological significance

Analytic Philosophy of Religion Robert G. Wolf, 1998

The Contemporary Challenge of Modernist Theology Paul Badham, 1998 Written for the centenary of the Modern Churchpeople's Union this volume makes a case for the classic Modernist position in today's Christianity. It argues that modern science and philosophy can be shown to support faith in God and that near death experiences provide evidence for life after death. The Ghost in the Universe Taner Edis, 2002. Emphasizing the results of natural science physicist Taner Edis takes a fresh look at an age old question: Is there a God or a spiritual reality beyond nature. Auslegung, 2003. Science and Theology Chris Impey, Catherine Petry, 2002. This book presents the keynote addresses of a unique meeting organized by the Vatican Observatory which aimed to facilitate dialogue between science and religion among philosophers, theologians and scientists.

Christian Scholar's Review, 1996. The Human Search for Truth Saint Joseph's University Press, 2002.

International Symposium on Astrophysics Research and on the Dialogue Between Science and Religion Chris Impey, Catherine Petry, 2004. International Symposium on Astrophysics Research and on the Dialogue between Science and Religion presents the results of a meeting sponsored by the Vatican Observatory and inspired by its recent devotion to two major new initiatives. In addition to continuing its programs of research in astrophysics during the past decade the Vatican Observatory has sought to provide 1. scholastic dialogue between science and religion and 2. education and research in astronomy, astrophysics and cosmology for aspiring young scholars, particularly those from developing countries. The symposium itself was designed to promote dialogue between science and religion among established scholars that would also find a place in the work and lives of such young scholars. The result is this unique contribution to literature that combines presentations of research results by young scientists with discussions on modern topics in the interdisciplinary area of science and religion. The Philosophy of Religion Reader Chad V. Meister, 2008. Reflecting current trends and research interests in the field, this introduction explores key writings from both the Western theistic tradition and from non-Western, non-theistic sources. Regent University Law Review, 1999. Science and Religion Jeff Astley, David Brown, Ann Loades, 2004. This reader brings together carefully selected material from a wide range of authors on the relationships between science, religion and theology. It samples the recent literature on the challenges to religion posed by both modern physics and evolutionary biology as well as exploring the relationship between scientific and theological approaches. Topics include models of interaction between science and religion, historical reflections on the conflict thesis, scientific and theological methods, creation and modern cosmology, uncertainty and chaos, creationism and evolutionary theory, the anthropic principle and design, and the challenge of reductionism. Contributors include Ian Barbour, Michael Behe, Richard Dawkins, John Habgood, Mary Hesse, T. H. Huxley, Alister McGrath, Arthur Peacocke, John Polkinghorne, Michael Ruse, Keith Ward, and Fraser Watts. Knowledge and Belief Winfried Löffler, Paul Weingartner, 2003. God Victor J. Stenger, 2007. By using five principle conditions for evaluating extraordinary claims, Stenger treats the existence of God like any other scientific hypothesis, stipulating that God should be detectable by scientific means, given that he is supposed to play a central role in the operation of the universe and in the lives of humans. BOOK JACKET. Metaphysics Ronald C. Hoy, L. Nathan

Oaklander,2004 Enhance your understanding of metaphysics with METAPHYSICS CLASSIC AND CONTEMPORARY READINGS This philosophy text provides you with both classic and contemporary readings that you can understand in order to demonstrate the interplay between scientific development and philosophical thinking Each chapter is followed by suggested further readings to help you pursue additional research      The Mind of the Universe Mariano Artigas,2000 The Mind of the Universe written by a philosopher and physicist provides a study in which a competent presentation of physical discoveries is combined with a rational search for philosophical presuppositions of science An important contribution to the dialogue between religion and science it will inspire new attempts at bridging science and philosophy in their common search for the hidden meaning of the new scientific theories
