Finello, 2005-01-25 The Handbook of Training and Practice in Infant and Preschool Mental Health This comprehensive and highly useful guide offers students and practicing clinicians who work with infant and preschool populations a much needed resource for developing and honing their professional skills and clinical experiences The book contains vital information about general training issues and highlights the skills that are needed to be considered a competent professional. Written by top experts in the field from a wide range of disciplines, the authors address basic areas of training and practice with very young children including observation, assessment, diagnosis, dyadic therapy, and reflective supervision, in addition to unique areas of clinical work such as reunification and adoption evaluations. The book also offers examples of innovative models of training and practice for the delivery of services in nontraditional settings such as homes, day care centers, and preschools, and special strategies for delivering clinical services and providing supervision in rural and remote settings, including the use of technology. A representative group of infant mental health professionals take a valuable look at the compelling issues in training and practice through lenses richly diverse in focus, setting, and intent.

JEREE H. PAWL, former director of the Infant Parent Program at San Francisco General Hospital. This provocative volume compels a broader dialogue about the critical issues related to the interdisciplinary training and practice of infant mental health specialists.

HIRAM E. FITZGERALD, University Distinguished Professor, Psychology, Kellogg Center, Michigan State University. This timely and rich volume illuminates the complex issues involved both in conceptualization of infant family practice and of practitioner preparation and support. A superb and valuable contribution.

DONNA R. WESTON, director, Graduate Certificate Program in Infant Mental Health, University of Washington Center for Infant Mental Health and Development.

Treating Traumatized Children, Danny Brom, Ruth Pat-Horenczyk, Julian D. Ford, 2008-10-06. While recent years have seen a vast increase in the literature on adult trauma, interest in childhood trauma has only recently started to gain momentum, encouraging new research and evidence-based interventions. Here the editors have brought together an international list of contributors to look at both innovative and established treatments of trauma in a range of contexts and provide up-to-date coverage of what is on offer in prevention, assessment, treatment, and research. Divided into three parts, main topics discussed are risk and protective factors for the development of post-traumatic disorders, conceptualizations of resilience, and suggestions for making them operational. Evidence-based treatment models for traumatized children. Treating Traumatized Children provides professionals with an up-to-date international perspective on the subject as well as helping professionals and researchers develop future treatments based on current evidence.

The Healing Power of Play, Eliana Gil, 1991-03-16. This book describes how therapists can both facilitate constructive play therapy and intervene in posttraumatic play to help children who have been traumatized by abuse or neglect achieve a positive resolution. Traditional techniques of play therapy are reviewed for their application to this population. Throughout, numerous therapeutic aids are described to enhance the child's capacity to communicate verbally or symbolically. To help clinicians translate theory into daily practice, the book presents six detailed clinical vignettes of trauma from among different types of abuse or neglect, including severe parental neglect, sexual abuse, neglect compounded by hospitalization, and one case features a child suffering from multiple personality disorder. Presenting step-by-step guidelines for assessment and intervention, these cases clearly illustrate treatment planning and how to tailor responses to the
