

The background of the entire cover is a photograph of a savanna landscape. A large, wide-spreading acacia tree stands in the middle ground. In the foreground, a person wearing a vibrant red dress stands in a field of tall, green grass, looking towards the left. The sky is a clear, bright blue.

This Our Exile A Spiritual Journey With The Refugees Of East Africa:

This Our Exile James Martin, 2011 An American Jesuit combines spiritual writing travel narrative history and humor to describe his time working with refugees in the slums of Nairobi Kenya Sin Boldly Cathleen Falsani, 2008-09-23 Grace is everywhere all around us all of the time We only need the ears to hear it and the eyes to see it It is much easier and perhaps more helpful to describe what grace feels like through stories and images that illustrate the varied ways grace is experienced when encountered in the wild than it is to attempt to define it definitively to trap it and cage it Maybe that's why Jesus was so fond of parables nothing describes the indescribable like a memorable yarn Sin Boldly A Field Guide for Grace is a collection of stories about the author's experiences with grace in ridiculous moments and in those that seem trivial but are anything but in wacky adventures and quiet walks with family and with strangers in bars nightclubs the occasional house of worship and in her own home and through conversations with people some famous and some not who have introduced her to grace in new ways that in turn have shaped her faith and the way she tries to live it From Crisis to Kairos A. E. Orobator, 2005

James Martin Martin, James, 2017-03-16 They Come Back Singing Gary Smith, 2009-04-21 For years Gary Smith a Jesuit priest led a familiar life in the Pacific Northwest Then one day in 2000 he left that life behind to spend six years among Sudanese refugees struggling to survive in refugee camps in northern Uganda He traveled to this dangerous pitiless place to be with these forsaken people out of a conviction that Jesuits should be going where no one else goes Smith's journal is a vivid inspiring account of the deep connections he forged during his life changing experience with the Sudanese refugees in Uganda Along the way he discovered a suffering people who despite being displaced by a brutal civil war find the strength to let go of the many and deep sorrows of the past Ultimately They Come Back Singing is a window to the spiritual life and growth of a priest whose generous spirit and genuine love allow him to serve and be served in truly extraordinary ways

Who Are My People? Emmanuel Katongole, 2022-05-01 Who Are My People explores the complex relationship between identity violence and Christianity in Africa In Who Are My People Emmanuel Katongole examines what it means to be both an African and a Christian in a continent that is often riddled with violence The driving assumption behind the investigation is that the recurring forms of violence in Africa reflect an ongoing crisis of belonging Katongole traces the crisis through three key markers of identity ethnicity religion and land He highlights the unique modernity of the crisis of belonging and reveals that its manifestations of ethnic religious and ecological violence are not three separate forms of violence but rather modalities of the same crisis This investigation shows that Christianity can generate and nurture alternative forms of community nonviolent agency and ecological possibilities The book is divided into two parts Part One deals with the philosophical and theological issues related to the question of African identity Part Two includes three chapters each of which engages a form of violence locating it within the broader story of modern sub-Saharan Africa Each chapter includes stories of Christian individuals and communities who not only resist violence but are determined to heal its wounds and the burden of history shaped by Africa's unique modernity. In doing so they invent new forms of identity, new communities and a new relationship with the land. This engaging interdisciplinary study combining philosophical analysis and theological exploration along with theoretical argument and practical resources will interest scholars and students of theology, peace studies and African studies.

Refugees and Rights Mary Crock, 2017-05-15 Forced migration is both as ancient as human life on earth and a relatively new subject of interest for human rights scholars. This volume continues the discussion from Migrants and Rights to focus attention on refugees, victims of trafficking and others who cross borders seeking protection from anthropogenic or natural disasters. The opening essays provide historical and conceptual overviews of rights to freedom of movement and asylum and links between human rights and refugee law. Articles on the principle of non-refoulement in international law explore the occasional disjuncture between the individual's right to protection and the State's rights to protect its national interests. The refugee's rights to due process and the substance of entitlements at law are explored in essays that range across administrative processes, social and cultural rights including family reunion, detention and the right of return. There follow four essays that address sexual orientation and refugee rights, refugees and disability rights, human rights and persons displaced by climate change disasters and the rights of victims of human trafficking. The volume concludes with work reflecting on the rights discourse outside of traditional Western theatres. These cover Africa, Kenya, India, South America, Brazil and the Asia Pacific, Indonesia and Papua New Guinea.

Beyond the Borders of Baptism Michael L. Budde, 2016-09-02 People worldwide find themselves part of overlapping communities of identity and belonging: racial, political, cultural, sexual, ideological. Some identities like brand loyalties are chosen; some like class identity are imposed. As followers of Jesus Christ, those called to live in-between the age that is and the age to come, Christians ask what it means to be part of the body of Christ, God's new creation from among the nations in a world filled with other nations. Who and whose are we? There is no easy answer, no time at which Christians got it completely right. Yet such questions must be addressed and the stakes are high. Matters of war and peace, exclusion and inclusion, who starves and who does not, the credibility of the gospel itself, all are caught up in the whirl of identities, allegiances imposed or refused, and questions about what the church might possibly mean in such circumstances. In this book a distinguished group of scholars from five continents asks: How can the church respect the diversity of its members, many nations, cultures and communities while maintaining a coherent witness to the kingdom of
