This Idea Must Die Scientific Theories That Are Blocking Progress:

This Idea Must Die John Brockman, 2015-02-17 The bestselling editor of This Explains Everything brings together 175 of the world's most brilliant minds to tackle Edge.org's 2014 question: What scientific idea has become a relic blocking human progress? Each year John Brockman, publisher of Edge.org, the world's smartest website, The Guardian challenges some of the world's greatest scientists, artists, and philosophers to answer a provocative question crucial to our time. In 2014 he asked 175 brilliant minds to ponder: What scientific idea needs to be put aside in order to make room for new ideas to advance? The answers are as surprising as they are illuminating. In Steven Pinker dismantles the working theory of human behavior, Richard Dawkins renounces essentialism, Sherry Turkle reevaluates our expectations of artificial intelligence, Geoffrey West challenges the concept of a Theory of Everything, Andrei Linde suggests that our universe and its laws may not be as unique as we think, Martin Rees explains why scientific understanding is a limitless goal, Nina Jablonski argues to rid ourselves of the concept of race, Alan Guth rethinks the origins of the universe, Hans Ulrich Obrist warns against glorifying unlimited economic growth, and much more. Profound, engaging, thoughtful, and groundbreaking, This Idea Must Die will change your perceptions and understanding of our world today and tomorrow.

A Twenty-first Century Approach to Community Change Paula Allen-Meares, 2017 The book discusses a university partner, the UM School of Social Work Technical Assistance Center (SSW TAC), with an embedded foundation-driven initiative for neighborhood change to improve outcomes of youth before, during, and after the massive economic and demographic transformation of Detroit between 2006 and 2015.

Why Does What Exists Exist? Some Hypotheses on the Ultimate "Why" Question Mariano L. Bianca, Paolo Piccari, 2021-02-02 The combination of current cosmology, physical theories, ancient cosmogonies, theologies, and metaphysics poses three main questions: Why is there something rather than nothing? Why does being take many forms? What is the origin of everything? Many different answers have been given in various different fields to these questions. In theological creationist metaphysics, the only answer is the existence of a creator who has given rise not only to everything but also to the laws that govern existence. Non-theological metaphysics instead has engaged in the determination of some first principles from which derives the reality in its various forms. Science for a long time evaded these questions, focusing instead on particular aspects of reality by formulating explanations of natural phenomena. In the course of their current development, physics, including quantum theory and cosmology, have posed questions concerning the origin of the whole universe and the reasons for its existence. They believe it is possible to formulate a theory of everything, just as metaphysical cosmologists and theologians thought. The papers collected in this volume offer interesting contributions to the debates surrounding this ultimate why question.
