This Side Of Doctoring Reflections From Women In Medicine:

This Side of Doctoring Eliza Lo Chin, 2002 This anthology of stories poems essays and quotations explores the duality of being both a woman and a physician On Call Emily R. Transue, 2005-08 A memoir of the birth of a doctor from internship to residency Women in Medicine Anne Walling, 2025-06-30 In telling the history of women in medicine the pioneers especially the turbulent ones are rightly remembered and celebrated in books articles memorials awards names of buildings and organizations even in stone statues and memorials In contrast the generation who began the transition from minority status to the current numerical equity are seldom memorialized yet without the efforts of these few determined women in what was unambiguously a male profession the achievements of these pioneers could easily have withered This book is written to celebrate this unique generation of women who entered medicine between the Second World War and the early 1970s determined women who just wanted to be doctors but ended up fundamentally changing the profession Utilizing oral histories from 37 women who became physicians between 1948 and 1975 these women tell their stories in their own words and provide a valid picture of their experiences throughout their careers that has much resonance for those entering or practicing medicine today Women in Medicine Stories from the Girls in White will be of interest to all health professionals or those considering entering health professions particularly women and their advisers and supporters to medical educators and to medical historians seeking to understand the progress of women in medicine and other professions since the end of WWII

Choice ,2003 The Comeback Emma Gilbey Keller,2008-09-02 An inspiring book that argues that women can have it all just not all at once AWIS Magazine ,2003 The Way We Work Peter Scheckner,Mary C. Boyes,2008 The Way We Work reveals that a seismic change has occurred in the workplace since the appearance in 1974 of Studs Terkel s Working Terkel's subjects despite their alienation had a sense of themselves as workers and felt that in the workplace they were part of a community. The people Terkel interviewed were highly class conscious in a way that today seems radical and even anachronistic. By contrast while some of the narrators in The Way We Work feel passionate about their work others are barely conscious that they are workers. In transit from one job to another some workers find it hard to take either their co-workers or their job situation too much to heart. One pronoun rarely used by the narrators of the works in this anthology is we. Each of the 43 pieces in The Way We Work represents a voice that is idiosyncratic, ironic, or humorous. Alongside such acclaimed writers as Tom Wolfe, Rick Bass, Barbara Garson, Ha Jin, Charles Bowden, Erica Funkhouser, Allan Gurganus, Catherine Anderson, Philip Levine, Edward Conlon, and Mona Simpson appear the narratives of little-known writers. No other collection of writings about contemporary work in this country showcases the personal accounts of employees from a creative literary perspective. These writings address such current issues as the effects of globalization, sexual harassment, racial discrimination, and the weakening of unions, as well as a general sense of worker disengagement in the workplace. Speaking in multiple genres, the men and women whose voices are collected here run the whole gamut of the workplace. From an executive at an office products company to a migrant fruit picker to a stripper to a doctor to a cleaner of garbage trucks, The Way We Work captures with passion and honesty the experiences of a myriad of workers.
