Those Kids Our Schools Race And Reform In An American High School:

Those Kids, Our Schools Shayla Reese Griffin, 2017-11-14 In Those Kids Our Schools Shayla Reese Griffin examines patterns of racial interaction in a large integrated high school and makes a powerful case for the frank conversations that educators could and should be having about race in schools Over three years Griffin observed students teachers and administrators in a post racial exurban high school in the Midwest In its hallways classrooms lunchrooms and staff meetings she uncovered the disturbing ways in which racial tensions and prejudices persist and are reinforced Students engaged in patterns of behavior that underscored racial hierarchies Teachers no matter how intellectually committed to equity and diversity often lacked the skills resources or authority to address racial issues while administrators failed to acknowledge racial tensions or recognize how school practices and policies perpetuated racial inequality This astute and thoughtful book offers a revealing glimpse into the world of young people struggling with the legacy of racism More important it highlights the disservice being done to all students in our schools when educators fail to critically interrogate issues of race Griffin's perceptive analysis illuminates the persistent influence of race in our education system and shows how with appropriate support teachers and students can develop the capacity to address racial issues and dynamics in schools in a frank and constructive way

The Foundations of Urban Education Tiffany A. Flowers, 2023-08-21 This volume explores key issues within the 21st century which can impact schooling issues for students within urban contexts It investigates issues which help prepare both preservice and in service teachers by focusing on both the theoretical underpinnings in the field and historical foundations Some of the topics discussed here include issues related to the achievement gap school and community partnerships charter schools teacher pay and compensation culturally relevant pedagogy teacher motivation and racial classroom and school fatigue

Race Dialogues Donna Rich Kaplowitz, and Sheri Seyka Shayla Reese Griffin, 2019-05-03 All too often race discourse in the United States devolves into shouting matches silence or violence all of which are mirrored in today's classrooms This book will help individuals develop the skills needed to facilitate difficult dialogues across race in high school and college classrooms in teacher professional learning communities and beyond The authors codify best practices in race dialogue facilitation by drawing on decades of research and examples from their own practices They share their mistakes and hard earned lessons to help readers avoid common pitfalls Through their concrete lesson plans and hands on material both experienced and novice facilitators can immediately use this inclusive and wide ranging curriculum in a variety of classrooms work spaces and organizations with diverse participants Race Dialogues A Facilitator's Guide to Tackling the Elephant in the Classroom is a scholarly timely and urgently needed book While there is other literature on facilitation of intergroup dialogues none are so deeply and effectively focused on race the elephant in the room From the foreword by Patricia Gurin Nancy Cantor Distinguished University Professor and Emeritus Research Director University of Michigan This brilliant book is a gold mine of wisdom and resources for teachers facilitators and student dialogue leaders It summarizes explains and elaborates upon everything I have ever been taught about what makes for great facilitation With experience and compassion the authors have written a clear user friendly guide to facilitation of race dialogue for both youth and adults I will recommend this book to every facilitator and teacher I train or hire Ali Michael director of the Race Institute for K 12 Educators and author of Raising Race Questions Whiteness and Inquiry in Education Integrations Lawrence Blum,Zoë Burkholder,2021-05-11 The promise of a free high quality public education is supposed to guarantee every child a shot at the American dream But our widely segregated schools mean that many children of color do not have access to educational opportunities equal to those of their white peers In Integrations historian Zo Burkholder and philosopher Lawrence Blum investigate what this country s long history of school segregation means for achieving just and equitable educational opportunities in the United States Integrations focuses on multiple marginalized groups in American schooling African Americans Native Americans Latinxs and Asian Americans The authors show that in order to grapple with integration in a meaningful way we must think of integration in the plural both in its multiple histories and in the many possible definitions of and courses of action for integration Ultimately the authors show integration cannot guarantee educational equality and justice but it is an essential component of civic education that prepares students for life in our multiracial democracy Race and Ethnicity in the United States William Velez,1998 To find more information on Rowman Littlefield titles please visit us at www.rowmanlittlefield.com Congressional Record United States. Howell,2005-04-01 School boards are fighting for their survival Almost everything that they do is subject to regulations handed down from city councils state boards of education legislatures and courts As recent mayoral and state takeovers in such cities as Baltimore Chicago and New York make abundantly clear school boards that do not fulfill the expectations of other political players may be stripped of what few independent powers they still retain Teachers unions exert growing influence over board decision making processes And with the passage of the No Child Left Behind Act the federal government has aggressively inserted itself into matters of local education governance Besieged is the first full length volume in many years to systematically examine the politics that surround school boards A group of highly renowned scholars relying on both careful case studies and quantitative analyses examine how school boards fare when they interact with their political superiors teachers unions and the public For the most part the picture that emerges is sobering while school boards perform certain administrative functions quite well the political pressures they face undermine their capacity to institute the wide ranging school reforms that many voters and local leaders are currently demanding Resources in Education ,2001-04 The Race Controversy in American Education

Lillian Dowdell Drakeford Ph.D.,2015-07-28 In this unique two volume work expert scholars and practitioners examine race and racism in public education tackling controversial educational issues such as the school to prison pipeline charter schools school funding affirmative action and racialized curricula This work is built on the premise that recent efforts to advance color blind race neutral educational policies and reforms have not only proven ineffective in achieving racial equity and equality of educational opportunities and outcomes in America s public schools but also exacerbated existing inequalities That point is made through a collection of essays that examine the consequences of racial inequality on the school experience and success of students of color and other historically marginalized populations Addressing K 12 education and higher education in historically black as well as predominantly white institutions the work probes the impact of race and racism on education policies and reforms to determine the role schools school processes and school structures play in the perpetuation of racial inequality in American education Each volume validates the impact of race on teaching and learning and exposes the ways in which racism manifests itself in U S schools In addition practical recommendations are presented that may be used to confront and eradicate racism in education By exposing what happens when issues of race and racism are marginalized or ignored this collection will prepare readers to resist and perhaps finally overcome the racial inequality that plagues America s schools Designing Personalized Learning for Every Student Dianne L.
