China's Naval Operations in the South China Sea is highly topical it examines the evolving perception of the People's Republic of China's PRC of the South China Sea SCS and Beijing's accompanying maritime strategy to claim the islands and waters particularly in the context of the strategies of the neighbouring stake holding nations. In addition to long standing territorial disputes over the islands and waters of the SCS China and the other littoral states Vietnam the Philippines Brunei Malaysia Taiwan and Indonesia have growing and often mutually exclusive interests in the offshore energy reserves and fishing grounds. Many other countries outside of the region worry about the protection of sea lines of communication for military and commercial traffic oil tankers in particular. These differences have been expressed in the increasing frequency and intensity of maritime incidents involving both naval and civilian vessels sometimes working in coordination against naval or civilian targets. Each chapter on the littoral states closely examines that state's territorial claims to the islands and waters of the SCS its primary economic and military interests in these areas its views on the sovereignty disputes over the entire SCS its strategy to achieve its objectives and its views on the U.S. involvement in any and China as a Twenty-First Century Naval Power Michael A. McDevitt, 2020-10-15 Xi Jinping has made his ambitions for the People's Liberation Army (PLA) perfectly clear: there is no mystery what he wants. First, that China should become a great maritime power; and secondly, that the PLA become a world-class armed force by 2050. He wants this latter objective to be largely completed by 2035. China as a Twenty-First Century Naval Power focuses on China's navy and how it is being transformed to satisfy the world-class goal. Beginning with an exploration of why China is seeking to become such a major maritime power, author Michael McDevitt first explores the strategic rationale behind Xi's two objectives: China's reliance on foreign trade and overseas interests such as China's Belt and Road strategy. In turn, this has created concerns within the senior levels of China's military about the vulnerability of its overseas interests. Maritime life lines is a major theme. McDevitt dubs this China's sea lane anxiety and traces how this has required the PLA Navy to evolve from a near-seas focused navy to one that has global reach: a blue water navy. He details how quickly this transformation has taken place thanks to a patient step-by-step approach and abundant funding. The more than 10 years of anti-piracy patrols in the far reaches of the Indian Ocean has acted as a learning curve accelerator to blue water status. McDevitt then explores the PLA Navy's role in the South China Sea and the Indian Ocean. He provides a detailed assessment of what the PLAN will be expected to do if Beijing chooses to attack Taiwan, potentially triggering combat with America's first responders in East Asia, especially the U.S. Seventh Fleet and U.S. Fifth Air Force. He conducts a close exploration of how the PLA Navy fits into China's campaign plan aimed at keeping reinforcing U.S. forces at arm's length, what the Pentagon calls anti-access and area denial (A2/AD). If war has broken out over Taiwan or because of attacks on U.S. allies and friends that live in the shadow of China.

McDevitt does not know how Xi defines world class but the evidence from the past 15 years of building a blue water force has already made the PLA Navy the second largest globally capable navy in the world This book concludes with a forecast of what Xi's vision of a world class navy might look like in the next fifteen years when the 2035 deadline is reached China's Strategic Interests in the South China Sea Sigfrido Burgos Cáceres,2013-10-15 This title will explore China's strategic interests in the South China Sea with a specific emphasis on power projection and resource security China's regional actions and reactions are reshaping the power dynamics in East and South East Asia while economic and geopolitical futures depend on the variegated outcomes of these complex relationships with neighbours and the West An introductory section will be complemented by four case studies Japan Vietnam the USA and the Philippines and the concluding chapter will discuss the importance of the South China Sea to China as its new leadership deals with growing economic and military might New Great Game in the Indo-Pacific Bawa Singh,Aslam Khan,Parvaiz Ahmad Thoker,Mansoor Ahmad Lone,2022-07-18 This book looks at the emerging power dynamics in the Indo Pacific region and locates India and its interests within the overarching geostrategic framework With US and China emerging as leading players within the region the book analyses the challenges to India's foreign policy in the face of new alliances counter alliances and great power equations that have formed after the Cold War It discusses important issues such as China's strategic forays in the Indian Ocean the balance of power between countries India's Act East opportunities Russia's re engagement in the region the South China Sea dispute India's maritime strategy and the conundrum of the Quadrilateral Security Dialogue facing India A comprehensive study of the changing geopolitical and geostrategic environment of the Indo Pacific region the book will be an essential read for scholars and researchers of international relations global politics foreign policy maritime studies Chinese studies South Asian studies geopolitics and strategic studies Eurasian Maritime Geopolitics Kent E.
