The Suffering And Victorious Christ Toward A More Compassionate Christology:

The Suffering and Victorious Christ Richard J. Mouw, Douglas A. Sweeney, 2013-10-15 American theologians tend to focus on the great hope Christians have through Christ's resurrection emphasizing Christ's victory while minimizing or ignoring his suffering. Through their engagements with Japanese Christians and African American Christians on the topic of Christology, Richard Mouw and Douglas Sweeney have come to recognize and underscore that Christ offers hope not only through his resurrection but also through his incarnation. The authors articulate a more compassionate and orthodox Christology that answers the experience of the global church offering a corrective to what passes for American Christology today. The book includes an afterword by Willie James Jennings of Duke Divinity School. Themelios, Volume 39, Issue 1 D. A.

Schmutzer, 2023-02-22 Divine Suffering is an interdisciplinary study that draws from systematics, philosophy, biblical theology, and pastoral experience. In addition to covering topics like the suffering of the Father in the Son and God's cruciform vulnerability, this book also explores how divine suffering animates the Christian gospel and resonates in the ongoing persecution of believers. The study of the suffering God has everything to do with Theology, History, and Church Mission. Like exploring a cathedral from all its entrances, both scholars and seekers will find ample opportunity for theological challenge, biblical insight, and missional hope. To accomplish this, both Scripture and doctrine are closely investigated. Today, divine suffering must face the contemporary realities of protest, atheism, escalating wars, new studies in relational theology, and dialogical personhood that presses the need to explain a Christian message about the kind of God who is not only transcendent but also personal. Divine Suffering introduces us to the history of God not just the God of history In this study we meet a God available to our pain though not diminished by it Mounting forms of grief need to be met with an equally pastoral understanding that validates suffering without valorizing it Suffering, Soul Care, and Community Ann Ahrens,2023-01-10 What are believers to do when belief and lived experience collide Must the experience of suffering be hidden or pushed aside in favor of only positive expressions of praise during corporate worship Focusing on the premise that worship is not pain denial this book seeks to reveal the dearth of soul care within modern corporate worship and the multidisciplinary approach needed to build and implement a more thorough approach that calls and enables believers to weep with those who weep to bear one another's burdens and continue Christ's ministry of reconciliation Lord Jesus Christ Daniel Treier,2023-10-31 A study of the doctrine of Christ that is biblical and historical evangelical and ecumenical conceptually clear and contextually relevant Lord Jesus Christ expounds the doctrine of Christ by focusing upon theological interpretation of Scripture regarding Jesus's identity The book's structure traces a Christological arc from the eternal communion of the Triune God through creation covenants Incarnation passion and exaltation all the way to the consummation of redemptive history This arc identifies Jesus as the divine Lord who assumed human flesh for our salvation The book expounds and defends a classically Reformed Christology in relation to contemporary contexts and challenges engaging both philosophical and global concerns Each chapter begins with the theological interpretation of a key Scripture text before expounding key concepts of orthodox Protestant Christology Lord Jesus Christ is a unique example of writing dogmatic theology by way of theological exegesis The result is a volume that engages the numerous scholarly volumes on Christology that have appeared within the last couple of decades but provides a contemporary account of a traditional view About the Series New Studies in Dogmatics seeks to retrieve the riches of Christian doctrine for the sake of contemporary theological renewal Following in the tradition of G C Berkouwer's Studies in Dogmatics this series will provide thoughtful concise and readable treatments of major theological topics expressing the biblical creedal and confessional shape of Christian doctrine for a contemporary evangelical audience The editors and contributors share a common conviction that the way forward in constructive systematic theology lies in building upon the foundations laid in the church's historic understanding of the Word of God as professed in its creeds councils and confessions and by its most trusted teachers Indigenous People and the Christian Faith: A New Way Forward William H. U. Anderson,Charles Muskego,2020-04-15 Indigenous People and the Christian Faith A New Way Forward provides detailed historical cultural and theological background and analysis to a very delicate and pressing subject facing many people around the world The book is global both local and global as represented by international scholars Every continent is represented by both Indigenous and non indigenous people who desire to make a difference with the delicate problematics and relationships The history of Indigenous people around the world is inextricably linked with Christianity and Colonialism The book is completely interdisciplinary by employing historians literary critics biblical scholars and theologians sociologists philosophers and ordained engineers The Literary Intent of the book without presuming nor claiming too much for itself is to provide practical thinking that will help all people move past the pain and dysfunction of the past toward mutual understanding communication and practical actions in the present and future

Explorations in Interdisciplinary Reading Robbie F. Castleman, Darian R. Lockett, Stephen O. Presley, 2017-05-31 The tension between reading Scripture as primarily a historically situated text on one hand and binding canon addressed to a community of faith on the other constitutes a crucial issue for biblical interpretation. Considering the ways the disciplines of Biblical Studies, Biblical Theology, Patristics, and Systematic Theology approach Scripture and biblical interpretation, the Biblical Theology Hermeneutics and Theological Disciplines study group within the Institute of Biblical Research established a four-year project aimed at clarifying the relationships between these diverse lines of inquiry into scriptural interpretation found in each of these disciplines. The goal of this project was to foster a sustained discussion where exploratory papers might be proposed, composed, and rewritten for final form using a collaborative process. This research project and the present volume resulting from it offers valuable insights into the integration of Biblical Studies and Theology as subdisciplines within the academy. The essays collected here fall naturally into the following sections: Exegetical Explorations, Reception Historical Explorations, and finally Theological Practical Explorations.

Foundations of Pastoral Counselling Neil Pembroke, 2017-04-30. Foundations of Pastoral Counselling offers a completely new approach to its subject through an integration of philosophical ideas, theological thought, and psychotherapeutic psychology. Using the work of philosophers including Martin Buber, Simone Weil, and Søren Kierkegaard to begin the conversation in each chapter, the author then draws on relevant theologians and psychotherapeutic thinkers to enrich the dialogue. The result is a rich, multi-faceted and often surprising round-table discussion about the fundamental issues in pastoral counselling.

One for the Other Andrew P. Campbell, 2025-06-24. For two thousand years the cross of Christ has been the central point of Christian theologies of salvation. However, in recent years a variety of theologians such as Rosemary Radford Ruether, Rita Nakashima Brock, J. Denny Weaver, and René Girard, united in their disdain for violence, have abandoned any divine sanction or salvific significance for the cross of Christ. Instead, they frame atonement not in terms of Christ's death but his life, formulating atonement theologies that address the need for an ethical concern for the oppressed and powerless Other. This volume is dedicated to offering a fair account of their revisions, identifying the ethical undertones that lead nonviolent theologians and thinkers to reform atonement theology, examining their claims in light of those ethical foundations, and exploring P. T. Forsyth as a viable alternative for contemporary theology.
