The Spectre of Capital: Idea and Reality Christopher J. Arthur, 2022-07-18 What is money What is capital The Spectre of Capital tackles such fundamental questions at a deep philosophical level It argues that the modern world is ruled by a spectre the spectre of capital This insight is rooted in an original combination of the ideas of Marx and Hegel It presents the most sophisticated argument to date for the homology thesis namely that the order of Hegel's logical categories and that of the social forms addressed by Marx's Capital share the same architectonic The systematic dialectical presentation shows how capital becomes a self sustaining power

The Postcolonial Contemporary Jini Kim Watson, Gary Wilder, 2018-07-03 This volume invokes the postcolonial contemporary in order to recognize and reflect upon the emphatically postcolonial character of the contemporary conjuncture as well as to inquire into whether postcolonial criticism can adequately grasp it Neither simply for nor against postcolonialism the volume seeks to cut across this false alternative and to think with postcolonial theory about political contemporaneity Many of the most influential frameworks of postcolonial theory were developed during the 1970s and 1990s during what we may now recognize as the twilight of the postwar period If forms of capitalist imperialism are entering into new configurations of neoliberal privatization wars without end xenophobic nationalism and unsustainable extraction what aspects of postcolonial inquiry must be reworked or revised in order to grasp our political present In twelve essays that draw from a number of disciplines history anthropology literature geography indigenous studies and regional locations the Black Atlantic South Africa South Asia East Asia Australia Argentina The Postcolonial Contemporary seeks to move beyond the habitual oppositions that have often characterized the field such as universal vs particular Marxism vs postcolonialism and politics vs culture These essays signal an attempt to reckon with new and persisting postcolonial predicaments and do so under four inter related analytics Postcolonial Temporality Deprovincializing the Global South Beyond Marxism versus Postcolonial Studies and Postcolonial Spatiality and New Political Imaginaries

The Sublime Perversion of Capital Gavin Walker, 2016-03-25 In The Sublime Perversion of Capital Gavin Walker examines the Japanese debate about capitalism between the 1920s and 1950s using it as a prehistory to consider current discussions of uneven development and contemporary topics in Marxist theory and historiography Walker locates the debate's culmination in the work of Uno K z whose investigations into the development of capitalism and the commodification of labor power are essential for rethinking the national question in Marxist theory Walker's analysis of Uno and the Japanese debate strips Marxist historiography of its Eurocentric focus showing how Marxist thought was globalized from the start In analyzing the little heralded tradition of Japanese Marxist theory alongside Marx himself Walker not only offers new insights into the transition to capitalism the rise of globalization and the relation between capital and the formation of the nation state he provides new ways to break Marxist theory's impasse with postcolonial studies and critical theory

How Abstract Is It? Thinking Capital Now

Rebecca Colesworthy, Peter Nicholls, 2017-10-02 Since the start of the financial crisis in 2008 the notion that capitalism has become too abstract for all but the most rarefied specialists to understand has been widely presupposed Yet even in academic circles the question of abstraction itself of what exactly abstraction is and does under financialisation seems to have gone largely unexplored or has it By putting the question of abstraction centre stage How Abstract Is It Thinking Capital Now offers an indispensable counterpoint to the economic turn in the humanities bringing together leading literary and cultural critics in order to propose that we may know far more about capital's myriad abstractions than we typically think we do Through in depth engagement with classic and cutting edge theorists agile analyses of recent Hollywood films groundbreaking readings of David Foster Wallace's sprawling unfinished novel The Pale King and even original poems the contributors here suggest that the machinations and costs of finance as well as alternatives to it may already be hiding in plain sight This book was originally published as a special issue of Textual Practice

The Spectre of State Capitalism

Ilias Alami, Adam D. Dixon, 2024-09-23 The state is back and it means business Since the turn of the 21st century state owned enterprises sovereign funds and policy banks have vastly expanded their control over assets and markets Concurrently governments have experimented with increasingly assertive modalities of statism from techno industrial policies and spatial development strategies to economic nationalism and trade and investment restrictions This book argues that we are currently witnessing a historic arc in the trajectories of state intervention characterized by a drastic reconfiguration of the state's role as promoter supervisor shareholder investor and direct owner of capital across the world economy It offers a comprehensive analysis of this new state capitalism as commentators increasingly refer to it and maps out its key empirical manifestations across a range of geographies cases and issue areas Alami and Dixon show that the new state capitalism is rooted in deep geopolitical economic and financial processes pertaining to the secular development of global capitalism as much as it is the product of the geoeconomic agency of states and the global corporate strategies of leading firms The book demonstrates that the proliferation of muscular modalities of statist interventionism and the increasing concentration of capital in the hands of states indicate foundational shifts in global capitalism This includes a growing fusion of private and state capital and the development of flexible and liquid forms of property that collapse the distinction between state and private ownership control and management This has fundamental implications for the nature and operations of global capitalism and world politics This is an open access title available under the terms of a CC BY NC ND 4 0 International licence It is free to read on the Oxford Academic platform and offered as a free PDF download from OUP and selected open access locations

The Spectre of Promiscuity Christian Klesse, 2016-03-03 Wide ranging research suggests that partners in gay male and bisexual relationships do not necessarily expect monogamy or see it as an important issue Although the frequency of gay male and bisexual non monogamous partnerships tends to be widely acknowledged in social science literature these relationships have rarely been explored in more detail By providing rich empirical data thoughtful analysis and theoretical debate this book makes a significant contribution to the sociological literature on sexual and intimate relationships More specifically it explores the diversity of gay male and bisexual relationship practices in the context of heteronormative citizenship and intra social movement conflict and highlights the complexity of power relations that circumscribe queer people's relationships and sexual lives Written in an accessible and engaging manner The Spectre of Promiscuity provides important insights for further studies on sexual culture discourse citizenship politics and ethics The Nature of Capital Richard Marsden, 1999-08-26 Original in conception and bold in its diagnosis this work will be welcomed by students of and researchers in economics social theory Marx Foucault and postmodernity The Spectre of Hegel François Matheron, Louis Althusser, 2014-01-07 Louis Althusser is remembered today as the scourge of humanist Marxism but that was his later incarnation an identity formed by years grappling with the intellectual inheritance of Hegel and Catholicism The Spectre of Hegel collects the writings of the young Althusser before his final epistemological break with the philosopher's work in 1953 The Spectre of Hegel gives a unique insight into Althusser's engagement with a philosophy he would later renounce Finance Fictions Arne De Boever, 2018-03-06 Finance Fictions takes the measure of what it means to live in a world ruled by high finance by examining the tension between psychosis and realism that plays out in the contemporary finance novel When the things traded at the center of the economy cease to be things at all but highly abstracted speculations how do we come to see the real What sorts of narrative can accurately approach the actual workings of a neoliberal economy marked by accelerating cycles of market crashes economic and political crisis and austerity Revisiting such twentieth century classics of the genre as Tom Wolfe's Bonfire of the Vanities and Bret Easton Ellis's American Psycho De Boever argues that the twenty first century is witnessing the birth of a new kind of realistic novel that can make sense of complex financial instruments like collateralized debt obligations credit default swaps and digital algorithms operating at speeds faster than what human beings or computers can record If in 1989 Wolfe could still urge novelists to work harder to tame the billion footed beast of reality today's economic reality confronts us with a difference that is qualitative rather than quantitative a new financial ontology requiring new modes of thinking and writing Mobilizing the philosophical thought of Quentin Meillassoux in the close reading of finance novels by Robert Harris Michel Houellebecq Ben Lerner and less well known works of conceptual writing such as Mathew Timmons Credit Finance Fictions argues that realism is in for a speculative update if it wants to take on the contemporary economy and if whose implications turn out to be deeply political Part literary study and part philosophical inquiry Finance Fictions seeks to contribute to a new mindset for creative and critical work on finance in the twenty first century The State-Capital Nexus in the Global Crisis Bastiaan van Apeldoorn, Naná de Graaff, Henk W. Overbeek, 2017-07-05 In the wake of the outbreak of the global crisis in 2008 many observers expected the state to assume command over a faltering neoliberal finance led model of capitalism We now know that this expectation was by and large mistaken There is indeed an ongoing re calibration of the state capital relations but in many instances the state has become more actively and more deeply involved in extending the reach of markets rather than in constraining markets in the interests of an equitable response to the crisis This volume offers both theoretical perspectives and empirical studies by a selection of leading Critical International Political Economy scholars on the question how and to what extent we are witnessing a return of the state and a transition towards a new phase of global capitalism The chapters cover a wide array of topics from the rise of China and other emerging economies of the Global

South the role of state owned enterprises such as Sovereign Wealth Funds and National Oil Companies and global environmental politics to the role of labour in Europe and US grand strategy foreign policy making in the post Cold War period This book was published as a special issue of Globalizations Capital Is Dead McKenzie Wark,2021-02-09 It s not capitalism it s not neoliberalism what if it s something worse In this radical and visionary new book McKenzie Wark argues that information has empowered a new kind of ruling class Through the ownership and control of information this emergent class dominates not only labour but capital as traditionally understood as well And it s not just tech companies like Amazon and Google Even Walmart and Nike can now dominate the entire production chain through the ownership of not much more than brands patents copyrights and logistical systems While techno utopian apologists still celebrate these innovations as an improvement on capitalism for workers and the planet it s worse The new ruling class uses the powers of information to route around any obstacle labor and social movements put up So how do we find a way out Capital Is Dead offers not only the theoretical tools to analyze this new world but ways to change it Drawing on the writings of a surprising range of classic and contemporary theorists Wark offers an illuminating overview of the contemporary condition and the emerging class forces that control and contest it Regulating Capital David Andrew Singer,2015-11-15 Financial instability threatens the global economy The volatility of capital movements across national borders has led many observers to argue for a reformed global financial architecture a body of consistent rules and institutions to prevent financial crises Yet regulators have a decidedly mixed record in their attempts to create global standards for the financial system David Andrew Singer seeks to explain the varying pressures on regulatory agencies to negotiate internationally acceptable rules and suggests that the variation is largely traceable to the different domestic political pressures faced by regulators In Regulating Capital Singer provides both a theory of the effects of domestic pressures on international regulation and a detailed analysis of regulators attempts at international rulemaking in banking securities and insurance Singer addresses the complexities of global finance in an accessible style and he does not turn away from the more dramatic aspects of globalization he makes clear the international implications of bank failures and stock market crashes the rise of derivatives and the catastrophic financial losses caused by Hurricane Katrina and the events of September 11 Against Capital Punishment Benjamin S. Yost,2019-02-13 Against Capital Punishment develops an innovative argument against the death penalty that sidesteps questions about the morality of execution itself Yost argues that the irrevocability of the death penalty calls for its abolition In so doing he explores the extent of legal institutions responsibility to remedy their mistakes and solves the problems that sabotage other versions of procedural abolitionism The Capital ,1898 Television's Spatial Capital Myles McNutt,2021-12-30 This book launches a comprehensive detailing of the dramatic expansion of the geography of television production into new cities states provinces and countries and how those responsible for shaping the landscape of television have been forced to adapt taking established strategies for engaging with space and place through mediated representation and renegotiating them to account for the new map of television production Modeling media studies research that considers the intersection of production textuality distribution and reception Myles McNutt identifies how the expansion of where television is produced has intersected with the kinds of places represented on television and how shifts in the production distribution and consumption of television content have shifted the burden of representing cities and countries both locally and internationally Through a combination of industry interviews textual analysis and in depth consideration of industry and audience discourse the book argues that where television takes place matters more today than it ever has but that the current system of spatial capital remains constrained by traditional industry logics that limit the depth of engagement with place identity even as the expectation of authenticity grows significantly Representing a cross section of media industry studies television studies and cultural geography this book will appeal to scholars and students within multiple areas of media studies including production studies and audience studies in addition to television studies broadly

Prague, Capital of the Twentieth Century Derek Sayer, 2021-11-09 The story of modernity told through a cultural history of twentieth century Prague Setting out to recover the roots of modernity in the boulevards interiors and arcades of the city of light Walter Benjamin dubbed Paris the capital of the nineteenth century In this eagerly anticipated sequel to his acclaimed Coasts of Bohemia A Czech History Derek Sayer argues that Prague could well be seen as the capital of the much darker twentieth century Ranging across twentieth century Prague s astonishingly vibrant and always surprising human landscape this richly illustrated cultural history describes how the city has experienced and suffered more ways of being modern than perhaps any other metropolis Located at the crossroads of struggles between democratic communist and fascist visions of the modern world twentieth century Prague witnessed revolutions and invasions national liberation and ethnic cleansing the Holocaust show trials and snuffed out dreams of socialism with a human face Yet between the wars when Prague was the capital of Europe s most easterly parliamentary democracy it was also a hotbed of artistic and architectural modernism and a center of surrealism second only to Paris Focusing on these years Sayer explores Prague s spectacular modern buildings monuments paintings books films operas exhibitions and much more A place where the utopian fantasies of the century repeatedly unraveled Prague was tailor made for surrealist Andr Breton s black humor and Sayer discusses the way the city produced unrivaled connoisseurs of grim comedy from Franz Kafka and Jaroslav Hasek to Milan Kundera and V clav Havel A masterful and unforgettable account of a city where an idling flaneur could just as easily be a secret policeman this book vividly shows why Prague can teach us so much about the twentieth century and what made us who we are

The Micro-Politics of Capital Jason Read, 2012-02-01 What is the relation between the economy or the mode of production and culture beliefs and desires How is it possible to think of these relations without reducing one to the other or effacing one for the sake of the other To answer these questions The Micro Politics of Capital re reads Marx in light of the contemporary critical interrogations of subjectivity in the works of Althusser Deleuze Guattari Foucault and Negri Jason Read suggests that what characterizes contemporary capitalism is the intimate intersection of the production of commodities with the production of desire beliefs and knowledge
