Postcolonial Disaster Pallavi Rastogi, 2020-04-15 Postcolonial Disaster studies literary fiction about crises of epic proportions in contemporary South Asia and Southern Africa the oceanic disaster in Sri Lanka the economic disaster in Zimbabwe the medical disaster in South Africa and Botswana and the geopolitical disaster in India and Pakistan Pallavi Rastogi argues that postcolonial fiction about catastrophe is underpinned by a Disaster Unconscious a buried but mobile agenda that forces disastrous events to narrate themselves She writes that in disaster fiction a literary Story and its real life Event are in constant dialectic tension In recent disasters Story and Event are tied together as the urgency to circulate information and rebuild in the aftermath of the disaster dictates the flow of the narrative As the Story acquires temporal distance from the Event such as the seventy three years since the partition of India in 1947 it plays more with form and theme to expand beyond a tale about an all consuming tragedy Story and Event are in a constant dance with each other and the Disaster Unconscious plays the tune to which they move Rastogi creates a narratology for postcolonial disaster fiction and brings concepts from Disaster Studies into the realm of literary analysis

Ten Thousand Steps Against the Tyrant Indran Amirthanayagam, 2022-02 There s an adage that journalism is the first draft of history but for the flesh and blood truth of lived experience the news that stays news has always been poetry And perhaps no poet is better situated to write of the tumultuous events of the recent past than Indran Amirthanayagam a true global citizen In TEN THOUSAND STEPS AGAINST THE TYRAN he encapsulates the full range of emotion surrounding the 2020 U S presidential election and subsequent insurrection taking place against the backdrop of a deadly global pandemic from terror and outrage to euphoria and hope for Joe and Kamala as he refers to the newly elected president and vice president this familiarity itself a desire for a return to decency and simple human dignity There are poems here that treat of politics and lofty affairs of state a world the poet has experienced as an international diplomat and of living through pandemic but for the heart of the collection look to his tender poem for his mother and his desire to keep her safe to hold her forever Decline and death are prohibited This same love is extended to all mankind throughout these poems They are a celebration but also a warning of the fragility of our tenuous step back from the brink of tyranny And if the first bloom of hope for the Biden administration is already wilting a bit in the harsh glare of reality that s all the more reason to persevere We need to hear the songs of your migrant heart he declares in his opening poem We need to keep singing We need to be prepared to take the next step beyond the 10 000 steps it has taken to reach this point ready for the moment the world wakes up from this pandemic dream alive and ready to move to make to fill and to rename the void Poetry The Runner's Almanac Indran Amirthanayagam, 2024-05-17 This intimate and haunting collection is a love song a soliloquy a work of praise a call to arms an offering of abundance There s an urgency to The Runner s Almanac what s inside the poet must come out These are poems of gusto of movement walking jogging striding hopping toward love inevitably Amirthanayagam is a poet of plurality who savors how a poem gets out of hand bursts its banks spills into the mind of the reader I think of
