The State Of Post Conflict Reconstruction Eastern Africa Series:

The State of Post-conflict Reconstruction Naseem Badiey, 2014 Naseem Badiey examines the local dynamics of the emerging capital city of Juba Southern Sudan during the historically pivotal transition period following the 2005 Comprehensive Peace Agreement CPA Focusing on the intersections of land tenure reform and urban development she challenges the dominant paradigm of post conflict reconstruction and re conceptualizes state building as a social process underpinned by negotiation Badiey explores local resistance to reconstruction programmes debates over the interpretation of peace settlements and competing claims to land and resources not as problems to be solved through interventions but as negotiations of authority which are fundamental to shaping the character of the state While donors and aid agency officials anticipated clashes between the Government of Sudan and the Sudan People s Liberation Movement SPLM following the CPA they did not foresee internal divisions that impeded reconstruction in Southern Sudan raising serious questions about the viability of an independent state In Juba local elites interpreted the CPA in line with their economic and political interests using claims to land authority and political power to challenge the SPLM s agenda for urban reconstruction In revealing how local actors strategically interpreted the framework of land rights in Southern Sudan the book offers a basis for understanding the challenges that confront the nascent South Sudan s state builders and their international partners in the future NASEEM BADIEY is Assistant Professor of International Development and Humanitarian Action at California State University Monterey Bay Ethiopian Warriorhood Tsehai Berhane-Selassie, 2018 The history of the often overlooked chewa Ethiopian warriors and their crucial role in defending their homeland against invasion as well as their strong influence on political identity and the social infrastructure Hawks and Doves in Sudan's Armed Conflict Suad M. Disrupting Territories Jörg Gertel, Richard Rottenburg, Sandra Calkins, 2014 Examines the commodification of land rights and the effect of international licences for resource extraction on the pastoral communities of Sudan

Nowhere has a range of case studies of Sudan been brought together in a single volume Given the concern with the growing number and complexity of conflicts in Sudan and South Sudan there is a significant readership in academic circles and from those involved in humanitarian organisations of all kinds

Professor Peter Woodward University of Reading A timely contribution to an important set of debates tackles questions emerging from discussions about modernisation urbanisation and globalisation from an explicitly local angle with regards to Sudan

Dr Harry Verhoeven University of Oxford Sudan experiences one of the most severe fissures between society and territory in Africa Not only were its international borders redrawn when South Sudan separated in 2011 but conflicts continue to erupt over access to land territorial claims are challenged by local and international actors borders are contested contracts governing the privatization of resources are contentious and the legal entitlements to agricultural land are disputed

Under these new dynamics of land grabbing and resource extraction fundamental relationships between people and land are being disrupted while land has become a global commodity for millions it still serves as a crucial reference for identity formation and constitutes their most important source of livelihood This book seeks to disentangle the emerging relationships between people and land in Sudan

The first part focuses on the spatial impact of resource extracting economies foreign agricultural land acquisitions Chinese investments in oil production and competition between artisanal and industrial gold mining Detailed ethnographic case studies in the second part from Darfur South Kordofan Red Sea State Kassala Blue Nile and Khartoum State show how rural people experience their land vis vis the latest wave of privatization and commercialization of land rights

Jörg Gertel is Professor of Economic Geography at Leipzig University Richard Rottenburg is Chair of Anthropology at the University of Halle Sandra Calkins is a Research Fellow at the Max Planck Institute for Social Anthropology in Halle

The Eritrean National Service Gaim Kibreab, 2017 Gives voice to the conscripts who are forced to serve indefinitely without remuneration under the ENS in a powerful critical survey of its effect from the Liberation Struggle to today

The Eritrean National Service ENS lies at the core of the post independence state not only supplying its military but affecting every aspect of the country's economy its social services its public sector and its politics Over half the workforce are forcibly enrolled into it by the government driving the country's youth to escape national service by seeking employment and asylum elsewhere

Yet how did the ENS which began during the 1961-91 liberation struggle as part of the idea of the common good in which individual interests were sacrificed in pursuit of the grand scheme of independence and the country's development degenerate into forced labour and a modern form of slavery And why when Eritrea no longer faces

existential threat does the government continue to demand such service from its citizens This book provides for the first time an in depth and critical scrutiny of the ENS achievements and failures and its overarching impact on the social fabric of Eritrea The author discusses the historical backdrop to the ENS and the rationales underlying its goals and objectives its transformative effects as well as its impact on the country's defence capability national unity national identity construction and nation building He also analyses the extent to which the national service functions as an effective mechanism of transmitting the core values of the liberation struggle to the conscripts and through them to the rest of country's population Finally the book assesses whether the core aims and objectives of the ENS proclaimed by various governments have been or are in the process of being accomplished and drawing on the testimony of the hitherto voiceless conscripts themselves its impact on their lives and livelihoods

GAIM KIBREAB is Professor of Research and Director of Refugee Studies School of Law and Social Science London South Bank University He is the author of Eritrea A Dream Deferred James Currey 2009 and People on the Edge in the Horn James Currey 1996

Remaking Mutirikwi Joost Fontein, 2015 Finalist for the African Studies Association 2016 Melville J Herskovits Award A detailed ethnographic and historical study of the implications of fast track land reform in Zimbabwe from the perspective of those involved in land occupations around Lake Mutirikwi from the colonial period to the present day The Mutirikwi river was dammed in the early 1960s to make Zimbabwe's second largest lake This was a key moment in the Europeanisation of Mutirikwi's landscapes which had begun with colonial land appropriations in the 1890s But African landscapes were not obliterated by the dam They remained active and affective At independence in 1980 local clans reasserted ancestral land claims in a wave of squatting around Lake Mutirikwi They were soon evicted as the new government asserted control over the remaking of Mutirikwi's landscapes Amid fast track land reform in the 2000s the same people returned again to reclaim the land Many returned to the graves and ruins of past lives forged in the very substance of the soil and even incoming war veterans and new farmers appealed to autochthonous knowledge to make safe their resettlements This book explores those reoccupations and the complex contests over landscape water and belonging they provoked The 2000s may have heralded a long delayed re-Africanisation of Lake Mutirikwi but just as African presence had survived the dam so white presence remains active and affective through Rhodesian era discourses place names and the materialities of ruined farms contour ridging and old irrigation schemes Through lenses focused on the political materialities of water and land this book reveals how the remaking of Mutirikwi's landscapes has always been deeply entangled with changing strategies of colonial and postcolonial statecraft It highlights how the traces of different pasts intertwine in contemporary politics through the active enduring yet emergent forms and substances of landscape Joost Fontein is Director of the British Institute in Eastern Africa and Lecturer in Social Anthropology at the University of Edinburgh Published in association with the British Institute in Eastern Africa

The Crisis of Democratization in the Greater Horn of Africa Kidane Mengisteab, 2020 Analyses the structural and institutional obstacles to democratization in transitional societies fractured societies fragmented economies and institutions of governance weak or deformed state structures and how to overcome these Ploughing New Ground Getnet Bekele, 2017 In October 2016 the Ethiopian administration declared a State of Emergency in response to anti Government demonstrations and mass riots Officially said to result from subversive activities channelled from Eritrea Egypt and diasporic populations in the West the evidence in fact suggests that the riots stemmed from widespread internal dissatisfaction Large scale land disposessions following bilateral deals with transnational agribusiness damming of major rivers construction of sugar estates and industry parks as well as urban sprawl have put pressure on agricultural and rural areas Today displacement drought and widening inequalities surround fears of severe food shortages and political instability Drawing on informant testimonies court archives field reports and other sources the author examines these developments in Ethiopia's lake region He shows how transformations over time in spatial politics state society relations and the organization of production and exchange have influenced the situation today and reveals the impact of these changes on a population of smallholder farmers for which agriculture is not only the mainstay of the national economy but a way of life Getnet Bekele is Associate Professor of History at Oakland University MI where he teaches African History and the Environmental and Economic History of Africa and the Global South

Women, Land and Justice in Tanzania Helen Dancer, 2015 Recent decades have seen a wave of land law reforms across Africa in the context of a land rush and land grabbing But how has this been enacted on the ground and in particular how have women experienced this This book seeks to re orientate current debates on women's land rights towards a focus on the law in action Centring on cases involving women litigants the book considers the extent to which women are realising their interests in land through land courts and follows the progression of women's claims to land from their social origins through processes of dispute resolution to judgment Unedited summary from book cover
