

"Daring, precise, and linguistically acrobatic, this novel brings a history of America alive, from the war protests in the sixties to turn-of-the 21st-century art theft. A fearless portrayal of madness and its consequences. . . . This is a new writer to savor, reminiscent of Nicole Krauss, Michael Chabon and Andy Sean Greer."

The Suicide Of Claire Bishop A Novel:

The Suicide of Claire Bishop Carmiel Banasky, 2016 Greenwich Village 1959 Claire Bishop sits for a portrait a gift from her husband only to discover that what the artist has actually depicted is Claire's suicide Haunted by the painting Claire is forced to redefine herself within a failing marriage and a family history of madness Shifting ahead to 2004 we meet West a young man with schizophrenia who is obsessed with a painting he encounters in a gallery a mysterious image of a woman's suicide Convinced it was painted by his ex girlfriend West constructs an elaborate delusion involving time travel Hasidism art theft and the terrifying power of representation When the two characters finally meet in the present delusions are shattered and lives are forever changed The Suicide of Claire Bishop is a dazzling debut evocative of Michael Cunningham's The Hours and Virginia Woolf's classic Mrs Dalloway as well as Donna Tartt's bestseller The Goldfinch With high stakes that reach across American history Carmiel Banasky effortlessly juggles balls of madness art theft and Time itself holding the reader in a thrall of language and personal consequences Daring sexy emotional The Suicide of Claire Bishop heralds Banasky as an important new talent (Re)writing and Remembering James Dalrymple, Jonathan Fruoco, Virginia Sherman, 2016-02-08

Recounting past events is intrinsic to the storytelling function as most fiction assumes the past tense as the natural means of narrating a story Few narratives draw attention to this process yet others make the act of remembering a primary part of the narrative situation Ranging in its focus from poetry to novels autobiographical memoirs and biopics from the ostensibly fictional to the implicitly real this volume discusses the extent to which such fictional acts of remembering are also acts of rewriting the past to suit the needs of the present How seamlessly does experience yield to the ordering strictures of narrative and what is at stake in the process What must be omitted or stylised and to what ideological end In making an artefact of the past what role does artifice play and what does this process also tell us about history making Children's Books and Their Creators Anita Silvey, 1995 Unique in its coverage of contemporary American children's literature this timely single volume reference covers the books our children are or should be reading now from board books to young adult novels Enriched with dozens of color illustrations and the voices of authors and illustrators themselves it is a cornucopia of delight 23 color 153 b w illustrations

The Glasgow Effect Ellie Harrison, 2019-11-01 How would your career social life family ties carbon footprint and mental health be affected if you could not leave the city where you live Artist Ellie Harrison sparked a fast and furious debate about class capitalism art education and much more when news of her year long project The Glasgow Effect went viral at the start of 2016 Named after the term used to describe Glasgow's mysteriously poor public health and funded to the tune of 15 000 by Creative Scotland this controversial durational performance centred on a simple proposition that the artist would refuse to travel beyond Glasgow's city limits or use any vehicles except her bike for a whole calendar year
