Tribute To Father From Daughter:

Penelope's Web Susan Stanford Friedman, 1990 Penelope's Web published in 1991 was the first book to examine fully the brilliantly innovative prose writing of Hilda Doolittle. H.D.'s reputation as a major modernist poet has grown dramatically but she also deserves to be known for her innovative novels and essays. Jet, 1986-06-02 The weekly source of African American political and entertainment news. Reading Daughters' Fictions 1709-1834 Caroline Gonda, 1996-03-14 It has been argued that the eighteenth century witnessed a decline in paternal authority and the emergence of more intimate affectionate relationships between parent and child. In Reading Daughters' Fictions Caroline Gonda draws on a wide range of novels and non-literary materials from the eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries in order to examine changing representations of the father-daughter bond. She shows that heroine-centred novels aimed at a predominantly female readership had an important part to play in female socialization and the construction of heterosexuality in which the father-daughter relationship had a central role. Contemporary diatribes against novels claimed that reading fiction produced rebellious daughters, fallen women and nervous female wrecks. Gonda's study of novels of family life and courtship suggests that far from corrupting the female reader such fictions helped to maintain rather than undermine familial and social order.

A Father's Curse ; And, A Daughter's Sacrifice Anna Eliza Bray, Mrs. Bray (Anna Eliza), 1884 Father-Daughter Incest in Twentieth-Century American Literature Christine Grogan, 2016-10-03 The first major study to challenge the narrow definition of post-traumatic stress disorder (PTSD) by rereading six American literary texts, this book argues for the importance of literature in representing not just circumscribed singular traumatic events as Cathy Caruth argued in the late nineties but for giving voice to chronic and cumulative or complex traumatic experiences. This interdisciplinary study traces the development of father-daughter incest narratives published in the last hundred years from male-authored fiction to female-authored memoir, bringing new readings to Fitzgerald's Tender Is the Night, Ellison's Invisible Man and the Dylan Farrow-Woody Allen case. This study builds on the work of those ushering in a second wave of trauma theory which has argued that the difficulty of speaking about a traumatic experience is not necessarily caused by neurobiological changes that prevent victims from recalling details. Rather it is from social and political repercussions. In other words they argue that many who experience trauma aren't unable to deliver accounts; they fear the results. There is a significant gender component to trauma whose implications along with those of race and class have largely gone unexamined in the first wave of trauma theory. Exploring two additional questions about articulating trauma, this book asks what happens when the voice of trauma is crying out from what Toni Morrison has called the most delicate, most vulnerable member of society, a female child, and second, what happens when the trauma is not just a time-limited event but chronic and cumulative experiences. Some traumatic experiences, namely father-daughter incest, are culturally reduced to the untellable, and yet accounts of paternal incest are readily available in American literature. This book is written in part as a response to the psychological community which failed to include complex PTSD in the latest edition of the DSM DSM 5 denying victims many of whom are father daughter incest survivors the validation and recognition they deserve and leaving many misdiagnosed and thereby mistreated The Girl's Own Annual ,1886 The Limits of Life Writing David McCooey,Maria Takolander,2019-12-18 In the age of social media life writing is ubiquitous But if life writing is now almost universal engaged with on our phones reported in our news the generator of capital no less then what are the limits of life writing Where does it begin and end Do we live in a culture of life writing that has no limits Life writing as both a practice and a scholarly discipline is itself markedly concerned with limits the limits of literature of genres of history of social protocols of personal experience and forms of identity and of memory By attending to limits border cases hybridity generic complexities formal ambiguities and extra literary expressions of life writing The Limits of Life Writing offers new insights into the nature of auto biographical writing in contemporary culture The contributions to this book deal with subjects and forms of life writing that test the limits of identity and the tradition of life writing The liminal case studies explored include magical realist fiction graphic memoir confessional poetry and personal blogs They also explore the ethical limits of representation found in Holocaust life writing the importance of ficto critical memoir as a form of resistance for trans writers and the use of postmemoir to navigate the traumas of diasporic experience In addition The Limits of Life Writing goes beyond the conventional limits of life writing scholarship to consider how writers themselves experience limits in the creation of life writing offering a work of life writing that is itself concerned with charting the limits of auto biographical expression This book was originally published as a special issue of Life Writing Health, Parenting, and Community Perspectives on Black Fatherhood Tasha L. Alston,Brianna P. Lemmons,Latrice S. Rollins,2024-09-11 From slavery to present day the narratives of Black fatherhood have been fraught with biases and stereotypes failing to accurately capture the voices and lived experiences of Black fathers Contrary to these narratives Black fathers play an important role in the lives of their children and families Health Parenting and Community Perspectives on Black Fatherhood Defying Stereotypes and Amplifying Strengths edited by Tasha L Alston Brianna P Lemmons and Latrice S Rollins celebrates Black fatherhood and highlights the ways Black men defy stereotypes and embrace their role as fathers with unwavering resilience Drawing on the expertise of well regarded experts in the field and using a strengths based perspective this comprehensive book provides insight into the experiences of Black fathers in three key areas health parenting and community The contributors explore the salience of the co parenting relationship for Black fathers community based participatory research with Black fathers the Black father daughter relationship the male in law relationship in Black families support systems for Black fathers parenting autistic children and more This volume is an essential resource for scholars in social work psychology sociology child development allied health and similar disciplines and professions Jet ,1986-08-18 The weekly source of African American political and entertainment news Official Gazette of the United States Patent and Trademark Office ,2000
