Potential WTO Trade Reform: Multifunctionality Impacts for Ireland?, The Common Agricultural Policy Grace Skogstad, Amy Verdun, 2013-09-13

The Common Agricultural Policy CAP is a unique agricultural policy worldwide For many years its status as the only common European Community EC policy governed by EC institutions put it at the heart of European integration Today the CAP is not the only common European Union EU policy Even while it remains the sole instance of a regionally integrated agricultural policy the CAP no longer embodies the same degree of cross national harmonization of agricultural policy among EC EU member states that it once did The CAP has undergone policy reforms in the past two decades and these reforms have spawned a host of questions What has caused the CAP to reform How path breaking are CAP reforms Are they consistent with founding CAP goals or do they encompass new ideas about agriculture s place in the economy and society And what are the consequences of agricultural policy reforms for European farmers consumers and taxpayers for European public goods such as environmental sustainability and preservation of rural communities and landscapes and for third parties outside the EU including the WTO This book was published as a special issue of the Journal of European Integration

The European Union's Common Agricultural Policy Reforms Marko Lovec, 2016-08-02 This book engages in the controversies of the European Union s Common Agricultural Policy CAP reforms demonstrating how these are reiterated by mainstream theoretical approaches in the field The reforms that the European Union s CAP underwent during the last three decades were intended to make it less trade distorting more taxpayer friendly and more able to meet the new challenges of environmental concerns and rural development territorial cohesion The outcome of the reforms has however contradicted these objectives with the controversies being reiterated by the mainstream theoretical approaches in the field European Union s Common Agricultural Policy Reforms argues that these controversies are due to reductionist rationalist and idealist assumptions with regard to the object of inquiry applied by mainstream approaches. It proposes an alternative critical approach that takes into account the role of real material factors. Critical realism is not just an alternative explanation of CAP reforms but an alternative theory of how explanations can be made which enables readers to reflect upon and endorse the results of existing lines of research in proceeding towards deeper level theory.

Reconciling Environment and Trade Edith Brown Weiss, John H. Jackson, Nathalie Bernasconi-Osterwalder, 2008-09-30. The volume focuses on five cases all of which remain cornerstone trade environment cases of the WTO. The subject matter of these cases reflects five basic issues in the clash between trade and the environment: public health, air pollution, ozone depletion, food safety, destruction of endangered species and biosafety. These five issues surface dramatically in international disputes over tobacco, reformulated gasoline, beef growth hormones, commercial fishing methods and genetically modified organisms. In the second edition of this book, Nathalie Bernasconi-Osterwalder joins the original editors to update and contextualize the five case studies in new introductions to each section. These introductions provide an overview of developments since the first edition, including subsequent related cases. The second edition also includes updated bibliographic materials. In their penetrating analyses of these cases and their vast implications, the authors take into account the entire disciplines of both trade law and environmental law, noting especially the points of friction between the multilateral instruments in each field and the developing jurisprudence of the WTO Dispute Settlement with regard to the exceptions specified in Article XX of the GATT. The articulated standpoints of all parties, governments and NGOs on both sides of the controversy are probed for agendas, whether stated or unstated. No one involved in international trade or environmental activism can afford to ignore this vital publication. The information it provides on WTO jurisprudence on current and pending environmental initiatives, on the science behind the disputes, no less than the fresh and convincing analysis it holds forth, make it an essential tool for understanding some of the most crucial issues in international law today.

Towards a Sustainable European Agricultural Policy for the 21st Century Johan F. M. Swinnen, 2002. The debate on agricultural policy in the EU has been very lively and politically prominent over the past months. The Common Agricultural Policy (CAP) of the EU has undergone major changes since it was first implemented at the end of the 1960s. Commentators suggest that the CAP changes made in the Agenda 2000 reform package were insufficient to address the problems facing the CAP in the coming years. These include enlargement, new trade negotiations and the demand by European society for a safe, sustainable agri-food system, to name but a few. This report highlights the most pressing challenges to creating a sustainable CAP for the 21st century. It focuses on strategic policy options that are closely linked to the CAP system, to be hands-on, but the report refrains from becoming too specific on policy details, focusing instead on the important strategic questions. It offers six recommendations for good governance that aim to remove bureaucratic constraints from the food industry, yet strengthen consistency and good practice.

risk dominated regulation of GM food and bio agriculture the second involves human genetics as a field dominated by considerations of ethics Finally patent law has been chosen as an area captured by notions of property With its holistic approach The Regulatory Challenge of Biotechnology will be of great interest to academics policymakers and regulators as well as biotechnology and law students
