Feenstra, 2008-04-15 Economists disagree on whether recent U S trade policies are harmful or helpful but they all agree that there is a new trend toward focusing on results oriented policies in specific markets and with particular trading partners These twelve essays by leading international economists explore crucial issues in U S trade policy today Topics examined include the markets for automobile and automobile parts in the United States and Japan the U S response to unfair trading practices such as dumping and the effects of industry and country specific policies Examples include high technology and agricultural industries and off shore assembly in U S border cities The volume concludes that some policies can act to both protect imports and promote exports that the threat of protectionist policies can often have effects that are as pronounced as their implementation and that regulatory policy has as great an impact on trade and investment patterns as does trade policy itself It will be of crucial interest to international trade economists policy specialists and political scientists The Economics and Politics of International Trade Gary Cook, 2002-03-11 This volume is contemporary in focus and explores key issues in current debates concerning international trade policy The contributors are leading economists and political economists from Britain Europe the United States and Japan Strategic Trade Policy and the New International Economics Paul R. Krugman, 1986 This volume of original essays brings the practical world of trade policy and of government and business strategy together with the world of academic trade theory It focuses in particular on the impact of changes in the international trade environment and on how new developments and theory can guide our trade policy Contents New Thinking about Trade Policy Paul Krugman Sloan School of Management MIT Rationales for Strategic Trade and Industrial Policy James A Brander University of British Columbia Strategic Export Promotion A Critique Gene M Grossman Woodrow Wilson School Princeton University Government Policy and the Dynamics of International Competition in High Technology Michael Borrus Laura d Andrea Tyson and John Zysman all at the University of California Berkeley What Should Trade Policy Target

International Integration, Market Structure and Prices Yves Bourdet, 2024-11-01 Originally published in 1988 this study focusses on international economic integration in relation to the passenger car industry and market in the West European car making countries Germany France Italy Sweden and the UK in the second half of the 20th Century when the revival of protectionism was a key feature of the international trading system The book illustrates the interaction between international integration market structure and firm conduct and the political sphere at the national as well as the supranational level Unlike previous analyses of international integration this book concentrates on a single industry over a significant period Rules of Competition and East-West Integration Michael Fritsch, Hendrik Hansen, 2012-12-06 Integration of the Central and Eastern European Countries CEECs into the European Union EU has become more a question of timing than a question whether it will or should be made Since one of the objectives of the EU is to establish a system ensuring competition in the internal market is not distorted the question arises if the CEECs can be integrated into such a competitive system Which rules of competition are appropriate to improve the economic integration of the CEECs and to promote at the same time the enduring transition process The relationship between competition policy and East West integration is the general theme of the contributions in this book One central issue of this volume is the way of integrating the Central and East European countries into the EU and supporting their development by liberalizing trade with the EU A second issue is the implementation of a market economy in the post socialist countries of Eastern Europe and in particular the aspect of implementing competition rules at a time when markets are just emerging The twelve selected papers are organized in three sections Competition Policy and Integration part 1 Competition Policy During Transition part 2 Competition Trade Policy and East West Integration part 3
