Translating Ones Self European Connections Volume 3:

Minding the Gap Thom Conroy, Gail Pittaway, 2015-10-13 Passengers on the British railway and underground must mind the gap because it is dangerous not to. In a state of embarking or disembarking passengers must stay aware of the small but significant space separating the stationary from the moving. The contemporary practices of writing and reading are in constant motion and the phrase mind the gap captures an essential aspect of the way language and literature progress as they pass through any number of social, technical and political exchanges. Minding the gap also suggests an awareness of the always shifting distance between the expected and the unexpected, the ordinary and the impossible, the familiar and the unimagined. This book includes chapters on writing non-fiction, media and genre and also addresses elements of identity, culture and linguistics in fiction, poetry and creative non-fiction as contributors consider the gaps that exist between the self as writer, as reader and as editor or mentor. The volume adopts the following key themes: new gaps for creative writing in the academy; writing in new genres, media and forms; exploring the creative process and narrative strategies across disciplines. This book will be of international appeal to all readers interested in the changing landscape of creative writing. EbscoHost Identity and Difference Maria Sidiropoulou, 2005. Papers presented at the Choice and difference in translation international conference organized by the Faculty of English Studies, University of Athens, December 3-6, 2003. Preface and acknowledgements. European Intertexts Patsy Stoneman, Ana María Sánchez-Arce, Angela Leighton, 2005. European Intertexts is the first fruit of an ongoing collaborative study aiming to challenge the isolationism of much critical work on English literature by exploring the interdependence of English and continental European literatures in writing by women. While later volumes will deal with specific texts, this introductory volume provides a descriptive framework and a theoretical basis for studies in the field. Covering issues such as the role of English as a world language, the definition of Europe and the current state of Translation Studies, the book also surveys theories of intertextuality and demonstrates intertextual links between written and visual and film texts. This book is itself pioneering in making a systematic approach to women's writings in English in the context of other European cultures. Although Europe is a political reality, this cultural interpenetration remains largely unexamined and these essays represent an important first step towards revealing that unexplored richness.

The Faces of Janus Nicole Brunnhuber, 2005. The author offers an interdisciplinary examination of the German speaking exile experience in Great Britain from the beginnings of the Nazi regime to the end of the Second World War. The book examines the contingencies of cultural production for German and Austrian exiles against the historical context of British immigration and internment policies. By investigating the influence and manipulation of trends in popular British culture in the English language exile fiction by Ernest Borneman, Robert Neumann, Ruth Feiner, Lilo Linke and George Tabori, the author illustrates how a suspect minority voiced their socio-political concerns in the dominant culture and presents a strong case for the facilities of polylingualism in literature. The book reconstructs biographical and cultural histories of authors whose remarkable success as English language writers may otherwise risk lingering in obscurity Since the author traces the interaction of historical events and the personal experience of a range of writers themes of gender based national and religious identities are addressed Flexible and accessible the book extracts meaning from the politics of popular culture and cultural exchange in the twentieth century during a period of nationalism acute jingoism and war Border Crossings Peter Wagstaff, 2004 European Connections Studies in Comparative Literature Intermediality and Aesthetics is a peer reviewed series that focuses on the literary and artistic relations that shape European cultures It also wishes to explore relations with non European cultures with a view to fostering more equitable models of cultural exchange and transfer Maimonides Review of Philosophy and Religion Volume 3, 2024, 2024-09-09 The Maimonides Review of Philosophy and Religion is an annual collection of double blind peer reviewed articles that seeks to provide a broad international arena for an intellectual exchange of ideas between the disciplines of philosophy theology religion cultural history and literature and to showcase their multifarious junctures within the framework of Jewish studies Contributions to the Review place special thematic emphasis on scepticism within Jewish thought and its links to other religious traditions and secular worldviews The Review is interested in the tension at the heart of matters of reason and faith rationalism and mysticism theory and practice narrativity and normativity doubt and dogma Translating Knowledge in the Early Modern Low Countries Harold John Cook, Sven Dupré, 2012 Knowledge of nature may be common to all of humanity yet it is written in many tongues The story of the Tower of Babel is not only an etiology of the multitude of languages it also suggests that a confusion of tongues confounds communication However as the contributors to this volume show translation is always a transformation This book examines how such transformations generate new knowledge and how translations helped to establish a new science Situated at the border of the Germanic and Romance languages home to a highly educated population the Low Countries fostered multilingualism and became one of the chief sites for translation Series Low Countries Studies on the Circulation of Natural Knowledge Vol 3 Mysterymania Berry Palmer Chevasco, 2003 A scholar of both English and French literature Chevasco describes how in the 1830s British critics gave Sue's work the same grudging admiration or mistrust they gave to other French novelists and compared him to contemporaries such as Balzac and Hugo but after the widespread success of Les Mystres de Paris in 1843-44 increasingly identified him Translating Ancient Greek Drama in Early Modern Europe Malika Bastin-Hammou, Giovanna Di Martino, Cécile Dudouyt, Lucy C. M. M. Jackson, 2023-05-22 The volume brings together contributions on 15th and 16th century translation throughout Europe in particular Italy France Spain Portugal Germany and England Whilst studies of the reception of ancient Greek drama in this period have generally focused on one national tradition this book widens the geographical and linguistic scope so as to approach it as a European phenomenon Latin translations are particularly emblematic of this broader scope translators from all over Europe latinised Greek drama and as they did so developed networks of translators and practices of translation that could transcend national borders The chapters collected here demonstrate that translation theory and practice did not develop in national isolation but were part of a larger European phenomenon nourished by common references to Biblical and Greco Roman antiquities and honed by common religious and scholarly controversies In addition to situating these texts in the wider context of the reception of Greek drama in the early modern period this volume opens avenues for theoretical debate about translation practices and discourses on translation and on how they map on to twenty first century terminology Writing on the Move W. D. Redfern, 2004 Albert Londres 1884 1932 was a much translated French investigative journalist whose journalistic coverage and themes were wide ranging This study compares and contrasts Londres work with that of other globe trotting reporters from France Britain and the USA who deal with history in the making
