Bullet Hole Keith Miles, 2002-03-21 In the world of championship golf the stakes are high and passions run to match And never more so than at the British Open Championship particularly when it is played at Saint Andrews venerable home of the game For Alan Saxon too long ago a champion and once again in top form this is a crucial tournament and he must carefully prepare himself But his ritual is rudely interrupted by the appearance of a young pretty golf groupie who starts by demanding a lift and ends up naked and dead in his bed She is not the only casualty and it fast becomes clear that someone wants Saxon out of the open As the championship builds to its climax at last Saxon thinks he knows who the killer is but then he must decide which hole is the bullet hole Treading Water Boxed Set Marie Force, 2015-05-18 Ten years ago this month I wrote THE END for the first time in TREADING WATER At that time I never could've imagined the amazing journey I was about to embark upon and how it would change my life my family's life and the lives of many of my friends and family who now work with me But on that afternoon of May 18 2005 all I could focus on was the singular feeling that comes with actually finishing a book for the first time There are no words to describe the thrill the sense of accomplishment and the fear of what comes next I remember those feelings as if they were yesterday rather than ten long years ago Forty one books later I still get a thrill out of writing THE END but nothing will ever compare to finishing TREADING WATER To celebrate the tenth anniversary of that amazing day I'm thrilled to bring you the Treading Water Series Box Set available for the first time on May 18 2015 Thank you to all the readers who've made the dream that began on that long ago day come true in every possible way I hope you enjoy this box set xoxo Marie

A Language of Limbs Dylin Hardcastle, 2025-06-03 The prose is textured viscous almost an ooze of sweet honey shot through with golden light A Language of Limbs is a novel of impeccable vibes and mood a gay hymnal written from inside the guts of the two protagonists Yves Rees Australian Book Review A breathtaking sliding doors will they won't they love story and a tender epic that explores the weight of a choice the love of community and how joy is found in even the darkest corners Newcastle Australia 1972 On a sticky summer night a choice must be made To give in to queer desire or suppress it To venture into the unknown or stay the course In alternating chapters we trace the two versions of a life that follow In one a teenage girl is caught kissing her neighbor and is kicked out from her home She lands at a queer communal home in Sydney called Uranian House where she meets the people who will forever become her family Meanwhile in the second a teenage girl pushes down her lustful dreams of her best friend and eventually makes her way to a university in Sydney to study English literature During pivotal moments the physical space between these two women closes like when they each meet the first great loves of their lives in 1977 at a protest or when almost a decade later they are both rushed to the hospital with only a curtain between them Through the AIDS crisis and from classrooms to art galleries beds to bars and hospitals to homes we witness these two lives shadow each other until finally and poignantly they collide
